RAPS ROOSEVELT ON PRAYER FOR BRITISH RULER

Senator Calls Church Affair Unneutral.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—President Roosevelt's association with a prayer that King George VI. of England might be strengthened to "vanquish and overcome all his enemies" was deplored in the senate neutrality debate today by Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.].

Senator Clark.

Senator Clark mentioned the church service attended by Mr. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., yesterday as one of many incidents "tending to show an absolute lack of neutrality on the part of the government, on the part of some of those in high position."

If the American people allow their sympathies for Great Britain and France to lead them into the European war, the Missouri senator declared, the immediate result will be a totalitarian dictatorship from which this country may never emerge.

Ready for Amendments.

The conclusion of general debate, which began three weeks ago, is to be followed by the consideration of amendments, probably under a debate limitation agreement beginning tomorrow. Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] sought unsuccessfully to obtain a debate limitation; he will renew his request tomorrow.

Administration leaders are confident that the senate will pass the cash-and-carry plan of selling munitions and other materials to belligerents by Friday night and that the house will act next week.

In the house the vote is expected to be extremely close.

Wiley Backs Embargo.

Before conclusion of the general debate by the noninterventionists, Senator Alexander Wiley [R., Wis.] finally committed himself to vote for retention of the arms embargo.

Senator Clark said the time had arrived to put a stop to "all this inflammatory talk about the possibility of our being dragged into war and to practice real neutrality."

"I refer," he said, " to the order of the President in which he transferred the authority over the Panama canal from the governor of the Panama Canal Zone to the commander of troops in the Canal Zone, referring in his executive order to a section of the statute which gives him authority to make that change only in the event of a state of war in which the United States is engaged, or when war is imminent.

"I refer to yesterday's action of the President, being present at a service, having his picture taken with the pastor who had been praying for the triumph of the king of Great Britain over all of his antagonists."

Barkley Comes to Rescue.

Senator Barkley broke in:

"Does the senator really seriously think there is any significance attached to an incident of that sort, or that the President of the United States knew what the pastor of that church was going to pray, or from what book he was going to read?"

"I certainly do not want to impose upon the President of the United States the duty of getting up and walking out of the church during the prayer," Clark replied. "But the news of it went out to the civilized world, and after the incident, to have the President have his picture taken with the pastor glancing at the Bible which had been presented by the king and queen does not add anything to our general reputation for impartiality and neutrality.

"I suggest to all concerned, from the President down, that at a time like this, instead of reading from the king of England's prayer book, we should go down and look at the old prayer book that reposes in the cellar of the oldest Protestant church in the United States, at Williamsburg, in which was printed in large type, 'God Save the King,' and the old pastor of the church struck that out, and in place of it there is written in with a pen, 'God Save the President of the United States.'"

DOCTOR FINDS SHAPE OF BODY INFLUENCES CHANCE OF LONG LIFE

Providence, R. I., Oct. 23 (AP).—Human body shapes that add an average of about 25 years to life were reported to the National Academy of Science today. All were for men only because the studies have not been made on women, tho feminine shapes may have the same effect.

The study was made by Dr. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins university. Collaborating with him was Dr. W. Edwin Moffett of Johns Hopkins.

The shapes that forecast heart and kidney early deaths were overweight, larger abdominal girths and chests either unusually large or unusually small. The stomach girths, however, were not as significant signs as overweight.

Overweight tended also to be a sign of coming cancer. For this disease underweight was also a bad sign. For diabetics who died early, Dr. Pearl said that body weight and all girths were larger than in the other men examined.

Utah Deer Herd Tramples Hunter and All Get Away

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 23 (AP).—Elmer Newren spotted a doe and a buck. It's illegal to shoot doe in Utah, so he maneuvered for a shot at the buck. The gunfire startled a nearby herd he had not seen. The leader knocked him down and the others trampled him in their wild flight up the mountain. Newren suffered numerous cuts and bruises.

Popcorn Pops Into Straw; Starts Fire; Destroys Barn

Flyers Land with Record of 535 Hours

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 23.—Kelvin Baxter, 23 years old, of Richmond and Robert McDaniels, 25, of Muncie, endurance flyers, landed at 6:42 this evening with a new light plane record of 535 hours and 49 minutes in their log books. Their mark exceeds by 192 hours and 3 minutes the old record, set last August in Springfield, Ill., by Hunter and Humphrey Moody, brothers.

Both the pilots were weak and weary from the strain of flying constantly for more than 22 days. So fatigued were they that they barely missed disaster when landing in the pale beam of the airport lights.

Plane Stalls at Four Feet.

McDaniels, at the stick, circled over the field blinking the navigation lights at a throng of 12,000 persons who jammed every highway near the airport. Then he circled out to the southwest to land the long way of the triangular landing area.

His approach was perfect, but the plane was leveled off and stalled four feet off the ground. Instead of dropping a wing, however, it settled straight down and stopped virtually without a roll.

"I wouldn't have a part in another endurance flight for a million dollars," McDaniels said when he cut the switches on the motor that was still turning faithfully.

Hopes for Air Line Job.

Baxter, stolid and sober faced in contrast to McDaniels, who offered a bewhiskered grin, said: "I don't want to start one for a long time."

"The engine wore us down," said McDaniels. "Definitly we didn't land because of any specific motor trouble. Yes, the motor did show signs of wear, but I believe it could have continued running for many hours yet.

"We figured we have done enough I hope to make enough money from this flight to get an instrument rating which will make me eligible for an air line job."

Baxter said he was planning to get a commercial pilot's license as soon as possible.

Engine Has Twin Ignition.

When told that Clyde Schleiper and Wes Carroll of Long Beach, Cal., still were in the air in a seaplane, having better than 588 hours to their credit, the two pilots agreed that they are stout fellows and wished them well.

The engine in the Muncie flyers' little plane, which weighs only 1,250 pounds with the pilots and a full load of fuel aboard, is a Franklin four cylinder horizontally opposed air cooled unit. It has twin ignition, that is, two spark plugs to each cylinder, and is rated to develop 55 horse power at 2,300 revolutions per minute.

Within the 25 inch wide cabin the two pilots were able only to put fresh fuel in their tanks and oil into the crankcase. They could not reach the valves or plugs.

All the refueling was accomplished by dropping a weighted rope from the endurance plane to a light motor truck that raced at 55 miles an hour across the airport. A total of 1,663 contacts was made.

THIS SHOULD INTEREST DIVERS, WRESTLERS, GRID STARS—AND FISH

Chincoteague, Va., Oct. 23 (AP)—Ken Bunting Jr., oystering near Assateague inlet, noted a commotion under water and slapped the surface with an oar. A big fish leaped out of the water and landed in the shallows of the mud flats. Ken did a power dive from the boat, tackled the fish with a combination of a half nelson and the best gridiron technique, and waded back to his boat with a 13½ pound salt water trout, 33 inches in length.

AVIATORS BOMB 2 AS WARSHIPS DESTROY THIRD

2 Merchant Vessels Sent to Bottom.

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP).—The British tonight reported the sinking of three German submarines by British warships and bombing planes.

These attacks on the Nazi undersea craft were announced as the government described German air raids on British naval bases and convoys as failures and continued its preparations for a waiting war.

The sinking of one submarine by warships was reported belatedly after the air ministry earlier told of the two successful attacks on U-boats by battleplanes.

Sub Sent to Bottom.

The report said the warships were summoned to the aid of a merchant vessel which engaged in a fight with the attacking submarine. It said both the freighter and the submarine were hit and that the latter, unable to escape by submerging, was sent to the bottom.

The sinking of two British merchantmen also was announced. The announcement coincided with the statement by naval authorities that submarine attacks on British and French shipping had again become "considerable," but that losses were small in comparison with those of 1917, when Germany started her unrestricted submarine warfare.

Two German submarines were reported attacked by Royal Air force planes scouting from their home bases, one in the North sea, the other in the Atlantic. Antisubmarine bombs were the weapons in both cases. The air ministry announcement said both attacks were "believed to have been successful."

Pilots See Air Bubbles.

Before today's announcement the government had reported that about one-third of 60 German submarines in service at the start of the war had been sunk or damaged.

Pilots of the two Royal Air force planes said they saw air bubbles and oil on the surface after bombing the submarines and expressed confidence they had been sunk.

The two additional British ships announced as sunk were the Whitemantle and the Sea Venture. Fourteen men were reported missing off the Whitemantle. Five men survived the sinking, the cause of which was not disclosed. The Sea Venture sank after an explosion. The crew of 25 reached shore safely.

Swedish Steamer Sinks.

Dispatches from Gothenburg, Sweden, said the owners of the Swedish steamer Albania had received a report that the 1,241 ton vessel had been sunk in the North sea with the loss of two lives. Nineteen persons were reported rescued in the sinking, described as possibly having been caused by a torpedo, near Grimsby, on the east coast of England.

From Lisbon, Portugal, came word that the British freighter Baron Forbes, 3,061 tons, had wirelessed for help, advising that she had sighted a submarine in the Atlantic.

In a naval press conference British authorities said Germany had lost about 16 planes in last week's raids on Scapa Flow, the Firth of Forth [British naval bases in Scotland], and British convoys. They declared these losses outweighed damage inflicted by the raids and said no British ship had been seriously damaged.

Compare U-Boat Activity.

Of the "revived U-boat intense activity" an authority said that in comparison with the intensive period of submarine warfare in 1917, "The British losses last week amounted to only 10 per cent in number and 21 per cent in tonnage."

An air raid warning was sounded at the Firth of Forth today when two unidentified aircraft appeared, but later it was found that no German planes were in the area.

An auxiliary airforce squadron, comparable to a National Guard squadron in America, was given official credit for saving a convoy of merchant ships from mines in the North sea. The squadron spotted the floating mines directly in the path of the leading ships and dropped smoke flares warning them away.

BALKANS EYED BY HITLER; DELAYS WEST FRONT TRIP

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler, who had ordered his staff to be ready to accompany him to the western front, today reversed his order. Sources close to the chancellery now say Hitler does not plan to leave Berlin soon.

Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop will deliver an important speech on foreign policy in Danzig tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. [1:15 p. m. Chicago time]. Officials would give no hint of what he would say, but it was learned the Nazis are arranging for a rebroadcast of the speech by radio stations in various parts of the world.

[The Mutual broadcasting system and station W-G-N will broadcast part of Von Ribbentrop's speech. The broadcast is scheduled for 1:30 p. m.]

At the foreign office tonight 150 men were on duty making translations of the speech to have it in readiness for broadcasting in all languages and over all wave lengths.

Study Turkey's Action.

Sources close to Hitler say his change of plans was caused by "changes in the international situation resulting from Turkey's mutual assistance treaty signed with Great Britain and France which call for close study of the diplomatic and political developments in consultation with Germany's allies, soviet Russia, and Italy."

Karl Megerle, writing in the Boersenzeitung, the newspaper of the armed forces, sees in Turkey's pact a British attempt "to move the battlefield away from England to the Balkans, the Black Sea, and the Dardanelles," where conflicts with "Russia's vital interests in the Dardanelles and the near east would be unavoidable."

Talk of Punishment.

Last spring when Turkey signed its preliminary treaty with England the Nazis proclaimed that "Turkey will be punished for this." Now the Nazis talk in even more threatening tones on the radio and in the press.

Europe, reorganized according to the present plans of Moscow and Berlin, would include a huge Russian bloc, with its "direct sphere of influence" in the Baltic states and down to the Black sea. Germany would control the entire center bloc from the North sea down to the Black sea, with Rumania as part of its "economic sphere of influence" except for Bessarabia, which the Russians claim as part of their sphere.

Italy in the Balkans.

Italy aspires to be the spiritual and economic guide of the Balkan states and the Mediterranean.

These plans, in the eyes of Moscow and Berlin, were badly upset by Turkey's alliance with England and France.

"Turkey has compromised the Balkan entente by siding with England and France," editorial writers of Germany proclaimed today. They asserted that thru the new pact the "possibility of a world war on a big scale is increased tremendously." The Boersenzeitung called on the Balkan states "to avoid the consequences of Turkey's treason." The paper warned Rumanians that enmity of "three big powers — the soviet, Germany, and Italy" threatens them if they fail to repudiate the British guarantee [of Rumania's independence] and promises given shortly after Germany conquered Czecho-Slovakia and terrified all the smaller nations.

Takes Poland's Place.

In the present political constellation, Nazis declared that Turkey takes the place that Poland occupied before the war, "endangering Europe's peace." Rumania was warned she had better remember this.

Nazi writers proclaimed that henceforth Russia would be able to play a much bigger part "in the European concert" than previously.

The Nazis insist that Turkey's pact with England and France will lead to "closer coöperation between Rome and Berlin and Berlin and Moscow than ever before."

In conversations about the situation in the Balkans and the conflicting desires of the soviet and of England to guide Turkey's hand in her control of the Dardanelles, prominent Nazis declare flatly that the "very existence of a number of the Balkan countries depends on decisions they will make within the next few weeks."

RAIDER'S CREW TAKES CRAFT TO PORT IN RUSSIA

Fate of Men Aboard Vessel Unrevealed.

MOSCOW, Oct. 23 (AP).—Tass, Russian news agency, reported tonight that a German crew had seized the American ship City of Flint and brought her into Kola bay under the Nazi flag as a prize under German contraband regulations. The Russian port of Murmansk is on Kola bay.

Capt. J. A. Gainard.

The news agency said 18 Nazi crewmen from a German cruiser took charge of the 4,963 ton ship, which is owned by the United States Maritime commission, and arrived in Kola bay without a soviet pilot.

Murmansk port authorities detained the ship and interned the Germans for the time being, Tass added.

The City of Flint was said by Tass to have been en route from New York to Manchester, England, with a cargo of tractors, grain, fruit, leather, and wax. The Tass report failed to say what became of the American crew or when or where she was halted. J. A. Gainard is the captain of the City of Flint. There were no passengers.

U. S. Starts Investigation.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—The City of Flint has been captured somewhere on the Atlantic by a German raider, and, according to reports tonight, has been taken to Kola bay, near Murmansk, Russia.

The vessel was en route from New York for Liverpool and Glasgow when taken. Reports to the maritime commission, which announced the seizure, did not say on what grounds the ship was taken. However, it was assumed the Germans considered that she was carrying contraband to Britain.

The United States government immediately started inquiries to learn just what goods were carried by the City of Flint, which is operated under charter of the United States Lines, private organization subsidized by the government. Officials said that if 51 per cent or more of the cargo consisted of contraband, international law permitted the Germans to seize the vessel.

Sails from Tromsoe.

The maritime commission was informed that the vessel was taken first to Tromsoe, Norway, on Saturday, and that same day set sail from that port for an unknown destination.

The state department announced that it had asked the minister at Oslo, Norway, and the ambassador at Moscow to make inquiries of the Norwegian and Russian governments concerning the circumstances of the freighter's seizure. It was expected that a similar inquiry would be directed to Berlin tonight or tomorrow.

There was some question among legal experts as to Germany's right to take the vessel into neutral ports. They said only exceptional circumstances, such as stress of weather, lack of supplies, or need of repairs, could warrant such an action.

In such exceptional cases, the neutral is supposed to allow the necessary repairs to be made, or if it sees fit, to give the ship the necessary supplies and to tell it to move along. If the ship fails to do so, it must be interned, together with the prize crew.

Must Free American Crew.

The American crew aboard the City of Flint, if in a neutral port, must be released and allowed to return to their home country. They cannot be interned unless engaged in hostile activities.

It is presumed here that the case of the captured ship will be taken under consideration shortly by a German prize court. This prize court must sit in Germany and not in the neutral country to which the City of Flint has been taken.

If the prize court finds that the American ship carried a contraband percentage of 51 or more it can condemn the vessel, whereupon it becomes German property. If, meantime, the ship has been interned owing to the inability of the prize crew to take her into a German port, the interned craft remains the property of the German government, to

The maritime commission announced that the City of Flint was carrying "more than 50 separate items typical of her usual cargo on this run."

The list included lard, cereals, canned meats, flour, canned goods, apples, wax, lubricating oil, cotton, sewing machines, plows, tractors, asphalt, pitch, grease, shade rollers, machinery, silk, commercial chemicals, abrasive grains, disinfectants, feathers, rags, coffee, lumber, gauze, hair, and wallboard. The cargo amounted to about 5,000 tons.

British Pay for Cargo.

In reply to questions, a maritime commission official said that the British government is holding four or five American merchant ships. This official explained further that the British searched American ships, and might seize cargo and pay for it if it fell under their contraband list, but that the ships were always released.

The maritime commission has not announced the seizure of any American vessels by the British, nor has such announcement been made by any other agency here.

The City of Flint was in British waters at the outbreak of the war and participated in the rescue of survivors of the British liner Athenia, which was sunk on Sept. 3.

A total of 220 survivors were picked up by the City of Flint and brought to Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Course of Ship Mystery.

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—The course of the City of Flint, which took her into the hands of a German raider, remained a mystery tonight as efforts were made to trace it thru maritime reports.

The United States Maritime commission in Washington, D. C., said its only information was that the vessel sailed from New York Oct. 3 for Manchester, Dublin, Liverpool, and Glasgow, but had been unreported since.

On the other hand, the Oct. 18 New York Maritime Register, a shipping journal listing arrivals and departures of the marine world, showed that the City of Flint had reached Manchester on Oct. 15.

This was confirmed by the United State Lines, which added, however, that there was no information available here to indicate that she had called also, as intended, at Liverpool, Glasgow, or Dublin.

No Other Port of Call.

The ship had not intended to call at Tromsoe, Norway, or any other foreign port, before returning to America, the line said.

Therefore, it speculated, if the City of Flint never reached another British port after leaving Manchester, it might have been seized in waters presumably dominated by the British navy.

A line official expressed amazement when told of a cable advice, reaching here in routine manner earlier today, indicating the ship had been in Tromsoe last Saturday. He said it was impossible, that Tromsoe was not an intended port of call.

Nazi Admiralty Silent.

BERLIN, Oct. 24, Tuesday (AP).—The German admiralty and the propaganda ministry said early today that they had no knowledge of the City of Flint being seized by a German raider. "No report of such action has arrived here thus far," the admiralty spokesman said.

Report U. S. Seizes Nazi Ship.

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 23 (AP).—It was reported here tonight, without official confirmation or denial, that the German freighter Havelland had been taken into custody by an American warship off the Pacific coast of Panama. The 6,334 ton steamer left San Jose, Costa Rica, Oct. 8, with Panama as her announced destination, altho her large cargo of Diesel oil had aroused speculation among shipping circles as to her actual purpose. Her course thru the Americas' neutral safety zone has been watched with interest here.

[A navy department spokesman in Washington, D. C., said the Havelland was not in custody of any United States warship. He would not say whether she was being watched.]

NAZI SOLDIERS PROMISED AID FOR FAMILIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Germany today took additional steps to bolster the fighting spirit of soldiers at the front by introducing measures to provide financial assistance for their families.

A new decree "to free soldiers from every worry," and made retroactive to Oct. 1, provides for payment to a soldier's wife of approximately 40 per cen tof a soldier's peacetime earnings. Provision also is made for special needs, including additional grants for purchases necessitated by the arrival of babies.

The maximum government payment is set at $80 monthly. Children under 16 are to be allowed one-third of the amount paid to wives. Wages of maids for families having two or more children under 14 also are to be paid from government funds.

Seize American Ship

Arrow locates Kola bay, north of Murmansk, Russia, where the American freighter City of Flint was reported taken after its seizure by a German warship. The vessel was en route from New York to Manchester, England, with a cargo which the Nazis regarded as contraband.

SEIZURE OF U. S. SHIP MAY BRING STALIN INTO OPEN

Say It Will Determine His Neutrality.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 23.—Russia's action concerning the Nazi seized steamship City of Flint will serve to bring Dictator Josef Stalin into the open as regards his actual relations with Germany, American admiralty experts and authorities on international law agreed tonight.

If Russia refuses to return the ship to its United States owners, the experts agreed, it will be tantamount to a declaration that the soviet is a belligerent and not a neutral nation as Stalin insists.

To hold the City of Flint, authorities added, would be to commit an open and flagrant violation of international law. They quoted a precedent established in the world war.

Stalin "On the Spot."

"Stalin certainly is on the spot now," said Silas B. Axtell, noted admiralty lawyer.

Axtell recalled the case of the British ship Athens, seized by the Germans in 1916 [before the United States got into the war]. The Germans brought it into Norfolk, announcing it was a prize of war.

The British protested to the United States. The protest was upheld by the Supreme court. The ship was sent back to its British owners.

On the basis of this, Axtell predicted this country will protest to Russia, demanding return of the City of Flint.

"International law is a pretty flimsy thing at best," Axtell said, "but in this case the issue is clear. There is definite precedent. Russia, unless she desires to come out openly as an ally of Germany, must return the vessel."

Opposite Attitudes Told.

Dr. Edward S. Corwin, McCormick professor of jurisprudence at Princeton university and one of the country's best known students of international law, also quoted the Athens case. He said, however, there had been two previous cases in which this country had taken exactly the opposite attitude.

During the French revolution, he said, the United States allowed France to use our seaports to bring in prizes of war and there adjudicate. The other precedent was in 1828 when this country permitted Russia to bring her prizes into our ports.

Precedents Used by Germany.

In fact, Dr. Corwin added, the first two precedents formed the basis of the German claim in bringing the Athens into Norfolk. But the Supreme court ruled that a neutral country could not permit its ports to be used for holding seized ships of another country neutral to it.

Other authorities pointed out that a neutral ship, seized under circumstances surrounding capture of the City of Flint, could be taken to a neutral port for only three reasons: [1] bad weather; [2] damage to the vessel; or [3] lack of provisions. But it would have to leave the port as soon as the particular condition abated, i. e., when weather cleared or when the ship received emergency repairs and supplies.

TELLS HOW REDS AND NAZIS BEND POLAND TO WILLS

Moscow Alters Tactics in Occupied Area.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 23 [Passed by censor].—The story of great changes being made in Poland by the German and Russian conquerors of that country gradually is becoming available here. The picture of present day life in the Polish areas has been drawn from stories told by haggard and hungry refugees; from smuggled copies of Polish newspapers still appearing irregularly; from extensive accounts published in the soviet Russian press, and from meager accounts contained in the German press.

The régime established by the soviet government in the Russian occupied areas, which consists of 45 per cent of what was Poland, contains many contradictions and comical variations from life within the soviet union. There also are many tragedies, for while the reign of revolutionary terror was brief, the percentage of casualties among Polish officials and the Roman Catholic priesthood was large.

Many Landowners Slain.

The population of the districts occupied by the Red army numbers 10,000,000 White Russians, Great Russians and Ukrainians, about 1,500,000 Poles, 1,500,000 Jews, and about 100,000 German colonists living in Volhynia [Wolyn].

During the brief period of the massacres, when Polish governmental authority collapsed and the occupation by German troops of much of this territory was followed by the withdrawal of the Germans before the soviet advance, minority groups which the Warsaw government had unsuccessfully attempted to assimilate during the last 19 years killed many Polish landowners, priests, judges, prosecutors, and police officials.

The Roman Catholic church especially suffered. All churches, church controled schools, convents, and monasteries were closed. Church lands were confiscated. Priests, monks, and nuns were arrested and transported, with landowners, members of the nobility, government officials, and army officers, into the soviet Ukraine and interned in concentration camps.

Reds Halt Terror Reign.

From sources which I previously have found reliable I heard of a number of cases where Red army commanders took drastic action to halt the reign of terror.

When Brig. Gen. Gorchenko arrived at Grodno members of a committee of local communists presented themselves and announced that the city had been purged of undesirable elements.

Brig. Gen. Gorchenko learned that the committee had usurped municipal government authority and had executed some 200 officials and leading wealthy citizens. The general asked how many members were on the committee. When informed that the number was 260, he ordered them to appear in military formation the next morning for instructions. When the terrorists appeared, they were marched to the outskirts of the town and executed.

Polish Students Slain.

Similar action was taken against members of the revolutionary organization in Vilna, who murdered practically all of the Polish students attending Vilna university before the arrival of Red troops. A brief soviet communique declared that these "Trotzkyists" had been liquidated.

Reports from many sources confirm that the conduct of the Red army in Poland has been friendly and that even the dreaded GPU [secret police] troops are behaving in an entirely unexpected manner. They are fraternizing with the inhabitants and making the soviet occupation resemble a holiday.

Altho land has been nationalized and a small part of the peasantry in the eastern districts of Poland now is under soviet rule and being grouped into kolhozi [collectivised farms], life in the cities and towns continues normally.

Private Business Continues.

Private business is not molested and factories are being operated by their owners, whose profits have been restricted and who have been ordered to coöperate with worker's committees.

The streets of Grodno, Bialystok, Brest-Litovsk, Kowel, Luck, Rowne, Lwow, Tarnopol, and Stanislawow at present are bewildering pictures. Demonstrations honoring Dictator Josef Stalin of Russia are being held in streets and squares named after Marshal Josef Pilsudski, the late Polish dictator. Pilsudski's picture frequently is seen hanging beside pictures of Stalin and Marshal Klementi E. Voroshilov, soviet commissar of defense.

Shops remain open, selling goods for both Polish zlotys and soviet rubles. Moscow has fixed both currencies at equal value [about 20 cents]. Money changers, however, still are at their ancient business. They are willing to pay in some towns five rubles for a zloty, whereas in another city 50 miles away five zlotys for a ruble are offered.

Reds Furnish Supplies.

Red army trucks and small tanks are delivering goods supplied by the soviet commissariat of trade and the inhabitants of the formerly oppressed provinces are eagerly buying such staple articles as kerosene, matches, a cheap variety of tobacco called mahkorka, and salt. The price of salt is much less than that which was charged in Poland before the conquest.

The needs of private merchants are being willingly supplied by soviet organizations. Movies are showing Russian films and profits are going to the theater owners.

On Sunday elections were held for new national congresses of western Ukraine and western White Russia. Following the lines of a general plebiscite, the elected delegates will decide the following three questions:

1. Joining of western Ukraine and western White Russia to the soviet union.
2. Nationalization of banks and large industrial enterprises.
3. Nationalization and use of land owned by land magnates, the church and the former Polish state.

All Over 18 Granted Vote.

All citizens over 18 years of age were allowed to vote, independent of their political past, nationality, social origin or religion. While great emphasis was laid on the fact that the general, direct, and secret voting methods recently adopted by the soviet union were used, still, like in Russia, only temporary administrative organizations, peasant committees, and meetings of workers had the right to nominate candidates.

Two remarkable developments stand out in the soviet occupation:

First, the Russian language, not the White Russian or Ukrainian dialects, has become the official means of communication.

Second, Lenin and his doctrines of dialectical materialism, class warfare, world revolution, etc., seem to have been completely forgotten by agitators who seem mystified themselves about the future form of government and the kind of economic, social, and cultural policies that will be inaugurated.

Natives Thank Stalin.

For the moment the former eastern provinces of Poland appear overjoyed at their occupation by the Red army and resolutions are being passed at massmeetings thanking Comrade Stalin. These meetings are being held everywhere, for the average Russian, offered a choice of eating a seven course dinner or making a speech, would choose the speech.

Of all categories of Polish officialdom of those provinces occupied by soviet Russia, members of the police force suffered the most. The Russian bolshevik and revolutionary tradition cherishes a special hatred toward the police and the Polish police received little mercy at the hands of either the "to be freed" population or the Russian forces.

Some members of the police force met death bravely, but the majority fled into the vast Pinsk, Podolsk, and Volhynian marshes which cover thousands of square miles of land studded with wooded hillocks and inhabited by semisavage Slavs, descendants of fugitives from wars of former centuries.

Polish River Navy Vanishes.

During the five weeks of war between Poland and Germany, Poland's little navy No. 2 disappeared. This navy, with headquarters on the Prypec river southeast of Brest-Litovsk, consisted of a large flotilla of fast light draft gunboats. Whether these boats were sunk by German airplanes or scuttled deep within the swamps remains a mystery. Soviet gunboats, which penetrated these swamps when the Red army crossed the Polish frontier, were unable to find the Polish fleet.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Moscow Thursday reported that 52 Polish river boats, sunk or damaged by a soviet river fleet, would be salvaged and put into full military readiness.]

Today the Polish swamps contain many thousands of fugitives from the combined soviet-German occupation. Hunger is forcing the surrender of many, but hospitable swamp dwellers have given shelter to many others who are securely hidden from searching soviet forces.

Make Last Stand in Forests.

Many thousands of Polish officials and police officers have banded together to fight for existence in the forests which cloak large areas of eastern Poland. Electing leaders, they continue to wage a hopeless war against the invaders.

One of these modern Robin Hoods, Col. Dombrowski, has made his headquarters in the Bialowieza forest east of Bialystok. This is the largest primeval forest in Europe, containing the only known wild specimens of European aurochs [bison]. Only three of these European bison survived the world war, but a small herd now dwells in Bialowieza.

Col. Dombrowski's followers consist of several hundred Polish youths who have taken an oath never to be captured alive. They are ambushing cars filled with soviet officials, damaging roads, and burning outlying posts. The Russian authorities have organized a man hunt for this band. Many of the colonel's followers have been killed.

Area Is Poverty Stricken.

The eastern districts of Poland, occupied by the czarists for many years, existed in a state of semifamine and provided Poland with many epidemics of typhus and other plagues.

The peasant population was compelled to pay 56 different kinds of taxes to the state, which, from the time Marshal Pilsudski seized power in 1926, spent from 50 to 60 per cent of its entire budget upon the army. This army, despite the mobilization of 4,000,000 men, collapsed before the rapid German advance.

Neither the soviet press nor radio have mentioned the sufferings of the inhabitants of this area or whether measures are being taken to combat the outbreak of dangerous diseases among those tens of thousands of refugees who fled before the German advance only to come under soviet rule.

Life Improved Under Reds.

After sifting all available trustworthy reports, however, it must be admitted that for the vast majority—some 90 per cent—of the inhabitants of these former Polish provinces, life has improved, the standard of living has been raised, and opportunities for education opened.

The Moscow government, according to all evidence, has embarked on a new policy of winning friends among the former oppressed Polish minorities with the aim of increasing its prestige and cultivating popularity among the Slovakians and the Slav minorities of Rumania and Hungary.

The Pan-Slavism doctrine appears to have been adopted in its entirety by Stalin. He, like the two czars he has emulated—Ivan the Terrible and Peter the Great—again has established Russia upon the Baltic and now is looking toward the Balkans for more friends and allies.

Communism in Poland

The section of Poland taken over by Russia is shown in white. Great changes have occurred there since the soviet occupation. Local revolutionary committees at Vilna (1) and Grodno (2) were reported executed by Russians after announcing to their conquerors that they had purged their cities of officials, students, and wealthy citizens. A modern band of Polish Robin Hoods is harassing the Russian military in the Bialowieza forest (3) east of Bialystok. A large flotilla of river gunboats—Poland's little navy No. 2—has disappeared in the Prypec river (4) southeast of Brest-Litovsk. Many members of the Polish police forces have fled into the vast Pinsk, Podolsk, and Volhynian marshes (5). In Volhynia (6) there are about 100,000 German colonists.

Items Which Weren't Headlined in Recent War News

Germany has decreed that workers must labor overtime without extra pay or special bonuses and that the sums the employer saves as a result of this must be turned over to the government.

The French, in retreating from their positions in the Warndt forest on the western front, played a trick on the Germans. They left behind small patrols which hurried from section to section firing machine guns and generally acting the part of a large force. This ruse, the French said, fooled the Germans for four days into believing they were opposed by a large body of soldiers.

Czech industry is seriously hampered by a coal shortage altho mines are being worked overtime. Since the conquest of Czecho-Slovakia, the Germans have been exporting the coal to Italy, Hungary, Jugo-Slavia, and other countries.

Some 10,000 unemployed workers in Russian-occupied Poland have been "voluntarily" transferred to coal regions in the Don basin, which supplies 60 per cent of Russia's coal, according to the government newspaper Izvestia.

The British government, according to uncensored news sources, is reported to be considering the establishment in London of a de jure rightful rather than actual German government, composed of prominent exiled German leaders, who would be asked to consider an English peace proposal. This plan was designed to convince the German people that the empires have no wish to make war on them.

Lieut. Gen. Fritz Todt, Hitler's builder of roads, fortifications, and air fields, again is working on plans for increasing airports and other building projects devoted solely to war purposes.

Netherlands villages close to the German border have been buried under misplaced British propaganda pamphlets printed in German which British aviators intended for the German people.

HUNGARY URGED TO HEED EXAMPLE OF TURKS, FINNS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 23 (AP).—The newspaper Fuggetlen Magyarorzag editorially congratulated Finland and Turkey today for "standing on their own feet" in the face of soviet Russia, and urged Hungary to follow their example.

Diplomatic circles believed the newspaper, strictly censored like the rest of the Hungarian press, might reflect the opinion of the government, which has given no official indication of its attitude toward Moscow since the signing of Russian-German accords.

WAR REGULATIONS MODIFIED TO EASE FRENCH TENSION

Soldiers Granted Leaves Every Four Months.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 23.—With the military front roughly coinciding with the political frontier between France and Germany and seemingly stabilized there for some time, Premier Edouard Daladier today further slackened the tension of the French nation by announcing that from now on all the troops with the colors regularly will be given eight to ten days' leave every four months. During the world war leaves were granted only after a year of active service.

Today's action followed the recent decision to demobilize two military classes, the liberalization of blackout requirements in many cities, the authorization to many theaters and movies to remain open until 11 p. m., and other similar measures.

Can Wait Until Spring.

If Adolf Hitler is unwilling to stake his chances of victory on a military decision this winter, the French appear ready to accommodate him.

They will do this because by spring they expect to have a superiority over the Germans in planes, tanks, artillery, munitions, and reserves of manpower.

For the man power reserves they can depend not only on the British expeditionary force, which is rapidly, growing to sizable proportions, but also on colonial troops. A recent article in the French press claimed that France could raise 2,500,000 black troops, not counting the Moslem contingent from Tunisia, Algeria, and Morocco.

Nazis Increase Pressure.

PARIS, Oct. 23 (AP).—The Germans were reported tonight to be increasing pressure on the French advance line after five days of almost dead calm on the western front.

As the French strengthened their outposts to meet renewed German activity, reinforced patrols of both sides skirmished briskly along the northern flank where the Nazis have been cautiously feeling their way with units as small as three and five men.

The French evening communique said there was "marked activity" of contact elements west of the Saar river.

[The German high command issued the following communique: "On the western front, excepting artillery and reconnoitering activity, there was no fighting. On Oct. 21 a three-motored British plane, coming from the east, flew over the railway station at Konzen, 15 miles southeast of Aachen, and returned by way of the Belgian frontier, situated in the immediate proximity."]

Calls Parliament.

As the western front came to life, Premier Edouard Daladier announced he had decided to summon parliament to meet the latter part of November to consider the 1940 budget for another war year.

The semidictatorial powers under which Daladier has been ruling France expire on Nov. 30. All decrees enacted by his government must be approved by parliament before that date. The meeting of parliament will be the first since the war began on Sept. 3.

The communique tonight was the first since Oct. 18 to report any western front activity other than sporadic artillery fire and brief encounters between scouts hunting for prisoners.

Weather Clearing.

The sector just west of Saarbruecken was said to be getting particular attention from the Germans. Apparently they were attempting to advance in the Warndt forest, the only place where the French still hold any of the German territory occupied at the beginning of the war.

Dispatches also indicated that German patrols had penetrated close enough to involve the French main line in a brief engagement near the Luxemburg border.

NAZIS DISSOLVE OLD ALMA MATER OF DR. GOEBBELS

ROME, Oct. 23.—Reich Propaganda Minister Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbel's old alma mater, the great German Catholic association known as "Albertus Magnus," has been dissolved by the reich ministry of the interior, it was learned at the Vatican's Sacred Congregation of Religion today.

The association was founded in 1895 to aid students planning to continue their studies in universities.

Nazis Warn That Unlighted Neutral Ships May Be Sunk

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 23 (AP).—A German memorandum, delivered today to the Norwegian foreign office, warned that neutral vessels running without lights faced the risk of being mistaken for enemy warships and destroyed. The memorandum also said the Germans would attack all vessels traveling under convoys as well as the convoying warships themselves.

Seized as Spy Suspect

[Acme Photo.]
GAY ORLOVA.

BASEL, Switzerland, Oct. 23 [Special].—Gay Orlova, exotic Russian dancer who was once the sweetheart of Charles [Lucky] Luciano, imprisoned New York vice lord, was held for six hours as a spy suspect by French authorities not long ago, it was learned here tonight.

Love was the cause of her predicament. Alone she ventured into an evacuated village near the Maginot line. Intelligence officers promptly seized her.

Gay said she had come to visit her ex-husband, an officer at the front. He too, was arrested. He is a Parisian count. It took them both six hours to convince the authorities Gay was not a spy. She was sent back to Paris, and he back to the front lines.

SWEDISH PRINCE DENIES HE ACTS AS PEACEMAKER

Calls Visit to Belgian King "Private."

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 23.—Altho THE TRIBUNE has been informed by competent circles that the hurried airplane visit to Brussels Saturday by Prince Charles Bernadotte, nephew of King Gustav V. of Sweden, will radically influence the radio talk of King Leopold III. of the Belgians to America on Thursday, the prince himself today insisted that his trip here was of a private nature.

Prince Charles Bernadotte.

"I come here frequently," he told me in his apartment at the Metropole hotel. "This trip is entirely private."

He denied he had seen Sir Robert Henry Clive, the British ambassador to Belgium, but said he had seen his brother-in-law, King Leopold.

Distressed by Reports.

The prince, a handsome young man, wore striped slacks. He seemingly was distressed by reports that his trip here had anything to do with tentative peace proposals from neutrals.

His brief statement caused added speculation here as observers said it did not seem sufficient assurance that he, as an officer of the Swedish army, had hired a special airplane to make a dangerous seven hour flight over the North sea solely for private reasons.

Resent Outside Interference.

THE TRIBUNE was informed by British source that the prince's presence here will soft pedal the Belgian king's peace plea. The British, some claim, regard such proposals as ill timed and resent outside interference against prosecution of the war.

Belgian exporters and importers hope Leopold, in his broadcast, will suggest some plan whereby American shipping may be utilized to carry on Belgian trade. They say they could use 2,000,000 tons and believe that American prestige both in England and Germany would be sufficient to assure Belgian cargoes against needless harassment by belligerents and blockade restrictions.

GERMANY SEIZES SOCIETY LEADER AS A HOARDER

Police Confiscate Her Wardrobe and Soap.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—The Nazi press has started a campaign to expose hoarders as a warning to citizens not to buy any more than they absolutely need. Newspapers are publishing photographs of hoarded articles confiscated by the police together with the names and addresses of hoarders.

The Westfaelische Landeszeitung exposed Mrs. Else Finis, a German society leader in Dortmund, as a hoarder.

"Frau Else Finis has been arrested because she conducted herself in a way which must be described as sabotage against the nation," the paper said.

"On two successive days Frau Finis bought clothes and coats worth $460 in a store without a ration card. This caught the eye of the manager. He reported the matter to the proper authorities, who investigated.

Wardrobe Is Described.

"This revealed Frau Finis' wardrobe contained 9 coats, 1 fur coat, 1 velvet coat, 1 fur lined suit, 8 dresses, 10 evening dresses and 22 other items of clothing. In addition there were 26 blouses, 40 pairs of stockings, 21 pairs of shoes, of which 5 were new, 13 hats, and 15 handbags.

"Moreover there was discovered a sizeable storehouse of soap [123 pieces of toilet soap, 35 pieces skin cream, etc.], all of the finest qualities, worth more than $40. The articles were purchased Aug. 28, when buying already was forbidden.

"These are the naked facts. One would not think it possible for a woman to dare to own so many clothes, shoes, hats, etc. The authorities did not hesitate one moment to confiscate the hoarded goods and arrest Frau Finis. Her action was nothing more nor less than treason to the internal front, and she will therefore be punished accordingly."

14 Million Women at Work.

With 14 million women at work in Germany the Nazi government has disclosed it expects German women to win the war on the "inner front." The press service of the German Labor Front has published a report on "The War Work of the German Women." It asserts that Germany "is many times stronger than in 1914-'18 as far as the work of our women is concerned."

Many married women whose husbands are at the front are included in army of women workers. They are operating their husbands' businesses or else are engaged in agricultural or handicraft work.

About 7½ million women are factory workers or employés of state or private enterprises. The Labor Front reports that the number of women employed in productive industries has risen 53 per cent since 1933.

Trained in Advance.

"Part of these women workers already have been trained in advance for special tasks, and thus are able to engage in responsible work," the Labor Front's report says, referring to jobs in munition factories and other war industries.

"Married women and mothers will again take jobs in factories in great numbers," the report continues. "This is necessary since no hand can be spared to fulfil our military economic tasks."

In addition to their regular jobs, women must also serve as nurses and air-raid guards. Other women are detailed to take care of babies while their mothers work.

The Inquiring Reporter

Question.
Do you think the empires' strategy of relying mainly on the blockade to defeat Germany is wise?

Where Asked.
Near north side.

Answers.

W. H. Dower, 1424 East 67th place, advertising man—I don't think the blockade system will win the war, but it is necessary to protect the British Isles from the U-boats. But when are the English going to turn the royal air force loose?

James Fairfield, 1625 Juneway terrace, tile setter—Sure, it's wise. The idea is to put economic pressure on the Nazis rather than to use force of arms. Only time will tell whether it will be successful, of course. It's worth trying, tho.

James H. Connelly, Eastgate hotel, photographer—The blockade may win the war, but it probably will cause a great deal of suffering in neutral countries because of submarine warfare. Didn't Hitler warn the world to keep off the ocean?

Miss Lucile Thoresen, 3265 Wrightwood avenue, clerk—Yes, I think it is much better than offensive methods, which involve bombing and bloodshed. It is more humane, and I believe it will be more effective in breaking up the Germans' economic setup.

Mrs. J. D. Schlang, New York, housewife—It is the only thing to do! It worked in the last world war, and there is every reason to believe it will work again. It is much the quickest way, and undoubtedly more humane.

First British Destroyers of War Visit Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 23 (AP).—The British destroyers Hotspur and Havock, first belligerent warships to visit Buenos Aires since the war started, arrived today. International law permits them to remain 24 hours.

ITALY WORKS FOR BIG BALKAN BLOC AS BAR TO SOVIET

Also Would Better Rome's Relations with Empires.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 23 (AP).—Reports that Italy was pushing the formation of a bloc of southeastern European nations were interpreted by Balkan diplomats tonight as foreshadowing better relations between the Fascist government and Great Britain and France.

Such a bloc, composed of Hungary, Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Bulgaria, Rumania, and Turkey, diplomats declared, would resist expansion of soviet Russia or German influence in the region, and would provide a common ground for a meeting of the Fascists with the western empires.

Turkey Linked to Empires.

There were widespread reports—without official confirmation—that Premier Mussolini intended to call a meeting of the interested states at Rome or Belgrade, perhaps as early as next week.

Diplomats said that formation of a Balkan neutral bloc would be made easier by the fact that Turkey already was linked to Britain and France while Greece and Rumania had French-British pledges for defense of their independence. Jugo-Slavia always has been in close sympathy with France and Britain, and King Boris III. of Bulgaria was said to favor close relations with those powers.

It was believed in most southeastern European capitals that Bulgaria's new government, announced tonight, would agree to coöperate with its neighbors under Italian leadership, thus postponing territorial demands on Rumania and Greece.

Rumania Favors Neutrals.

Indications in the Bucharest official press that Rumania favored the neutral bloc plan came as the inspired Turkish press took pains to assert that Italy would benefit by the new mutual assistance pact between Turkey and France and Britain.

Istanbul and Ankara newspapers declared the ground now was cleared for Turkish-Italian friendship, because both nations wished to keep Russia and Germany from expanding into the Balkans.

NAZIS INCREASE LEVY ON JEWS TO 25 PCT. FOR 400 MILLION FINE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Twenty per cent of the fortunes left to Jews after the Nazis took over is not sufficient to pay the tribute of $400,000,000 imposed on Jews as punishment for the slaying of Ernst von Rath, young German embassy secretary in Paris, a year ago by a desperate half-German Jew, Herschel Grynszpan. Authorities today ruled Jews who still have money must pay 25 per cent of their fortunes in order to complete the payment of the $400,000,000 by Nov. 15.

If they have no money left shares inscribed in their names will be taken by the government. If this is not sufficient, whatever other papers they have left will be mortgaged or sold to meet the government's demand. This regulation applies to German Jews and to those without a country living in Germany.

BROWDER JAILED BY U. S. IN FALSE PASSPORT CASE

Red Faces Ten Years in Penitentiary.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 23.—Earl Russell Browder, general secretary of the communist party in the United States, spent tonight in a cell at the federal detention home here following his indictment for violation of the passport laws on his periodic pilgrimages to Moscow.

Followers rallied around the nation's No. 1 Red and scraped up the $7,500 required for his bail, but they were too late to effect his release before tomorrow morning. United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter, before whom the bail must be posted, had left his office before the money arrived and so Browder had to pass at least one night in jail.

Faces 10 Years in Prison.

If convicted on the two counts in the indictment Browder will be faced with a possible maximum sentence of ten years in the penitentiary and total fines of $4,000. A federal grand jury handed up the indictment this afternoon.

Browder, the communist party's candidate for President in 1936, admitted to the Dies congressional committee investigating un-American activities recently that he had traveled under false names on his passport, but refused to give details on the grounds they might incriminate him. Today's indictment charges he used the aliases of "Nicholas Dozenberg" and "George Morris."

According to the indictment, Browder received a passport under his own name on Sept. 1, 1934, and this was renewed on Feb. 2, 1937. On his application he is alleged to have sworn he never had obtained a passport before. The government charges, however, he had obtained a passport under the "Dozenberg" alias on March 12, 1921, and under the name of "Morris" on Nov. 19, 1927.

False Statement Charged.

Prosecution for using these aliases was outlawed by the three year period in the statute of limitations within which prosecution would have to be initiated. Therefore the indictment was based upon Browder's use of a passport which he had obtained thru an application containing a false statement, covered by a law passed in 1917. He used the passport under his own name to reënter the United States from Russia in 1937 and for another reëntry in 1938. Each reëntry is regarded as a separate offense.

Arraigned before Federal Judge William Bondy, Browder pleaded not guilty and his bail was set at $10,000. While he was being settled in his cell Attorney Edward Kuntz appeared in court and persuaded Judge Bondy to reduce bail to $7,500. Shortly afterward Mrs. Hester G. Huntington, whose name appeares in the social register, and a woman companion offered a $5,000 treasury bond and $2,500 in currency for Browder's bail. Mrs. Huntington was informed that the bond must be approved by the United States commissioner, who had gone home, so Browder must wait until tomorrow for his release.

Believed Self Immune.

Browder apparently believed he was immune to prosecution, his lawyers having advised him that the statute of limitations outlawed prosecution. Anyway, he arrived at the federal building in response to a grand jury subpena and was arrested in the grand jury anteroom by deputy marshals. Tears of anger appeared in his eyes. Before Judge Bondy he pleaded not guilty. Judge Bondy ordered Browder finger printed and photographed. Then he was handcuffed to a convicted narcotics peddler and taken to the detention home.

Answering routine questions, Browder said he was born on May 20, 1891, at Wichita, Kas. He denied he ever had been arrested, but records reveal that he and his brother William, both of whom opposed the entry of the United States in the world war, were convicted of violating the federal oleomargarine law. It is said they shipped peace literature labeled as oleomargarine.

While in jail Browder refused to register for the draft and was sent to Leavenworth prison. In 1920 he left the penitentiary, and the following year, the government charges, he went to Russia under the "Dozenberg" alias. In 1927, the year Browder allegedly paraded under the name of "Morris," he was sent by the Red Labor Internationale to organize a Pan-Pacific trade union congress.

Browder's trial is expected to start in six weeks, according to United State's Attorney John T. Cahill, who obtained the indictment.

DIES DEMANDS ACTION

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23—The state and justice departments were served with notice today by Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the house committee on unAmerican activities to take prompt action in the prosecution of communist party and German-American bund leaders for violation of the United States registration laws.

If there is any further delay, Dies warned, he will request the committee to authorize him to place the whole case before David A. Pine, United States attorney for the District of Columbia.

Directed from Abroad.

The law requires agents of foreign countries operating in the United States to register with the state department.

"The evidence is now so conclusive that communists and bund officials are acting under the direction of Stalin and Hitler in this country," Dies said, "that there is no excuse known to me for further delay. Their failure to register with the state department is a violation of the law."

Dies issued his challenge as the committee received word of the indictment by a federal grand jury in New York of Earl Browder, secretary of the communist party in the United States, on a charge of false application for a passport. Browder admitted before the Dies committee on Sept. 6 that he had traveled in Europe on a passport bearing a fictitious name.

Department Charges Leak.

Political excitement in the capital was high as a result of the Browder incident. Representative J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.] started the ball rolling yesterday by issuing a statement thru the Republican national committee criticizing the justice department for failing to act against Browder, altho six weeks had passed since his false passport admission.

The justice department replied with a promise of decisive action within a few hours and inquired indignantly if the Republican national committee had learned in some devious way that the department was about to act. It was a curious coincidence, the department stated.

Thomas replied today that it assuredly was a strange coincidence that the department should rush such an announcement to the press eight hours after his statement had been made.

"Within a few days I plan to call to the country's attention another incident of the department's laxity in enforcing the law, unless action meanwhile is taken," Thomas stated. "So if the department has any other cases in preparation it had better announce them and I hope they won't hold their announcement until a Sunday afternoon."

Hear Peace League Chief.

The Dies committee today heard from Dr. Harry F. Ward, chairman of the American League for Peace and Democracy, which in previous testimony has been labeled as a communist front organization.

Dr. Ward, formerly a Methodist Episcopal pastor in Chicago and Oak Park, and now professor of Christian ethics, Union Theological seminary, New York, is also chairman of the American Civil Liberties union and resigned recently as chairman of New America, which describes itself as a revolutionary organization. He insisted the revolution was to be accomplished by democratic means.

Dr. Ward declared he was not a communist and denied that the League for Peace and Democracy is communist-controlled, although it receives yearly contributions of from $2,000 from the communist party.

The witness was questioned at length concerning the activities of the league. He admitted an incident in 1934 during a congress of the league in Chicago when a man introduced as a first lieutenant in the army addressed the assemblage.

Tells of Plot in Army.

"The revolutionary soldiers in the sixth corps area extend revolutionary greetings," the officer was quoted as saying. "We eare coöperating from within the army. If the capitalists call upon us to wage war, we will wage war, but against the war-makers."

"I don't know who he was," Dr. Ward told the committee. That was just talk and nothing like the incident was ever permitted again. Every one knew there were no conditions like that in the armed forces of the middle west."

The witness became angry when asked if "the certain tendencies" to which he objected were in the form of an anti-communistic movement.

NEW BULGARIAN CABINET NAMED; OLD CHIEFS STAY

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 23 (AP).—Bulgaria's five day political crisis ended tonight with the formation of a new government almost identical with the last. George Kioseivanoff again holds the joint rôle of premier and foreign minister. There was no change in the important war, finance and agriculture ministries. Of outstanding importance was the fact that the premier, a close friend of King Boris III., continued as foreign minister, thus, observers said, fully reflecting the views of the monarch and indicating that Bulgaria intends to follow her cautious policy of neutrality.

High Court Refuses Ruling on Hitler Book Copyright

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 [Special].—Without explanation, the Supreme court today refused to interfere with a lower court ruling that whether or not Adolf Hitler was a "stateless" person when he wrote "Mein Kampf," the Houghton Mifflin company of Boston owns a valid American copyright of the German Fuehrer's book. The high court declined to upset the Second Circuit Court of Appeals in granting a temporary injunction to the Boston firm restraining Stackpole Sons, Inc., and the Telegraph Press from publishing a version of the work pending final decision in a suit for damages.

HEAR TESTIMONY ON DISOBEDIENCE OF LINER'S CREW

Steward Makes Charges, but Retracts Them.

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—William H. Dunphy, chief steward aboard the liner Acadia on a recent trip to Europe to get American war refugees, told a federal marine investigation board this morning that members of the crew were insubordinate and generally inefficient.

Questioned about specific instances, Dunphy said he could give "1,000 incidents," and that complaints of passengers had nearly driven him insane. Sixty-four members of his staff, he said, never had been to sea before.

Then, shouting that his life would be endangered if he testified further, Dunphy walked out on Robert S. Smith and James W. Fleming, marine inspectors. The latter were conducting the hearing on complaints of many of the 280 passengers, who protested against treatment they received from the Acadia's crew.

Returns to Hearing Room.

Late this afternoon Dunphy returned to the hearing room aboard the liner and told a greatly modified story. He said the stewards had been overworked from four to six hours a day, that he had not observed any inefficiency on the part of his staff, and that he had not seen any fist fights or other signs of dissension on the part of the crew.

Capt. Robert H. Allen, master of the Acadia, supported Dunphy's second story. He said the liner ran for three days in a hurricane and that under the unusual circumstances he did not believe the passengers had just cause for complaint.

He said that despite the storm which made service in the dining room difficult, some passengers demanded full course meals.

Offers Pipe as Evidence.

Dunphy was the first witness called this morning. He opened the hearing dramatically by unfolding a piece of paper and producing two lengths of lead pipe with taped grips.

"These are blackjacks," he shouted. "They were given to me just before I came in here by a member of the crew who said he found them in the waiters' quarters aboard the Acadia." William L. Standard, general counsel for the C. I. O. maritime workers, objected to display of the pipe, and Inspector Fleming said only factual evidence would be considered.

Dunphy told the investigators that a telephone operator had gone ashore at Cobh, Ireland, and left a drunken seaman in charge of the switchboard. He also said many of the staff refused to work.

Peter Buvik of New York, chief purser, testified that he believed passengers were disgruntled more by the conditions of the trip than by treatment of the crew.

The Acadia is owned by the Eastern Steamship lines. At the time of the voyage about which passengers complained the liner was being operated under charter by the United States Steamship lines.

2 AMERICANS, 9 OTHERS SEIZED AS SPIES IN SWEDEN

Deny Taking Pictures in Military Zone.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 23 (AP).—Two Americans identified by Swedish police as John Gray Faron and George Evered Kidder-Smith—both graduates of Princeton university—were among 11 foreigners under arrest here tonight on suspicion of espionage.

The police alleged the Americans were carrying cameras during a visit to a hilltop children's home and showed suspicious interest in surrounding military objectives.

Both Americans vigorously denied they had taken any pictures of military value but pending development of the films in their cameras they were kept in custody.

See Possibility of Mistake.

Swedish authorities acknowledged the possibility that a mistake had been made in the case of the Americans, but insisted on a full investigation.

Police said their attention was first attracted to Faron and Kidder-Smith because they failed to acknowledge a warning sent them by authorities not to take pictures of bridges, harbors, and other possible military objectives without permission.

The warning was sent to 17 Americans studying in Sweden under the Swedish-American foundation scholarships.

No details were divulged regarding the other foreigners arrested, but they were said to be six Germans and three Russians.

Had Foreign Office Permit.

A rigid patrol of the Stockholm and Gothenburg harbor districts has been established to exclude unauthorized persons.

A number of coast artillery batteries were established recently on the islands near Stockholm and all the batteries are fully manned.

Faron and Kidder-Smith described themselves as newspapermen, police said, and they had a foreign office permit to visit the children's home. Police said the Americans told them they were interested particularly in welfare institutions but when they got up on the hill they displayed more interest in surrounding military objectives.

Norway Seizes Suspect.

AANDALSNES, Norway, Oct. 23 (AP).—Picture postcards of the "Cross-marks-my-room,-wish-you-were-here" type landed a suspected spy in jail here today when authorities observed the crosses invariably marked military points.

Neither the name nor the nationality of the suspect was given, but it was disclosed he was a citizen of a belligerent nation.

FORMER COUNCILMAN DIES.

De Kalb, Ill., Oct. 23 [Special].—Thomas F. McEnaney, 70 years old, for several years a member of the De Kalb city council, died this morning at his home in nearby Pierce, a community in which he has resided since his retirement several years ago as a die maker for the American Steel and Wire company.

ROOSEVELT SEEKING A FREE HAND IN WAR GAME, SAYS ECONOMIST

John T. Flynn, New York economist and magazine writer, last night said that President Roosevelt hopes to wipe most of the present neutrality laws off the statutes so that he will have a free hand to deal as he wishes in the European war.

Flynn spoke before 1,500 persons at the Woman's club of Evanston, Chicago avenue and Church street, in the suburb, under auspices of the People's Program for Peace. This organization includes among its leaders the Rev. Ernest Fremont Tittle, of the First Methodist church, Evanston. Mr. Flynn said that the President for a time opposed the arms embargo when it was being drafted because he felt it invaded his rights as executive.

STATE TROOPERS OUST LOUISIANA ATTY. GENERAL

Prosecutor Byrne Regains Office in Armed Coup.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 23 (AP).—Armed men—often a factor in the coups of Huey Long—reappeared dramatically on the Louisiana political scene today when Gov. Earl K. Long's troopers seized the offices of two state officials.

In addition, at least one company of National Guardsmen was being held under arms.

Gov. Long maintained the never-a-dull moment tradition in state politics by striking at Attorney General David M. Ellison and First Assistant Attorney General James O'Connor only a few hours before the midnight deadline on qualifications for next January's gubernatorial primary.

The final day found five candidates in the lists, all except Long pledged to break the ten year hold of the machine built by the spectacular tactics of the slain "Kingfish" Long.

Charges Illegal Tenure.

Gov. Long announced he was removing Ellison and O'Connor because he had discovered they were holding office "illegally." Ellison qualified yesterday to run for attorney general against City Attorney Francis Burns of New Orleans, named for that post on the administration ticket which Long heads.

Long named Second Assistant Attorney General Lessley Gardiner to succeed Ellison.

Brig. Gen. Louis F. Guerre, commandant of the state patrol, directed six troopers in their noonday seizure of Ellison's office in the latter's absence. The ousted attorney general had not been reached tonight for comment.

Other troopers took over O'Connor's office in New Orleans and New Orleans city police were posted to "protect" the office of District Attorney Charles A. Byrne there.

Guard Long's Offices.

Later today the armed force at Ellison's office was increased to eight men, and four troopers came to the executive offices as a special guard, indicating that Long feared a possible countercoup.

This belief was strengthened when National Guardsmen were assembled at their barracks here and told to await orders. Eighty-three members of Company A of the 156th infantry received instructions to be prepared to move without delay.

Despite statements by guard officers that "it's nothing but a drill," the men were still in uniform in their barracks several hours later.

Last week grand jurors charged District Attorney Byrne was not vigorous enough in investigating reports of political corruption in New Orleans and Ellison named O'Connor to take over the district attorney's duties. Today, after O'Connor was ousted, Byrne got back his office, along with a guard of four policemen.

Appointed by Leche.

Ellison, once private secretary to indicted former Gov. Richard W. Leche, went into office under Leche last spring, but Long said today he never had been properly appointed. Ellison had served four months under Long, who stepped up from the lieutenant governorship when Leche resigned after a series of scandals began breaking in official circles.

Among those qualified to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination —equivalent to election in Louisiana is Sam H. Jones, Lake Charles attorney, already singled out for special criticism by the administration standard bearer.

Other qualifying aspirants are former governor and state senator, James A. Noe, an ex-Long Lieutenant who has broken with the present régime; James H. Morrison, Hammond attorney, and Henry Vincent Moseley of Opelousas. Dudley J. LeBlanc of Abbeville and Frederick Putfark of Covington, had qualified, but withdrew today.

Tempest in Louisiana

Attorney General David M. Ellison (left) of Louisiana and his first assistant, James O'Connor, who were ousted from office yesterday on orders of Gov. Earl K. Long.

Gov. Long (left), who ordered the ouster of Ellison and O'Connor, and Louis F. Guerre, superintendent of Louisiana state police, who appeared in Ellison's office in Baton Rouge with state troopers and took over. Other state troopers notified O'Connor in his New Orleans office that he was fired.

NAZI IRON FLAW VIEWED AS CURB ON WAR MACHINE

Steel Impurities Told at Metal Congress.

Germany's domestic iron has an inherent flaw which will become more serious as war compels the re-use of scrap iron. This was disclosed yesterday by E. E. Thum, editor of Metal Progress, official journal of the American Society for Metals.

The society is one of four technical organizations holding conventions during the National Metal Congress and Exposition, which opened yesterday and will close Friday.

Thum spoke on the basis of a letter received just before the outbreak of the European war from H. Hougardy, metallurgist of the Deutsche Edelstahlwerke in Krefeld, Germany.

Percentage Found on Increase.

German ore contains up to 2 per cent of arsenic as compared with American ores, which in most cases show no arsenic. Arsenic is transferred to the pig iron and eventually to the finished steel, Hougardy wrote. He said that processes now in use do not remove arsenic.

Small amounts of the impurity retard welding and greater amounts make flame welding impossible, Thume said. American metallurgists commenting on the situation told Thume that if Germany is forced to rely upon her own ore the quality of steel products and fighting equipment would be below those of countries having access to American steel. It was felt that the flaw thus would hamper the German military in a prolonged war.

The exposition, in the International amphitheater at 42d and Halsted streets, is the largest ever held in the 21 years of the metal congress.

A "Silent" Exhibit.

An unusual sight is the "silent" exhibit of Maurath, Inc., Cleveland are welding electrode manufacturers. In the absence of attendants, there is a sign reading:

"Excuse our absence, please. For the first time in 15 years we find ourselves too busy to attend the show—and we're not making heat resisting shells, nor beating stainless steel plow-shares into swords."

A new process shown by the Republic Steel company prevents sled runners from sticking to snow and ice. It was said this has enabled the American Olympic bobsled team to lower the speed record in Adirondack try-outs.

FORMER WEALTHY MERCHANT DIES; SEEK HIS NAME

Altho he had a string of ice cream parlors and confectionery shops on the south side before the depression and was reputed to have a fortune of $100,000 at that time, no one knew the name of a man who fell dead of a heart attack last night at 63d and Morgan streets.

Park Policeman John Knestler, who said that the one time man of wealth had been sleeping for the last seven years in a police shed at 56th street and the Outer drive, knew him only as Pete. Attaches at Ogden park, 65th street and Racine avenue, where Pete appeared every day to do a few odd jobs in return for money for food, did not know his last name either.

During his period of prosperity, Pete operated two large shops at 63d and Halsted streets and another at 63d street and Ashland avenue. His business, known as Candyland, Inc., closed after the depression. Englewood police were trying to identify Pete.

FINNS HOPEFUL AS THEY RESUME TALKS WITH REDS

BULLETIN.

HELSINGFORS, Oct. 24, Tuesday (AP).—The Finnish delegation negotiating with soviet Russia will leave Moscow tonight to return to Helsingfors, bringing new written proposals from the Kremlin, a Finnish government spokesman said today. He said the negotiatiors were returning to consult the government. This, he said, was "nothing alarming."

MOSCOW, Oct. 23 (AP).—Russia and Finland began a second series of negotiations tonight which observers believed would result in the concession of some Finnish islands to the soviet for military bases.

Diplomatic circles believed Russia would emerge as the unchallenged master of the Gulf of Finland and the Baltic sea as the result of the conferences, following concessions gained from Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania, but would not win consent to place Russian garrisons on Finnish soil.

The delegation headed by Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi, which arrived this morning with instructions from their government on how far Finland was prepared to yield to soviet demands, was summoned to the Kremlin at 6 p. m. after waiting most of the day.

Backed by Scandinavians.

The first talks were still under way several hours later with the prospect they would be continued into the night.

It was understood the Finns, backed up by other Scandinavian states, would oppose vigorously any Russian move to take control of the strategic Aaland islands in the Gulf of Bothnia between Finland and Sweden.

The Finns were hopeful the conferences would end quickly. They pinned this hope on the belief that Russia wants to remain neutral in the European war and desires to avoid a fight with her small northern neighbor.

"Festival of German Art."

Meanwhile, indication of Russia's friendship with Germany was seen in reports from unofficial but reliable sources that the government soon would give a 10-day "festival of German art," including concerts by Bach, Beethoven, Schubert, and other German composers.

Meanwhile, a Tass [Russian official news agency] dispatch from Kaunas said a soviet military mission had arrived in the Lithuanian capital. Under a recent pact, Russia was granted the right to station troops in that country, which borders Germany.

Warships Reach Latvia.

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 23 (AP).—Five Russian warships arrived today at Libau, one of three Latvian ports set aside for Russian naval use by the soviet-Latvian mutual assistance pact.

ASK CHICAGOANS TO OFFER BRITISH CHILDREN HOMES

Dr. Angell Tells of English Speaking Union's Plan.

A proposal to place English children in American homes and schools for the duration of the war was presented to Chicagoans yesterday by Dr. James Rowland Angell, president of the English Speaking Union of the United States and former president of Yale university. He spoke before the Chicago branch of the organization in the Palmer House. Chicagoans were asked to indicate their willingness to receive such visitors.

Dr. J. R. Angell.

Dr. Angell said the plan had been proposed first by the Milwaukee chapter, and that it had been taken up by the national body. Opinion in the state department has been explored, he said, and it has been found that the department would be willing to permit this type of entrance.

British Parents Like Idea.

The plan, he added, has met with a wide response in England, and negotiations are under way with Dartmouth house, the English headquarters, to put it in operation. Dartmouth house is an old castle near London which has been made into a clubhouse. British parents would be expected to pay travel and tuition expenses, and the American hosts would provide a home.

Full details of the plan were not given by Dr. Angell because the idea still is in a formative stage. He said Chicagoans who desire more information should write to him at the New York offices of the English Speaking Union.

"I have been asked why we should not take children from both sides of the Maginot line," said Dr. Angell. "My reply is—why not? It is essentially a humane procedure. No one could object to it. But the English Speaking union could hardly be expected to do this part of it."

He spoke of the difficulties of the union at this time.

All Committed to Neutrality.

"Our first obligation," he said, "is a complete devotion to the interests of our own country. But that can-

DANISH FISHING BOATS PICK UP BODIES OF 29 KILLED ON NAZI BOAT

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 23 (AP).—Danish fishing boats reported today they had picked up bodies of 29 men from the German mine-field guardship Este 7, which exploded Saturday off Moen island.

At the same time, King Christian X. commended in a telegram two Danish airplane pilots who braved mined waters and a heavy sea to rescue four survivors. A fifth saved himself after a 10 hour swim.

The four rescued were transferred from a raft to the plane after it had landed nearby. They clung to the wings until a fishing boat, summoned by another plane, picked them up. These survivors, still in a hospital, said the Este 7 carried a crew of 46, many of whom were killed in the explosion. Danish circles said violence of the blast made it appear possible the vessel was carrying mines.

not mean that we must strangle or suppress the fundamental convictions which are ours as the result of our up-bringing, our basic beliefs, our social and political ideals.

"We are all committed to maintain as wisely and completely as we know how, the external marks of neutrality. It is quite impossible for any person to remain neutral in the emotional and intellectual life. We have no feeling of bitterness toward the nation on the other side. We may love the German people, but feel that the policies of the German government are pernicious and as essentially demoniac as anything the imagination could paint."

DEFENSE PLANS FOR FOUR FIELD ARMIES PUSHED

Proposals Are Submitted to President.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Army enlargement plans submitted to President Roosevelt call for the reorganization of the nation's land forces into nine mobile corps comprising four field armies. The program, according to the war department, is designed to amalgamate units of troops that are at present scattered and weld them into a force that would be ready for any emergency.

If the President approves the plan congress will be asked at the January session to increase the authorized strength of the regular army and the National Guard and to vote the additional funds required by such increase and the realization of the reorganization project.

Recruiting Under Way.

Mr. Roosevelt, acting under his authority in a declared emergency, has already undertaken to recruit the army up to the present authorized strength of 227,000 and of the National Guard to 235,000, a total of 462,000. The army enlargement plan provides for 280,000 regulars and 320,000 National Guardsmen, a total of 600,000.

Each of the projected nine corps would be composed of one regular army division, two National Guard divisions of larger size in addition to auxiliary troops, the total number exceeding 40,000. There would be in the aggregate 27 divisions—9 of the regular army and 18 of the National Guard.

Will Boost Appropriations.

This and other features of the administration national defense program to be laid before congress at the regular session will boost the appropriations for the army and navy for the next fiscal year to more than 2 billion dollars, compared with 1 billion 645 millions for the current year. In addition, congress will be asked by the administration to authorize future appropriations of more than 1 billion.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge [R., Mass.], member of a senate subcommittee on war department appropriations, is promoting a movement for consideration of army enlargement requirements during the present session as soon as the neutrality repealer shall have been disposed of.

"We are woefully lacking," said the senator, "in many of the essential elements of a well rounded army. More than anything else, we need increased personnel and additional coast defenses. We lack the necessary signal, engineer, medical, and other corps and army elements which are necessary to the efficient operation of the larger units of the army.

No Effective Force Now.

"Altogether the army is unable to put an effective and complete fighting force of as many as 100,000 trained regulars into the field organized for immediate combat.

"In mechanization our army is surpassed by that of every first class European power. In the total of officers and men we are somewhere between the 15th and 16th among the armies of the world."

"Lacking as our army is in important essentials, however, no power on earth could vanquish us or occupy our territory," said the senator. "You can't land an army just on the beach. Any invading force would need docking facilities and with a good army we could easily prevent their landing."

Army Increase Plans

SCARED CATTLE PUT A CRIMP IN CAVALRY DRILL

Run Off So Much Weight Ranchers Bar Troops.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Balmorhea, Tex., Oct. 23.—Texas cattlemen today forced sharp curtailment of the 1st cavalry division's combat maneuver by barring troops from their vast ranches. The cattlemen said the cavalry stirred up so much dust that grass was being ruined and their blank ammunition frightened their cattle and made them run off their weight.

Since the maneuver was started last week four regiments of horse cavalry, two regiments of field artillery, and supplemental mounted troops have been ranging over an area 30 miles north, south, and west of Balmorhea. Today the maneuver was confined to the Kingston and McCutcheon ranches, which begin six miles southwest of the town and cover many thousand acres.

Brig. Gen. Kenyon A. Joyce, commander of the division, today advocated government purchase of cheap land suitable for army maneuvers. Such ownership, he said, would prevent future hampering of troop training by the closing of private lands.

Practice at Withdrawal.

Today's maneuver was a demonstration of retirement from a position in the face of a superior force. Umpire flags were used to represent the enemy and there was no gunfire.

Moving out of camp at 7 a. m., the 5th and 12th cavalry regiments, making up the first brigade under command of Brig. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, marched to a hill on the McCutcheon ranch.

Col. Innis P. Swift's second brigade, consisting of the 7th and 8th cavalry regiments, followed 30 minutes later and the 82d field artillery moved in last.

The two brigades then occupied a common line of defense and two squadrons were sent two miles forward to serve as covering forces. The artillery, equipped with modern 75 mm. howitzers, occupied a protected position behind the hill.

Umpires considered the artillery completely successful in its mission, because its modern guns would have been able to shoot over the hill.

Obsolete Artillery Useless.

Other artillery regiments which still use the outmoded French 75 mm. field gun would have been useless in the situation because the low trajectory would have prevented firing over the hill.

The fully motorized and modernized 9th infantry regiment arrived in camp last night after a two-day overland trip from Fort Sam Houston. The regiment, commanded by Col. H. C. Browne, moved in 250 trucks and lost only one en route. The troops are armed with the new Garand semi-automatic rifles and 37 mm. antitank guns.

The infantry will take part in limited maneuvers with the cavalry division for the remainder of the week.

The 22d observation squadron took little part in the maneuver today. The squadron has had 21 combat firing hours since the maneuvers started and has wrecked three of its nine new $50,000 airplanes. Two planes can be repaired and one is a total loss. None of the flyers has been hurt.

K. ROOSEVELT DUE TO JOIN BRITISH REGIMENT SOON

LONDON, Oct. 23 (AP).—Kermit Roosevelt, son of former President Theodore Roosevelt, is expected to join a British army regiment soon under an emergency second lieutenant's commission.

Friends today said that Roosevelt, whose appointment was announced recently, was recovering from a slight illness. He was a British major during the world war. His assignment is with the Middlesex infantry—the "Die Hards."

It was not disclosed whether he would become a British citizen. The war office said regulations would not necessarily require that he be a subject under his special commission.

'REWARD' U. S. SKIPPER WHO RESCUED 55 OFF TORPEDOED VESSEL

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—Federal authorities handed Capt. John L. Reynolds of the steamship Collingsworth a "reward" today for his rescue of 55 survivors from H. M. S. Courageous which was torpedoed in the Atlantic Sept. 17.

Reynolds was skipper of the steamship Waukegan when it rammed the St. Georges bridge in the Chesapeake and Delaware canal last Jan. 10 and destroyed it.

The bureau of marine inspection and navigation found him and the pilot guilty of speeding and inattention to duty but let Reynolds off without discipline because of his "excellent performance" in the Courageous rescue. The license of the pilot, F. Leroy Taylor, was suspended for 30 days.

CROAT LEADER SLAIN BY MOB IN JUGO-SLAVIA

ZAGREB, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 23 (AP).—One political leader was killed today as violence flared again in the newly formed autonomous Croat state.

Peter Vratar, commander of the armed peasants protective society at Pakrac, was beaten to death by a gang. He was a follower of Vladimir Machek, head of the Croatian peasant party.

The killing followed the Croatian authorities' recent suppression of the Sokol Youth organization as too Serbian in character. At one place the Sokol headquarters was burned. Croatian autonomy is the result of a compromise after long Serb-Croat conflict within the Jugo-Slav state.

WOMAN ORDERED TO FACE TRIAL ON EXTORT CHARGE

Mrs. Mae Lantz, 38 years old, 130 North Sheridan road, Waukegan, was ordered to stand trial on two charges yesterday by Circuit Judge William L. Pierce in Waukegan.

She pleaded not guilty on charges of extortion by threat and possession of an obscene article. She was accused by Dr. L. E. Bovik, a Waukegan physician, who also has brought a suit for $150,000 against her on a charge of conspiracy.

Judge Pierce overruled a motion to quash the indictments. The motion was made by Mrs. Lantz's lawyer, Charles Aiken, who contended the indictments were faulty because no women had served on the grand jury that returned them Oct. 2.

Judge Pierce upheld State's Attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county, who argued that in counties of fewer than 250,000 population the county board of supervisors may select men, women, or both to serve on the grand jury panel.

INQUIRY OPENED INTO MANTENO TYPHOID SCOURGE

Gov. Horner Pledges Aid to Prosecutor.

State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro of Kankakee county yesterday opened his investigation into charges that the typhoid epidemic which has taken 52 lives at the Manteno State hospital for the insane resulted from negligence. The inquiry was given momentum by a telegram from Gov. Horner promising the coöperation of all state officials and declaring that if a grand jury inquiry is warranted the governor will welcome it.

"I am glad to receive the governor's telegram," said Shapiro, "and in view of his statement concerning the possibility of grand jury action I shall weigh that consideration most carefully. I intend to conduct a real investigation into the charges of negligence."

Shapiro said that Dr. Ralph T. Hinton, managing officer of the Manteno hospital, yesterday went voluntarily to Shapiro's office in Kankakee to offer copies of all reports concerning Manteno sent to the hospital by the state health department since 1931. Shapiro accepted the offer.

Bowen to Submit Files.

The prosecutor also requested A. L. Bowen, state welfare director, to make available copies of correspondence between that department and the health department having to do with Manteno. Bowen said this would be done.

Shapiro said he would study all the records and then decide with what persons he wished to talk. He already has taken statements from some hospital employés.

Dr. Hinton yesterday said the typhoid situation at Manteno was much improved. He said only five or six of the more than 325 patients still isolated are seriously ill. The first truckloads of drinking water from Kankakee were brought to the hospital yesterday. Drinking water will be obtained in this way until a filter is installed at the hospital or other arrangements are made. There is only one known case of amebic dysentery at Manteno, Dr. Hinton said.

Welfare Head Since 1931.

Bowen, who was born in Bloomington, Ill., went to Springfield in 1899 as managing editor of the Springfield Evening News. In 1909 he was appointed executive secretary of the State Charities commission and served under the Deneen and Dunne administrations. He later reorganized the state's charitable and penal institutions and was first superintendent of charities from 1917-21. After returning to newspaper work he again was named welfare head in 1931.

Dr. Hinton, a native of Quincy, Ill., was graduated from the University of Illinois school of medicine in 1904, served a two year internship at Michael Reese hospital, Chicago, and for a time was in general practice. He joined the Jacksonville State hospital staff in 1907 and soon became assistant superintendent.

In 1911 he was named managing officer of the Elgin State hospital. In 1914 he became head of the Peoria State hospital and three years later returned to Elgin. He was appointed managing officer of the Manteno State hospital in July, 1930, by Rodney H. Brandon, then head of the welfare department.

HORNER DEMANDS ACTION

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23.—Gov. Henry Horner said today that every assistance the state can give will be offered to State's Attorney Samuel H. Shapiro of Kankakee county in the inquiry Shapiro is conducting into the Manteno State hospital typhoid scandal.

"If there has been any negligence in any quarter on the part of any public official, let the blame be placed squarely," the governor said in a telegram to Shapiro.

Horner asserted at his press conference that he wanted no whitewash. He said he was having an additional investigation made for his own satisfaction and declared: "No one will be spared. I don't care who is hurt."

"We've got to correct a situation," the governor added, "that might lead families to fear to send their loved ones to the state institutions."

Eight Year Warnings Revealed.

The governor was asked whether he had talked with Dr. A. C. Baxter, director of health, whose department has tested the Manteno water for eight years and found it tainted. These reports were made public yesterday by A. L. Bowen, director of public welfare, who has supervision over all charitable and criminal institutions.

Horner said he had not conferred with Dr. Baxter. Concerning the water used at Manteno, he said it came from the same limestone formation from which all cities and towns in the Manteno area obtained their water.

"Mr. Bowen," the governor told reporters, "has been doing a fine job. I appointed him without reference to politics [Bowen was made director by former Gov. Louis L. Emmerson] and he has been doing three men's work. But I don't care who is hurt by this investigation. There will be no whitewash."

Quiz Agency Unrevealed.

The governor did not reveal what agency, person, or persons he had entrusted with his own investigation at Manteno. Some persons believe he has been considering asking an outside agency to step in, but there was no confirmation of this today.

Gov. Horner released his message to State's Attorney Shapiro shortly after he had entered his redecorated offices in the statehouse. Surveying the red carpet, the red and the blue chairs and other trimmings, he remarked with a smile, "I wasn't elected to as fine an office as this."

The governor was suffering from a cold, contracted last Saturday on a visit to Lincoln's tomb in Oakridge cemetery, and during his press conference he appeared tired.

JAIL'S FORGOTTEN WOMAN GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

Daisy Tegtmeyer Vanishes After Winning Freedom.

Daisy Tegtmeyer, known as the forgotten woman of the county jail, was gone last night, but not forgotten.

She greeted liberty with a scowl instead of a smile. She quarreled with her attorney and had words with her sister, who had arranged her bond.

Then she left them both at a loop elevated station, climbed the stairs to the platform and disappeared. She said she was going to visit some friends.

In Jail Since January, 1934.

Mrs. Tegtmeyer is 53 years old, gray haired and grim lipped. She has been in the county jail except for one interlude of ten months, since Jan. 14, 1934. Even now her freedom is temporary, pending an appeal to the Appellate court.

She was sentenced for contempt of court when she failed to explain satisfactorily what she had done with a $32,000 trust fund of which she had been trustee. Yesterday's was her 29th attempt to persuade the law to let her out.

Calls Sister a Meddler.

"I was working out a plan to raise my bond money myself," said Mrs. Tegtmeyer. "My sister is a meddler."

The forgotten woman had a chance to leave jail at 6 p. m. At that time Mrs. Moore and Charles Liebman, last of a score of attorneys who have represented Mrs. Tegtmeyer, arrived with the bond.

Mrs. Tegtmeyer did not go free, however, until 7:20 p. m. First she read every line of printing on the bond. Then she refused to sign it while photographers were present. Finally she signed.

Leaves Befrienders Flat.

Carrying her belongings in a paper parcel, she walked out with Liebman and Mrs. Moore, and got into Liebman's car. Mrs. Moore invited her to stay with her at a loop hotel. Mrs. Tegtmeyer emphatically would have none of it.

"Let me out here," she commanded when they came to the Madison-Wabash "L" station. "I'm going to see some friends. You don't have to know where." She flounced away.

Liebman said he thought everything would be all right. Mrs. Tegtmeyer promised to come to his office at 11 o'clock this morning.

PROBE OUTBREAK OF DYSENTERY IN MARINE HOSPITAL

The Chicago health department and authorities at the United States Marine hospital, 4141 Clarendon avenue, are investigating an attack of dysentery which affected 25 persons in that institution last Wednesday. It was reported yesterday that all who suffered from the illness are out of danger.

Investigators believe the ailment was caused by a food poisoning. Samples of food are being tested in the health department laboratory. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, health board president, said that tests so far have shown no impurities.

The hospital management said no new cases have been reported since last Wednesday. Those who became ill include patients and employés and have been isolated from the others. The hospital has 175 patients and 140 employés.

Hospital physicians said the dysentery attack was mild and that no one was in a critical condition.

IT'S A GREAT DAY FOR POLICE AS GREAT DANE GOES

Evanston's policemen breathed easier yesterday and the city treasurer relaxed, no longer fearing the bogey of bankruptcy. The Great Dane, which has been romping through the aisles of the dog pound since Saturday, consuming large quantities of food daily, was claimed by his master.

Stanley Tasker, superintendent of sewers, thought the pony sized animal resembled a Great Dane which was the mascot of the North Center American Legion post to which he once belonged. Tasker called Joseph Schlitt, 235 Howell street, owner of the mascot.

The mascot was safe at home, Schlitt declared, but the dog's big brother was absent. Schlitt hurried out to Evanston. With a yelp of joy the Great Dane leaped into Schlitt's arms, dog and man collapsing in a happy tangle on the floor.

Radium Dial Company Fails Again in Attack on Award

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—The Radium Dial company failed again today in the Supreme court in its effort to appeal to the La Salle county, Illinois, Circuit court, without giving the usual bond, from a $5,661 award by the state industrial commission to Catherine Wolfe Donahue, alleged to have been disabled by radium poisoning. The company appealed from a decision by the Illinois Supreme court that the customary bond should be given. The Supreme court here dismissed the company's petition on Oct. 9 "for want of a substantial federal question." Today it refused to reconsider that action.

JOHN D. AMES RENAMED HEAD OF VOTER LEAGUE

Warren Phinney, executive secretary of the Legislative Voters' League of Illinois, announced yesterday that John D. Ames, publisher of the Journal of Commerce, had been reëlected president of the organization.

Whipple Jacobs, the announcement said, was elected vice president, Denison B. Hull, secretary, and Gardner Brown, treasurer. Seven directors were reëlected for three year terms. They were Vice President Jacobs, Richard Bentley, Daggett Harvey, Donald F. McPherson, Frank M. Whiston, all of Chicago, Logan Hay of Springfield, and A. Philip Smith of Rockford.

MRS. HELEN MILNE.

Mrs. Helen Milne, 23 years old, obtained an injunction yesterday to restrain Raymond Milne from disposing of any assets until there has been a hearing on her bill for divorce. Milne, who lives at 244 East Pearson street, was secretary to the late Ald. John [The Bath] Coughlin.

Mrs. Milne lives at 1260 North Dearborn street. Her suit, charging cruelty, is pending before Judge Oscar F. Nelson.

CHECK PASSER'S 8 MONTHS SPREE ON WALLET ENDS

Last February Vincent Klabisch, 2110 Home avenue, Berwyn, lost his wallet. Ever since then bad checks have been turning up bearing his name. The man who passed them would use Klabisch's driver's license, business cards, and other credentials to identify himself.

When a $71.50 check was cashed recently on a Franklin Park coal company, officials took the license number of the car of the man representing himself as Klabisch. It was traced to John F. Maguire, 44 years old, who has been in jail off and on for the last 12 years on charges of passing worthless checks.

Sergts. Elwood Martin of Franklin Park and Edward Trucksa of Berwyn found a number of check forms in Maguire's hotel room at Webster and Damen avenues, but Maguire did not come home for several days. The officers caught him yesterday by noting the license of his car on Lawrence avenue. They found Klabisch's wallet and three more checks bearing his name in Maguire's possession. He was locked up at Berwyn police station.

HORNER ORDERS OWN INQUIRY ON CHICAGO RELIEF

Will Decide on Putting It Up to Legislature.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 23 [Special].—Gov. Henry Horner revealed today that he has ordered his own investigation to determine exact relief needs in Chicago and thus learn whether the subject should be considered at the November special session of the general assembly.

The disclosure was made at the governor's press conference during the first visit he has made to the statehouse in almost a year. He became ill after the November, 1938, election and has been convalescing since.

Asserts None Denied Relief.

"No one has been denied relief in Illinois," Mr. Horner said. "Chicago has just borrowed $1,800,000 for relief, and if that isn't enough, more will have to be provided.

"In the meantime, I am having my own investigation made to determine just what Chicago's needs are. The investigation is being made by people who know the subject, and the results will be given to me before the special session.

"It's an easy thing to say, 'Let's have more relief.' I could make myself a pretty popular fellow by passing out more relief, but then I'd have to raise the taxes to pay for it."

Mr. Horner said he had not determined a date for the special legislative session, but most statehouse observers think he will convene it about the middle of next month. He did say that he hoped it would not extend into the Christmas holidays.

To Confer on Oil.

Asked whether regulation of the oil fields would be included in the call, the governor replied: "I've tried for three years to get some oil legislation passed by the legislature, but I got no place."

Conferences with several legislative leaders later this week on this contentious subject are expected to bring the governor to a decision.

The governor gave an indefinite reply when asked whether he would include financial legislation for the Chicago sanitary and forest preserve districts within the scope of the call. These taxing bodies seek to correct bills passed last session.

"It depends upon how great the need is," Mr. Horner said, in discussing the requests.

Horner Asked About Lewis.

At the close of the conference, the governor was asked about politics, and in particular about the political future of his adherent, State Treasurer Louie E. Lewis. Some observers believe the governor would like to see Lewis slated for lieutenant governor in 1940 in place of the incumbent, Lieut. Gov. John Stelle. Treasurer Lewis was standing beside newspaper men during the interview.

"I'll say this," the governor said. "Treasurer Lewis types the man I like to see in government." Lewis smiled and the conference disbanded.

JOHN VENNEMA FETED ON HIS 25TH YEAR AS NETHERLANDS CONSUL

A dinner celebrating the 25th anniversary of John Vennema as consul general for The Netherlands in Chicago was held last night in the Tavern club. Among the guests were consuls of other foreign countries. Mr. Vennema is a practicing attorney in Chicago and a member of the Illinois and Chicago bar associations.

Ed Wynn Settles Claims of His Wife Out of Court

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—The separation suit brought against Ed Wynn, the comedian, by Frieda L. M. Wynn, former follies girl, was discontinued in Supreme court today as the result of an out-of-court settlement in which both sides claimed satisfaction. Wynn, who is 52 years old, said that withdrawal of the suit was a "complete vindication" of himself.

AS NEIGHBOR TO NEIGHBOR

By CALEB

FIGURATIVELY side by side, in this city of a myriad joys and miseries, dwell the fortunate and unfortunate. Sometimes their proximity is literally nextdoor. In a stadium throng, or a civilian parade, it would be hard to distinguish the one from the other. Even in individual homes and lives, the difference is not always discernible, for misfortune has many degrees of acute suffering above the point of rags and tatters.

The fortunate among us still enjoy health, jobs, homes, families, clothes, food, friends, leisure, something in the bank—"prospects" to look forward to. But what of those others, who have them not?

Many an individual more ready than thinking will answer: "The Government can look out for them." And as surface thinkers usually are, they would be wrong. The Government's watchcare withdraws when its particular program is finished of supplying work for those who are fit to work. Relief for the unfit—the moneyless, homeless, hopeless, orphaned, aged, under-nourished and invalid—becomes the affair of our private relief agencies, of which there are upward of one hundred and seventy-eight in every phase of both lay and religious charitable activity.

Prior to 1930, the problem of fund-provision rested in the lap of each individual agency. This, as spokesmen for the present handling of the problem point out, "resulted not only in costly duplication of effort, and needless expense for the various agencies, but in annoyance and confusion to the average citizen who was asked to help." Since that date, however, constructive common sense has pooled the appeals of 178 private charitable organizations in one concerted drive for funds—with innumerable benefits to givers, agencies, and their thousands of charity recipients.

One advantage alone of the single Community Fund drive should forever win over the would-be contributor who has thought his dollar would evaporate en route to its objective . . . the fact that only three cents are diverted into administrative and campaign expenses. Ninety-seven cents go to relief—apportioned into 36 cents for family service, 17 cents for child care, 21 cents for group work, 16 cents for health agencies, and 7 cents for protective care of the homeless aged.

The drive for 1939 has just opened. It aims at a necessary total of $3,611,000 to provide for essential minimum needs of 178 privately maintained social and health agencies, both religious and nonsectarian. Almost a million Chicagoans are vitally interested in the fund; more than 400,000 as contributors, and almost 500,000 as recipients of agency services. It is a certainty that the city's understanding and sympathy, as such qualities would be expressed by neighbor to neighbor, will manifest themselves in a Community Fund filled to the brim.

BUNDESEN TELLS WHY HE PUT O. K. ON MILK CARTONS

Guided by U. S. Health Board, He Says.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, and three board members were questioned yesterday at a hearing on the suit brought by the Fieldcrest Dairies to compel the city to permit the sale of milk in paper containers.

Dr. H. N. Bundesen.

Dr. Bundesen during his hour on the stand gave his reason for a sudden approval of paper milk containers a week ago when the board recommended to the city council that the city ordinance be amended and sale of the paper containers be allowed.

Follows U. S. Health Service.

The board president said its position had always been the same; that it had been governed by the recommendations of the United States public health service.

"The board of health has always been consistent," Dr. Bundesen said. "When I learned that the public health service had approved the containers, I drew up a resolution approving them for Chicago and presented it to the board."

The hearing was before Federal Master in Chancery Jacob I. Grossman. Dr. Bundesen was questioned by Walter Schaefer, an assistant corporation counsel who had subpenas issued for board members last week.

"Who Dictates?" He's Asked.

"Who dictates the policies of the board of health?" Gariepy asked. "Was this action taken freely and voluntarily by you?"

"Yes, sir," Dr. Bundesen replied.

All the board members except Dr. Lloyd Arnold, a University of Illinois bacteriologist, voted in favor of the resolution. Dr. Arnold passed his vote. He once wrote a report favorable to paper containers, but has opposed any change in the present ordinance since being appointed to the board.

Under further questioning by Gariepy, Dr. Bundesen said:

"I am not against the use of single service containers if they can be made so that fresh fluid milk can be served therefrom under the standards of the United States public health service."

Grossman Questions Motives.

"I can't understand your purpose in bringing the board members here," Master Grossman said, turning to Assistant Corporation Counsel Schaefer.

"I wanted you to hear their opinions and make your own conclusions as to their weight," Schaefer answered.

"But you really want me to give their opinions as little weight as possible?" inquired Grossman. [The city is fighting the suit.]

"Well, if I were pressed, I'd have to say yes to that," Schaefer returned.

Dr. Bundesen was followed on the stand by Doctors Robert A. Black and Francis A. Dulak, and the layman member of the board, Harry J. Reynolds. These were questioned only briefly.

STONE 25 BUSES AS N. Y. DRIVERS GO ON A STRIKE

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—Twenty-five busses were stoned, two drivers were injured, and 22 school buses were placed under police escort today when between 125 and 300 drivers from the Green Bus Lines of Queens and Brooklyn went on strike.

Approximately 100,000 persons patronizing the system's 12 lines would have been without means of transportation, company officials said, had not drivers who owned stock in the company hastily manned the abandoned equipment.

The strike climaxed three months of unsuccessful negotiations between the company and Local 1179, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway, and Motor Coach Employés of America [A. F. of L.], for the renewal of a contract whiech expired last Thursday.

MRS. HAROLD ECKHART.

Mrs. Ruby Eckhart told Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday that its costs her and her three children $10,948 a year to live. This includes maintenance of their home at 1025 Pine street, Winnetka, operation of an automobile, wages of servants, and traveling expenses.

Mrs. Eckhart is the wife of Harold Eckhart, a vice president of the Harris Trust & Savings bank. She told her expenses in support of her plea for temporary alimony, pending a hearing on her suit for separate maintenance. The judge ordered Eckhart to pay $200 a month to Mrs. Eckhart after the banker agreed to keep up the household expenses until the suit is heard. Mrs. Eckhart charges desertion.

MICHIGAN BOARD WANTS ACTION IN CHRYSLER TIEUP

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23 [Special].—The state labor mediation board intimated today that it would "crack down" on the Chrysler corporation tomorrow and invoke the full powers accorded it under the state labor act unless more progress was made at the joint conferences to settle the labor dispute which is keeping 55,000 employés out of work.

Arthur F. Raab, chairman of the state labor board, voiced displeasure after two conferences today with the C. I. O. United Automobile Workers' officials and corporation spokesmen, with what he and his associate A. C. Lapping, termed lack of progress. Although the joint conferences today were friendly, said Raab, the conferees "wandered far afield."

"Tomorrow we will determine about some other course of action that may be taken if there is no clear sign of definite progress at the morning session," he declared.

"We discussed methods of procedure at tomorrow's conference with Richard T. Frankenstein of the union. Our idea was to expedite the entire negotiations and if we have to we will resort to the full provisions of the act. We are weary of these fruitless discussions."

Robert W. Conder, director of Chrysler labor relations, said he saw no reason for invoking the state labor act, pointing out that the corporation's position is still the same as it was last week, that the company had not invited mediation and was not now seeking mediation. At the same time he maintained that definite progress had been made today, that the negotiations were taking the usual form of discussions of the proposed contract.

MILK DRIVERS DENIED REVIEW OF PICKET WRIT

The United States Supreme court yesterday denied a petition of the Milk Wagon Drivers' Union of Chicago, local 753, for a review of a lower court decision restraining picketing of retail stores selling milk of the Meadowmoor Dairies, Inc., of Chicago. The action ended a four year legal battle by the union, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, for permission to indulge in such picketing.

Picketing began in 1934, when the union contended the dairy delivered its milk to the stores thru independent vendors whose employés worked long hours for low wages, to the detriment of union members. In 1935 the dairy obtained an injunction from the Cook county Superior court restraining the picketing. Judge James F. Fardy of the Superior court subsequently dissolved the injunction and permitted peaceful picketing.

Judge Fardy's ruling was reversed April 14 by the Illinois Supreme court, which ordered a permanent injunction. It was this decision which the United States Supreme court refused to review.

CHICAGOANS MAY GET THEIR MILK IN 2 QT. CARTONS

Companies Interested in New Container.

Two-quart paper milk containers, which have proved successful in consumer tests in New York state, may be introduced to Chicagoans within the next few months, officials of the city's major dairy companies said yesterday.

The dairy executives said they have been watching the experiment in New York's Rockland county, where the large size containers are being tried. The new cartons have met with such approval there that they will be offered to New York consumers as soon as they can be manufactured in sufficient quantities.

Rockland county buyers save three cents on each purchase by using them. Two quarts in one package cost 26½ cents, while two single quart bottles cost 29½ cents. The possibility of a similar saving here was foreseen.

Watch Its Development.

The Chicago board of health last week recommended that the city's milk ordinance be amended to permit their sale here.

"We have been watching the development of the two quart paper container with keen interest," C. L. Dressel, president of the Borden-Wieland division of the Borden company, said yesterday.

"We have found that distribution of milk in the single quart paper container is more expensive than distribution in the glass quart bottle," Dressel stated. "However, the limited experiment in Haverstraw, N. Y., apparently indicates that economies can be effected thru the use of the two quart container. If this indicated savings is borne out by longer experience, we hope to introduce the two quart container in Chicago."

Bowman Company Agrees.

Officials of the Bowman company expressed a similar view. They said that the economy of a two quart container in home delivery distribution was obvious, but that its introduction would depend largely on the ability of manufacturers to furnish the machinery necessary to make large size cartons.

Sam E. Dean Jr., president of the Fieldcrest Dairies, Inc., which has waged the battle to compel the city to allow sale of milk in paper containers, stated that his concern also was much interested in the two quart carton.

TWO CONFESSED BANDITS HELD TO GRAND JURY

Warren McKenzie, 20 years old, 739 West 61st street, and Kenneth McCarty, 20, of 222 West 64th street, were held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden in bonds of $50,000 each on five charges of robbery. McKenzie confessed 20 holdups in which he obtained $623 and McCarty admitted participation in six of them.

They were seized after an investigation into the circle of friends of Miss Eldean Taylor, 18, of 7042 Eggleston avenue. Two of her suitors, Robert Sarvey, 18, and Leroy Landwehr, 19, fought for her favor Oct. 7 when she said she was unable to choose between them.

The two suitors later were sent to Effingham, in Effingham county, to face charges of stealing four National Guard rifles there. A gun in Landwehr's possession had been taken in the Effingham thefts, and this disclosure revealed the robberies which McKenzie and McCarty confessed.

PRICE OF MILK UP AS WISCONSIN HALTS CUT IN ROADSIDE SALE

Two Rivers, Wis., Oct. 23 [Special].—Milk consumers of Two Rivers who have been getting their daily supply for 5 cents a quart were forced to pay 8 cents today by action of the state department of agriculture and markets. Eight cents is the state fixed price of milk in the area, but farmers have been defying the board all summer by selling milk at a roadside stand just outside the corporate line. The board closed the stand.

Joseph Lemberger, who lived on a farm 3 miles out of Two Rivers, was the first to defy the price fixing order. At first he sold only his milk, but business was so good he soon sold some of his neighbors' supply. Three weeks ago Lemberger lost his farm through mortgage foreclosure and moved to another farm near Chilton.

Lemberger turned his milk stand over to Nick Peterick, a neighbor. Peterick continued to do a brisk business until Saturday evening when an agent of the board ordered him to close the stand. The board gave the same order to Lemberger in the summer and when he defied the order a summons was issued for him. The case never was brought to trial.

Joseph Curran, Ship Union Chief, Weds Chicago Miss

Reno, Nev., Oct. 23 (AP).—Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime union, [CIO] and Miss Retta Toble of Chicago were married here by a justice of the peace, a certificate filed today showed. Curran is 35 and Miss Toble 31. Miss Toble is a former employé of the Grace Steamship Line. Curran has been at the CIO convention in San Francisco. It was Curran's second marriage.

CONFEREES END HOUSING PROJECT LABOR DISPUTE

The labor dispute which has delayed work on the $7,000,000 Ida B. Wells housing project on the south side was settled yesterday and work on the project is expected to start tomorrow. Mayor Kelly announced this last night after a conference with Walter V. Price, labor relations director for the United States Housing Authority, and representatives of labor and the contractor, the Thompson-Starrett company.

Work has been delayed since Aug. 25, the day after construction was scheduled to start, because the contractor planned to use a mobile or truck concrete mixer to transport concrete from a central plant to each building on the job.

The Hod Carriers' District Council of Chicago and the International Union of Operating Engineers refused to work on the project. They said the mobile mixer was a new labor practice not previously used here. They maintained an individual mixer should be used a teach building. Yesterday it was agreed to permit the Thompson-Starrett company to use the mixer provided it does not use city streets or go off the project property.

UNDER STATE SUPERVISION

LOVERS' FLIGHT TO FORCE TEST OF GYPSY LAWS

Bride in Hiding After Husband's Arrest.

Somewhere in Chicago last night a pretty gypsy girl from New York City was in hiding. She says her father wants to marry her off—reputedly for money—to a man she does not love.

Over in the Maxwell street police station the man she loves and already has married was being held on suspicion of kidnaping.

Mrs. Patty Mitchell [top] and her husband, Larry.

This gypsy romance came to light yesterday when Policemen Charles Doherty and Joseph Fiedoral, acting on a police request from New York, arrested Larry Mitchell, 26 years old, as an alleged kidnaper.

But they could not find his bride, Patty Thompson Mitchell, 19. She already was in hiding. As proof that he was not a kidnaper, Mitchell produced a certificate showing that he and the girl were married in Indianapolis, Ind., last Friday, en route from New York to Chicago.

Gypsy friends said the civil marriage was resorted to in a final effort to overcome ancient tribal laws and rituals, after the bride had once been forcibly taken from her husband. Early in September, these friends said, Mitchell and the girl were married according to gypsy ritual. They assert that Mitchell's father paid a dowry of $500 to her father, Wando Thompson of New York.

Demands Second $500.

Not long afterward, it is charged, Thompson demanded another $500. When the Mitchells couldn't pay it he threatened to marry his daughter to another man who would pay.

Frightened at the threat, Mitchell and his bride fled to Cleveland, O., but her brothers found her there shortly afterward and forcibly took her back to New York. Then preparations were made to remarry her to the other man. On the eve of the scheduled marriage the girl and her husband fled again.

To foil the unwritten gypsy laws that make parental authority almost supreme, the two were married by a judge in Indianapolis. Then they came on to Chicago.

Traced Thru Auto.

Meanwhile, a kidnaping charge was lodged with New York police by the girl's father, who gave them the license number of Mitchell's car. Yesterday Policeman Fiedoral and Doherty found Mitchell's car, thru the license, in a parking lot at 14th street and Newberry avenue. They arrested him and two young gypsies who were with him.

The girl is to be produced today by Mitchell's lawyer, A. O. Galvin.

At Trial

The state is expected to close its case today against Edward A. Fisher and Francis J. Kennedy, former assistant United States district attorneys, now engaged in private practice. They are being tried before a jury and Judge James F. Fardy in the Criminal court on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Twelve witnesses testified yesterday linking the attorneys with their former client, Hubert Heintz, 30 years old, son of a Winnetka broker. Heintz testified previously that the lawyers took him to a beauty shop where his hair was bleached in an effort to prevent his identification in the robbery on Nov. 4, 1938 of a Household Finance branch office at 3150 Lincoln avenue. Heintz later confessed the robbery.

Assistant State's Attorney Morris G. Meyers said he would conclude this noon with a few minor witnesses. Fisher and Kennedy are expected to testify in their own defense.

2 KILLED, 11 HURT AS ENGINE RAMS CHICAGO TRAIN

Pennsy Coach Smashed in Fort Wayne.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 24, Tuesday [Special].—Two persons were killed and eleven others were injured, one perhaps fatally, when a switch engine plowed into a chair coach of a Chicago to Detroit passenger train almost in the heart of the city.

Those killed were identified as Robert Murray Brydon, 64 years old, of Windsor, Ont., and Erven B. Salkeld, 46, of Birmingham, Mich. Brydon was employed by a Chicago liquor house, and lived occasionally on North Dearborn street in that city. One of the injured is a Chicagoan.

A. R. Diehl, 70, of Crescent, Pa., was so severely hurt he is not expected to recover. He is in the Methodist hospital. Mrs. Anna Diehl, about the same age, presumably his wife, was also hurt, and is in St. Joseph hospital.

Crash Occurs Near Station.

The accident occurred as the train, known as the Mid-City Express, which had left Chicago shortly before midnight, was pulling into the Fort Wayne station.

A yard engine, according to railroad officials, was backing out of the station. About three blocks away it evidently struck an open switch and crashed into the chair coach at a sharp angle. It ripped open the side of the coach, which was of steel. All those injured and the two killed were in that car.

Because the accident occurred so near the station, help was forthcoming immediately. A dozen ambulances were summoned, and physicians and nurses were called. The injured were hurried to the St. Joseph, Lutheran, and Methodist hospitals.

Nine Others Injured.

Those injured in addition to Mr. Diehl and Mrs. Diehl were expected to recover, it was said. They are Mrs. John Brear, 63, of Washington, D. C.; William Schlink, 63, of Fort Wayne, the conductor; Mrs. Stanley Moy, 35, of Detroit, Mich; Mrs. Mary Valerio, 60, no address learned; Paul H. Strong, 2612 North Laramie avenue, Chicago; Mrs. Kathryn Giovanni, 64, of Chisholm, Minn.; Lewis E. Jones, 55, of Valparaiso, Ind.; James Alford, 58, of Fort Wayne, and an unidentified man.

24TH WARD VOTE QUIZ EXTENDED; 3 GUILTY IN 20TH

The grand jury was reported yesterday to have widened its investigation of vote frauds in the 24th ward to include 15 precincts.

Sidney Marovitz, assistant corporation counsel, demanded immediate trial when he and five others were arraigned before Judge James F. Fardy in Criminal court on charges of conspiracy to violate the election laws in the ward's 61st precinct. The state won a continuance until Nov. 6.

Three 20th ward election judges were found guilty in County court on contempt charges arising from irregularities in the 37th ward precinct. Judge Edmund K. Jarecki indicated he would mete out these punishments to the defendants, who are all colored: Theodia Hayes, 1302 South Morgan street, one year in jail; Allous Johnson, 1257 South Morgan street, $500 fine, and Miss Mary Curtiss, 1000 Maxwell street, $500 fine.

CHICAGO CRIME DROPPING, JUDGE PRYSTALSKI SAYS

Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court yesterday described the workings of that body to the City Club of Chicago. Judge Prystalski, speaking on the general subject of crime, expressed the belief that criminal activity in Cook county has been reduced materially in the last few years. He said the city still suffered from its previous reputation, however, in that out of town criminals were attracted here.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SOCIAL WORKER HELPS HUSBAND HELD IN 40 THEFTS

Mrs. Lorraine Perrault, 3601 Janssen avenue, was a social worker when she met her husband, Jacques, 30 years old, in Joliet penitentiary. Although he was then serving his third prison term, she had faith in him and married him. That was in 1935, when he was paroled after six year in prison.

Perrault yesterday was accused of 40 burglaries after stolen jewelry valued at $300 was found in his home. But his wife said she'd stand by him. She said she understood that her husband worked as an electrician and a drummer in an orchestra. They have a daughter, Jacqueline, 2.

Police charged that Perrault jimmied doors in his burglaries, carrying electrician's tools and a stolen star which he would show if surprised to support his statement that he was a building inspector. Ned Barra, a janitor, whom Perrault induced to let him into a store at 2905 Milwaukee avenue where he took a set of scales and a meat cutter, was also held for questioning.

3 NEW YORKERS SLAIN IN LONELY ROAD NEAR RENO

Reno, Nev., Oct. 23 (AP). — Two women and a man, all of New York City, were found shot to death on a lonely highway leading to Pyramid lake late today. Coroner Francis J. Cunningham said it appeared to be a double slaying and suicide.

The dead were Nils Alban Almgren Webster, his estranged wife, Lillian Hewthorne Webster, and her traveling companion, tentatively identified as Louise Schmeltz.

Cunningham said a note was found in Webster's pocket directing that he be buried beside his wife. Valuable jewelry was found on the three bodies. All were middle aged. Coroner Cunningham said it appeared that the man might have shot the two women and then himself.

Albert D. Ayers, Reno attorney, said Mrs. Webster had planned to sue for divorce here Wednesday on the ground of cruelty. He said the Websters were married last Jan. 27 in Manassas, Va., but he knew little more about them.

EMIL FINDS COPS CAN SEE FOREST IN SPITE OF TREES

After three visits to the central police building at 1121 South State street Sunday night and early yesterday, Emil Holbick, 35 years old, of Racine, an ex-convict, was returned there a fourth time yesterday. This time he was fixed up with a cell until permanent accommodation can be arranged elsewhere.

The first time Holbick paid a visit he left wearing Lieut. Bernard O'Connor's overcoat, taken from the lieutenants' room. The second time, he carried away the radio from the same room. The third time, he returned for the loudspeaker, but as he subsequently explained, there were too many policemen around.

The overcoat was recovered from a pawn shop. Moody Wilson, 40, colored, was found with the radio, which he acquired from Holbick for 45 cents and seven street car tokens. Wilson also was locked up. Holbick said that, on the same theory that some persons can't see the forests for the trees, he thought another thief would go undetected among all the other criminals.

Bread and butter —and orphans

Who provides the bread and butter at YOUR house? And just how big a MOUNTAIN of bread and butter do you think it would take to feed ALL THE FAMILIES in America for a year?

The figures—over a thousand million dollars' worth—are too big to bother yourself about. But here's an amazing thing: The benefits of life insurance last year were enough to supply the whole nation with all its bread and butter.

But the whole nation doesn't receive all its life insurance benefits at any one time. Therefore, the millions who did get life insurance benefits last year had more than just bread and butter from them. They had warm clothes, schoolbooks, shoes and shelter, and other things which make life secure.

That is life insurance in action . . .

—made possible through the agent who has not thought of life insurance as $1,000 or $100,000, but as a way to continue a regular, dependable income—for yourself if you need it, for your dependents if you don't.

AMERICA'S BREAD AND BUTTER!

6 BILLION 10¢ loaves of bread
1 BILLION 40¢ pounds of butter
Eight pounds for every man, woman and child.

AMERICA'S LEISURE!

In endowments and annuities, 800,000 policies paid to America's thrifty and thoughtful, enough money to buy half a million new cars—a stream, bumper to bumper, from San Francisco to New York!

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike for another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to yeil and even second the arts of influence on the other."—From the Farewell Address.

TRYING TO MAKE IT AMERICA'S WAR.

Senator Borah, in another radio speech opposing the repeal of the arms embargo, read some letters which had been written to him from England. His correspondents across the water had selected him because he is one of the most effective of the debaters against the repeal and because of his international reputation.

One English father asked him why an American boy should be considered in any different light than an English boy. "The English boy is fighting for civilization. Why should not the American boy take his place alongside him? He should, and, I venture to say, before long will, take his place in this war alongside the youth of Great Britain."

"In another letter," said Senator Borah, "written to me from Surrey, England: 'This fight is as much yours as it is ours. May you be forgiven for your betrayal of mankind, not only now but in the past.'"

This is but the beginning of the pressure which will be intensified as the war in Europe is prolonged. The expressions and the sentiments reflect the opinions of alien minded Americans, all of whom support the repeal. Statements by repealers on the floor of the senate have given a justification to the English to reproach the United States for its attitude. For the most part the policy in Great Britain, both for the public officials and for the press, has been to suspend criticism of America while the neutrality bill is being debated.

Britons are told by their public men and their public writers that America is friendly but must be permitted to make its decisions. That course will be followed until the preliminary advantages have been obtained. If a commitment is made upon the terms proposed—with an agreement that Great Britain and France are fighting the war for civilization—the subsequent maneuvers will emphasize the inadequacy of the American contribution.

As soon as there has been an official admission in Washington that America is selling arms to promote a cause in the outcome of which the American people are vitally interested, the insufficiency of the proposed contributions will be emphasized with constantly increasing vigor. There will then be nothing to be lost by pounding away on this theme because the United States will have taken the first step. The favorable legislation will have been passed and thereupon there will be everything to gain by reproaching the American people as slackers according to their own description of the war.

THIS HORROR MUST STOP

or

Can Such Things Be in Civilized America?

We refer to the University of Chicago's point-a-minute football team. As our Wilfrid Smith explained, Coach Crisler of Michigan didn't intend to be brutal to his alma mater, but conference rules permitted him to bring only 36 men to the Midway and he couldn't dig up enough one-legged substitutes to prevent his boys running up 85 points.

So far, however, matters don't seem to have got beyond control. None of Coach Shaughnessy's squad has complained to the Juvenile Protective association. Neither has it been necessary for secretaries of La Salle street alumni to keep themselves between their bosses and the window. If President Hutchins will just refrain from resurrecting his remarks on ten cent football the whole thing may pass over.

However, Chicago still has several more games to play. Merely as a means of putting them on a competitive basis, may we suggest the blind bogey system of scoring? As we have it from the only member of this department young and ambitious enough to get out on a golf course, blind bogey competitors guess what they'll do, play their round, post their scores, and then pull a number from a hat. The player whose score is closest to matching his guess takes the pot. As adapted to football, they might number pool balls from one to a hundred, revolve them in the Maroon base drum, and roll one out on the fifty yard line after the game. Whichever team had a score closest to the number drawn could then pull up the goal posts. Any number short of 35 ought to put the home team in the running.

We noted by the Sunday paper that Knox, which a few years ago accumulated a world's record series of defeats, is now leading its conference. It hasn't been so many years since a fellow named Berwanger made a Michigan team look very foolish on the Midway. If President Hutchins will just be patient, and the members of his faculty don't become too technical, he can look forward with confidence to the day when he can raise the admission at Stagg field to two bits.

TOO MANY WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS.

The board of health has at last recommended that the city council permit sale of milk in paper cartons in Chicago. Acceptance of this recommendation by the council is expected, since a federal court hearing of a suit designed to force approval of the cartons is approaching a close.

The board's recommendation, reversing a previous stand, was on eminently correct grounds. It now approves the cartons, its members say, because the federal health service approves them.

The board of health is assigned a most important task in seeing that Chicago gets a sanitary milk supply. It performs that task very well. No city in the country is better guarded against milk borne diseases. But the field of milk sanitation has on occasions taken in an astonishing amount of territory. It is obviously necessary that if Chicago is to have clean milk, the farms that produce it must be kept under sanitary inspection. Some years ago farmers seeking to enter the Chicago market had difficulty in getting their farms inspected. Sanitary regulations, as applied, served to maintain a monopoly for a certain group of producers.

Other instances could be cited, but it will suffice to examine the case of the paper milk cartons. The health authorities say they were guided by the pure light of science, and that alone. Without disputing them, what interests might have been injured or benefited by their ruling?

Obviously, the makers of glass bottles must have been just as anxious to keep the cartons out as were the makers of cartons to get in. The distributors deny that the cartons will make milk any cheaper. That would seem to rule out any official connivance on behalf of consumers. No one has ever been suspected of conniving on behalf of milk consumers, anyway. They are the fellows who pay the bill.

But while paper cartons may not affect price, they will have an important effect on distribution methods. They are easier to handle. There are no bottles to return. That makes store sales easier and hurts home deliveries.

The milk wagon driver making home deliveries gets an average salary of $52 a week, recent figures show, while the wholesale driver delivering to stores averages $79.95 a week, according to the same figures. But the labor cost of delivering milk to a home is 4.01 cents a quart, while that of delivering to a store is only 1.78 cents a quart. The president of the wagon drivers' union, who has seen the jobs in its field drop from 7,000 to 4,000 in recent years, expects paper cartons to destroy more jobs.

There may be other factors involved in the case. The only thing of which the public can be certain concerning incidents in the Chicago milk business is that there is almost always a reason behind the stated reason, wheels within wheels. The purpose of these machinations, whether by those within the industry, local or federal authorities, is almost invariably to protect some one from competition. Naturally the consumers pay.

Chicago would benefit by an honest and thoro investigation of its milk industry. The federal department of justice investigated, but its actions were tainted by the suspicion that members of the industry were being charged with crime to blackjack them into doing the same thing legally under Secretary Wallace's dictatorship.

Whatever the motives of this federal investigation, there are those who were disappointed that the investigators didn't get a chance to take the witness stand. It would have been interesting to know who oils the wheels within the wheels.

A PREVIEW FOR THE SENATE.

A movie publicity undertaking has kicked back at its promoters in a way that might have been expected by any enterprisers who had given a second thought to the idea. The producers of the motion picture, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," decided that they could start it off with a bang if they gave an invitation preview to the members of congress and government officials. All of Washington loves a bid to a party of any kind and the house was filled.

The senators present were soon hot under the collar. They observed the unfolding of a naive story of a young man, pure in heart, appointed to a seat in their midst who soon discovered that he was being used as an innocent in a great fraud about to be perpetrated by his senior senator and the governor of his state, with the acquiscence of the other conscript fathers. The scenes on the senate floor were in high degree uncomplimentary to the honesty, intelligence, and decency of the legislative body, whose members had been invited to see the production.

It was an extraordinary Hollywood idea that the political gentlemen would enjoy seeing a film which attributed scandalous conduct and general lack of public morals to them. Some of the senators while sitting through the picture recalled that the movie industry has been lobbying against a bill which would prohibit block booking and what is known as blind selling, by the terms of which films are leased without freedom of selection by the exhibitor.

The bread and butter letter which the senators may send in acknowledgment of the invitation to the party may be written with the passage of this bill as a hint that previews of political unscrupulousness in the United States senate should not be given to United States senators.

Editorial of the Day

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

Dr. W. S. Bourn of the bureau of biological survey reports a duel to the death of "an unusually large" blue heron and a water snake. Attacked by the great blue heron, the reptile "made a complete half-hitch around the bird's neck and threw a coil completely around the right wing," an action which "resulted in so kinking the heron's neck as to break it." Meanwhile the heron's bill had gone through the snake's head. Readers of that story, which appeared in the Evening Sun last week, might have been a bit skeptical had they not noted the locale of this strange encounter. It was "on the sea sands of North Carolina." Ah! That resolves all doubts, for the North Carolina coast is Wonderland. In a region still haunted by the ghosts of the lost colony, pirates, and Theodosia Burr; a region in which man first took to the air in successful flight; where Christmas comes on Jan. 5; where 98 per cent of the world's population of snow geese winter, and where a federal theater project actually made money—a duel between a snake and a great blue heron is a mere bagatelle. Surely, if the sea serpent is ever authenticated by science, that event will take place "on the sea sands of North Carolina."

Thus far we haven't seen the old fighting word, "Boche," in any of the war dispatches from the western empires. Perhaps they think that "Nazi" is sufficiently contemptuous.

"Abbreviation of caboche, hobnail, having a hard, rough, and square head. Before 1870 Germans were called têtes carrées, on account of their obstinacy and lack of quickness in comprehension. Tête de boche, as now used, has assumed such a degree of insult that, when applied among French people, it is an offense punished by law."

Maybe President Roosevelt has changed the date of Halloween because it is too close to Armistice day. Anyway, the soaping of windows became prevalent over the last week-end. It's next Tuesday night, boys.

* * *

The hocus-pocus of Halloween festivities bubbles up from a stratum that is several civilizations beneath the surface of the modern mind. It's ancient Celtic stuff—folk magic of the Druids. The juvenile mischief makers who will stick toothpicks in your doorbell next Tuesday evening are related to the barbaric priests who worshiped forgotten gods under the monoliths of Stonehenge. . . . It is strange how old ghosts of ideas run down the winds of time.

The emblem of the University of Chicago is a phoenix rising from flames. The bonfire underneath the strange bird may represent the alumni, burning with embarrassment during the football season.

A CHILD'S LESSON IN WAR.

—"Please tell me, daddy, about war,
And how are battles won?"

—"Two armies line up face to face,
Each soldier with his gun;
Soon nearly all on one side die,
The rest get scared and run.
The other side then waves its flags
And cheers with joy, my son."

"You mean they really shoot to kill?"

"Of course; it must be done;
And food is kept from people left
At home, till they have none.
That's how we licked the Hun."

O, dad, you're making fun;
Or else you must be all mixed up;
Why, that's the Evil One!"

Gaycelle.

Chicago Newspaper Life, 1898.

John Kelley's poem about the policeman who was transferred to the sticks [Sept. 9] raised a chortle among a group of veteran newspaper men at the Key club. They got to talking about the time when John was a young reporter. One old timer said:

"On Washington street just west of the city hall there's a cafeteria sign on the second floor of a hotel. In the room where that restaurant operates there used to work together on the Journal staff a group of future greats in the newspaper game. One was Finley Peter Dunne [Mr. Dooley].

"Tiffany Blake was writing editorials there; James O'Donnell Bennett, dramatic critic, was writing his 'What the Preacher Was Like' for the Monday paper; Bert Leston Taylor [B. L. T.] was doing a front page column, 'A Little About Everything'; Hugh E. Keough [Hek] was turf expert; Thomas Temple Hoyne was in the sports department; Dick Linthicum was an editorial executive; Gilson Gardiner was getting ready to go to Washington as a correspondent. Charles M. Peck, Fred Logan, Billy Etten, and Louis Weadock were some of the others.

FOR ELIZABETH GOUDGE.

(Author of "Towers in the Mist" and other novels)

Most dear weaver of countless lovely spells
As joyous as the lark's awakening song,
Your words ring in our hearts like chiming bells
And call us to new dawns after the long
And troubled night. Not life itself holds more
Of sunny humor, poignant tenderness,
Of gentle wisdom, gallant pride. Some shore,
Lit by faith's shining beacon, waits to bless
The wanderer who follows where you lead;
And quickened by your vision, we behold
Felicity in common things, the seed
Of beauty flowering in "realms of gold."
. . . To you our love, then, and the reader's grace

Talking Back to the Neighbors.

The following announcement appeared in a recent issue of the Mount Pulaski [Ill.] Times-News, and if all our war correspondents weren't busy elsewhere, we'd send one down there:

"To whom it may concern:

"I wish to announce that I am as capable, both physically and mentally, as I ever was to conduct my own business which I shall be glad to demonstrate [by special appointment] to the party or parties who are stating otherwise, and that I intend to stay right here in Mount Pulaski and practice my profession indefinitely, statements to the contrary notwithstanding. INTIMATE CONFESSIONS OF A MEAL.

I AM a meal of many factors and consist of a generous slice of roast lamb, a helping of cauliflower, a baked potato, a vegetable salad, coffee with sugar and cream, and pumpkin pie. For some time a white uniformed cook was busy in my preparation. Placed upon an assortment of dishes I am transported from the kitchen and find myself spread before the gentleman whom I am to nurture.

He looks at me appraisingly and I gaze at him with equal steadfastness. His smile of satisfaction is contagious and I grin back. He is of such a genial appearance that I feel content to work out my destiny through him. I know that he is intrigued and that his saliva and gastric juices are beginning to flow. He has good teeth and the first thing I know I am masticated thoroughly and have started on my trip down the esophagus.

When I arrive in the stomach I am greeted cordially. But how I have changed. My ingredients are all intermingled and I am sure that any one would have difficulty in identifying the pumpkin pie. Already I have a desire to dissolve—to blend more intimately with my host. Soon I experience a definite sense of compression. I am conscious that I am being pushed forward. After a while I am dumped out of the stomach into the first portion of the intestine which I understand is called the duodenum.

Even before this I should have told you that I seem to be floating in a new kind of liquid—the gastric juice. It tastes sour at first, but I liked it. Furthermore, I realize that many of my elements were undergoing some sort of solution, becoming smaller and smaller as we traveled onward.

In this new corridor I was met with a reception committee of several new substances—chiefly bile from the liver and the output of the pancreas. They cavorted about with great joy because apparently it had been some hours since they had been provided with entertainment. They took my supply of protein and split it up into simpler and more soluble materials. They helped themselves to my fat and, by molding and patting, they converted my carbohydrates into sugar. I could almost hear them cheer as they watched me dissolve.

I am no longer acid—that is, strongly so, and every little fat globule is broken up into thousands of smaller ones. I had a chance to chat with the Bile King for a minute and he told me they liked to have plenty of fat as it is a help in preventing the stomach from shoving too much into the intestine at once.

By the time I was ready to resume my passage to the small intestine I found that most of my roast lamb had been transformed into amino acids ready for rebuilding into tissues of my consumer. My fats had become fatty acids so that I could scarcely recognize their faces. Soon I found that some of my best and most valuable constituents were being absorbed. The pancreas told me that the smooth, velvety projections—called villi—which line the intestinal tube were grabbing some of my essentials and carting them away.

From then on I dwindled away until about all that remained was a lot of coarse fiber that nobody in my neighborhood seemed to want. At every turn of the road I encountered pixies and gnomes, called hormones and enzymes, that had the power of seizing the best parts of me and toting them off. One little elf whispered that he was "fed up"—ready to depart for the liver.

At this stage apparently I fell asleep because the next thing I knew I was drifting along the portal circulation en route to the liver. But I was not allowed to rest there long. After washing and cleansing I was thrust into the outgoing current which I found was the bloodstream, where I was reunited with millions of particles of my former self. For several days thereafter I had a grand time meeting my many fragments, formerly proteins, fats, and starches. These components are now blood cells or forms of nutriment, all floating along at high tide, rejoicing in the fact that they have done a good turn in nourishing the kindly chap who looked upon them with so much favor.

RELIEF OF LEG CRAMPS.

B. N. writes: What causes cramps in the legs? I suffer from this condition periodically. What can be done for relief?

REPLY.

The symptom is usually associated with a circulatory disturbance. High blood pressure and hardening of the arteries are common causes. Anything that aids the blood flow will relieve the pain. We have a leaflet on leg cramps giving various helpful suggestions. This may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IT IS PROBABLE.

Mrs. B. writes: If a parent is subject to allergy will the offspring be affected likewise?

REPLY.

The children of allergic parents are more likely than not to develop the symptom. There is a definite hereditary tendency.

NO.

M. O. writes: Is there any one food which contains all the vitamins?

REPLY.

OUR WORDS FROM EVERY LAND.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Concerning the Chicagoan's letter about English, our mother tongue:

If he would turn the leaves of Webster's dictionary he would see how much in error he is in stating that we owe our language only to the English.

We, as well as the English, owe a portion of our language to almost every language in the world.

How about the Greeks? From them we get words like logic, theory, philosophy, geography, orthodox, enthusiasm, thespian, climate, fanatic, pedagog, encyclopedia, theology, pediatrician, and innumerable scientific terms.

French gave us turquoise, sign, color, power, etiquet, respond, element, etc.

Even German gave us a great many; we find among them many common words: House, land, band, call, sing, hand, kindergarten, etc.

Dutch gave us words like boss, Scandinavian, welcome, walrus, waffle; Gaelic, brogue, clan, glen, whisky, bog; Italian, piano; Hebrew, cherub, seraph, jubilee, etc.

But not only the European languages contributed to our language, for we find that the Turkish gave us words like turban; the Persian, bazaar, shawl; Hindu, loot; the Malayan, bamboo; the Australian, boomerang; Chinese, typhoon; Indian, calico, and even the Polynesian, tabu.

And yet we Americans haven't borrowed our language in entirety. Words common as diet, drought, dumb waiter, dress circle, dressing room, drawing room, dough, divorce, dining room, dwarf, drug store, and drain are our very own. A dictionary of American English being compiled at the University of Chicago under the editorship of Sir William A. Craigie, professor emeritus of the University of Chicago, has been completed up to the word emporium.

GENEVIEVE M. NELSON.

HOW THEY "SAW WAR."

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Senator Barkley like President Roosevelt has seen war, has he? Yes, for five minutes in a quiet sector after artillery fire had been stopped for two days to make it quieter, and then back to a champagne dinner in Paris.

O, yes, those war bawlers saw war. They didn't experience war. They didn't suffer war. The big four-flushers.

VETERAN OF 150 DAYS OF FIGHTING.

WHY OVERLOOK MEXICO?

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The New Deal is all upset about Japan endangering our interests in China. At the same time they seem to be perfectly contented that the Reds in Mexico seized and are still holding every interest we had in that country. You figure it out. I. C.

SAVING HYPOCRISY.

THE WORLD WAR 25 YEARS AGO

[From Tribune Files.]

Oct. 24, 1914.

LONDON.—Lille was retaken by the French after desperate fighting extending over many days, according to allied reports. A general German advance was being attempted toward the River Meuse.

PARIS.—The French declared that in general the allies were maintaining their positions, advancing in some sections, including Armentieres, while losing ground at others, notably La Bassee. A number of German spies, including women, have been shot, it was reported.

ANTWERP.—The city is gradually returning to normal, with 150,000 of the 350,000 inhabitants who fled when the German army entered, having come back to their homes. About 300 buildings have been destroyed by bombardment.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The state department demanded that England release two American steamers carrying oil to neutral countries. The British claimed the ships had been transferred from German to American registry.

FROM A MANTENO PATIENT.

Manteno, Ill., Oct. 20.—For the skilful manner in which the hospital's typhoid fever patients were treated by Drs. Rudolph Rosenberg and George L. Perkins they deserve highest homage. Thru their ceaseless day and night vigil and appliance of professional skill, a very dangerous situation is being brought under control with a small mortality rate according to the number who have been ill.

The capable and willing assistance given by the Illinois public health nurses, who rolled up their sleeves and went to work, as well as the nuns from St. John's hospital in Springfield and other nurses from various hospitals in the state, deserve all credit for the help they have rendered in this terrible ordeal.

Convalescing after a six week illness with typhoid fever, I wish to thank thru this column of THE TRIBUNE each participant in the fight for our lives, for their true unselfishness and disregard of their own danger. WALTER R. MOSS.

A Patient.

POLITICS AND MEDICINE.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Just how medicine, doctors, and the public who pay all taxes would benefit from the Wagner bill, under the guise of health security, can be visualized in the deplorable situation existing right now at the Manteno State hospital. Briefly speaking, politics and medicine will never mix advantageously, except for the politician, and many of them turn out to be rascals whose sole purpose becomes perpetuating themselves in office. Hence, under state medicine, politics comes first and the health of the taxpayer is secondary—a mere smoke screen. T. B. BONDUS, M. D.

PARENT'S DUTY NEGLECTED.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The "parent" who asked that the Chicago junior colleges be investigated was, at least, hasty in his judgment. Generalizing on his experience with his son, he concludes that Wright Junior college has "arbitrary and tyrannical" counselors. Something is wrong with this parent's attitude. As student counselor for some years, I know that this parent has neglected his duty to find out what is the matter with his son. A little investigating along this line might lead to surprising results.

A STUDENTS' FRIEND.

SENTIMENT OUT IN IOWA.

Dubuque, Ia., Oct. 21.—In Iowa the sentiment against the cash and carry plan is overwhelming. Here in Dubuque thousands attended two different mass-meetings and over 10,000 signatures were obtained in two days. And so it is thru out the entire state.

Senator Clyde Herring openly acknowledges this to be an unmistakable fact. But, notwithstanding this, he states "he still will vote for cash and carry as HE knows what is best for the people." And mind you a senator is sent down to Washington to express the will of the people. Now, what can the people of Iowa [who have the lowest rate of illiteracy in the Union] do about this rank betrayal by this New Deal zealot? Absolutely nothing, just stand by and see a handful of Hitlers down in Washington plunge us into war just as was done in Germany.

And still there are some who say that ours is a democracy—the dictator nations are in Europe. A. B. CLEMENS.

SAYS IT WAS CAPT. PHILIP.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—In your paper today a reader says that it was Capt. Clark of the Oregon at the naval battle of Santiago who said: "Don't cheer, boys; the poor devils are dying."

The writer of that errs in attributing to Capt. Clark the quotation shown, since it was spoken by Capt. John W. [Jack] Philip of the battleship Texas, which also participated in the battle of Santiago.

It was characteristic of Capt. Philip, conspicuous for his religious zeal. I served under him on an earlier cruise and whenever I had occasion to visit him I invariably noticed an open Bible on the cabin table. He tolerated only the most urgent labors on the Sabbath.

CALLS TRIBUNE UNAMERICAN.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—THE TRIBUNE is one of the best examples of un-Americanism in this country. In these trying times, when every ounce of faith is needed to uphold belief in the democracies, THE TRIBUNE has done its utmost to destroy faith in our own national government, the only reality we can cling to that gives us hope. THE TRIBUNE should exert every effort to build up a confidence in our own democratic government instead of trying to destroy every vestige of confidence the American people have.

DECEASED'S ASSETS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 19 [Legal Friend of the People].—I am the third wife of a man now deceased. He had considerable money when we were married and did not divide it with his children by a former marriage. I did not know exactly how much he had. We were both hurt in an automobile accident, he dying from the effects of the accident. A box kept in his room was missing from our home.

I had given one of his daughters permission to enter the home alone after she had talked to her father at the hospital. Against his children's wishes I opened an estate and didn't mention about that box because I didn't know what was in it or where it was. Soon after they returned to their homes stories went around that a box with $20,000 in it was carried out of my home. After difficulties I have succeeded in tracing the money by means of registered bonds through the government. I want to know [1] if he could give that money to his children on his deathbed when he had a living wife and the rest of the estate did not come to that much?

2. Could I be held responsible because I didn't mention about the box being gone when I didn't know what was in it at the time? Now, after I have traced it through registered Liberty bonds?

3. Some lawyers tell me he could give it to his children on his deathbed if he wanted to. M. H.

1. Yes, if he had sufficient mental capacity and was not subjected to undue influence.
2. Probably not.
3. See 1.

In order for the gift during his lifetime to be effective, it must be accompanied by legal delivery. The question whether the facts that you describe would be sufficient to satisfy this requirement would be a close one. The chances of working out a settlement would probably be good enough to warrant going ahead.

COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE LAUNCHED; GOAL $3,611,000

Leaders Pledge City Poor Won't Be Forgotten.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

The city's poor will not be forgotten. The pledge that has stood thru nine years of depression and hard times was renewed last night in the Stevens hotel as the Community fund launched its annual campaign for the unfortunate.

On the platform were representatives of Chicago industrial life, labor forces, and clergy. In the audience were 1,700 business and civic leaders who will function as a corps of supersalesmen of charity until the quota of $3,611,000 is raised. One hundred and seventy-eight Chicago charities—Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, and nonsectarian—will share in the fund.

Soul of a City Revealed.

"This is a manifestation of the soul and charity of our noble city," said Rabbi Jacob Singer, president of the Chicago Rabbinical association. "From all walks of life there is response to the command of the Master of Galilee: 'Love thy neighbor as thyself.' And who is my neighbor? Not the man next door, the man of my church, the man of my race. My neighbor is the man who needs me."

George A. Ranney, chairman of the board of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and president of the Community fund, described the fund as an agency to "give aid and comfort, to promote health, to render family service, to give care to children, to nurse the young and old, to upbuild our youth and to render other services to those in need of them."

"Without the Community fund" he added, "The member agencies would be compelled to curtail severely their constructive work in the rebuilding of family life, health, and character in our community. Chicago cannot let this happen."

Bishop Urges Generosity.

Bishop Bernard J. Sheil told of the work of the late Cardinal George Mundelein for the Community fund and made a stirring appeal for generosity. A. H. Mellinger, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company and general chairman of the campaign, and Mark A. Brown, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, and chairman of the industrial division, also spoke. Robert A. Gardner of Mitchell Hutchins and company, a co-chairman of the sponsors division; Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, chairman of the women's division, and Joseph D. Keenan, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor were presented.

STUDENT OF SELLING BECOMES A NEWSBOY AND BUSINESS BOOMS

"Salesmanship," says Dr. Wallace A. Hill, a student of it, "consists of giving people what they want in the way they want it."

Last April he decided to prove his theory. Since then he has spent three to five hours four nights a week selling copies of THE TRIBUNE at the northeast corner of Division and La Salle streets. Profits go to John King, 1305 North Clark street, night manager of the newsstand. What does Dr. Hill get out of it? Fun—and cups of hot chocolate bought by King on rainy nights.

Dr. Hill, who lives at 1211 North La Salle street and is a chiropodist, says he finds selling papers a fine means of relaxation. Sleeps like a top now, he says. And King? He says business is up 200 per cent since April.

Two Fishermen Believed Lost in Gale on Lake Erie

Cleveland, O., Oct. 23 (AP).—Coast guardsmen feared today two Cleveland fishermen drowned in a 40 mile gale which swept Lake Erie yesterday, capsizing at least three boats. The missing men were Stanley Marshall, 47 years old, and Alex Jaworski, 43 years old. Their boat was found smashed on rocks. Two sailboats overturned, and their five occupants were rescued. One, containing Harry McGinnis, Frank Mason, and John Heil, broke a rudder, overturned and grounded on a narrow strip of beach at the foot of a 75 foot cliff. Firemen lowered a rope and rescued the three.

ENDS SOLO TRIP THROUGH RAPIDS IN FRAIL BOAT

Broken line shows 1,200 mile route of motorless kayak.

Green River, Wyo., Oct. 23 (AP).—A Pennsylvania taxidermist has completed the first solo passage in a motorless kayak of the 1,200 miles of turbulent rapids on the Green and Colorado rivers.

But four times Charles F. Mann, 29 years old, of York, Pa., saw failure and even death stare him in the face. Each time he was hurled out of his frail, 14 foot canoe-type craft and saw it carried away by the rushing water. But each time the kayak and its lashed-in provisions were washed ashore.

Mann set out from Green River on Sept. 11. When he reached Lees Ferry, Ariz., six days ago, all that remained of his provisions were one can each of condensed milk and soup, a piece of stale bread, and a slice of bacon. His kayak, torn by rocks in pitching thru seven major canyons, bore 22 patches and several of its light ribs had been reinforced.

Despite almost daily duckings, he arrived at Lees Ferry in trim physical condition. He returned here yesterday, modestly recounted his adventures, then started for home by automobile. The only other person to venture down the stream alone was Buzz Holstrom of Coquille, Ore., who made the voyage 2 years ago in a sturdier boat.

Mrs. Bergdoll and Baby Quit Hospital for Home

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23 [Special].—Mrs. Berta Bergdoll, wife of Grover C. Bergdoll, the draft evader, returned to her home today from Lankenau hospital carrying a new member of the family, Bertha, 2 weeks old. The baby is the second child born to Mrs. Bergdoll in this country. The first, Vega, was born three years ago. There are four other children, all German born. Mrs. Bergdoll expressed eagerness to see her husband as soon as the doctor will permit. Bergdoll is serving an eight year sentence at Fort Jay, Governor's Island, N. Y.

SUPREME COURT GIVES NEW DEAL ANOTHER REBUFF

Refuses to Speed Medical Antitrust Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—The Roosevelt administration received another rebuff today in its antitrust drive when the Supreme Court of the United States refused to review a lower court decision dismissing antitrust indictments against four medical groups and 21 physicians.

On July 26 the federal district court here dismissed the indictments on the ground that the practice of medicine is a profession, and does not come under the Sherman antitrust act, which the court held applies only to businesses and trades.

The department of justice announced later today that it will try again for a final review by the Supreme court after the case is carried thru the Court of Appeals here. The department had filed an appeal with the Court of Appeals, but sought to expedite action by asking the Supreme court to pass upon the case directly.

Merits Undecided, Says Statement.

"The action of the court has no bearing on the merits of the case," the justice department commented. "In denying the petition the court has only adhered to precedent in refusing to take jurisdiction under such circumstances, except when cases involving similar questions are before the court or where some outstanding constitutional issue is presented."

When the department asked the Supreme court to review the lower court decision, it said that "important issues" were involved.

The government's suit developed from alleged discrimination by organized medicine against Group Health Association, Inc., a coöperative medical undertaking formed by employés of the Home Owners Loan corporation here.

Medical Societies Named.

The action was against the American Medical association, the District of Columbia Medical society, the Washington Academy of Surgeons and the Harris County Medical society of Houston, Tex. The 21 physicians were leaders in the medical societies.

The federal indictment charged them with conspiring to restrain trade by opposing the Group Health association.

Smarting under successive defeats in its antitrust campaign—under the direction of Thurman W. Arnold, head of the antitrust division—the department each time immediately has announced its intention of appeal to the higher courts. The physicians have also asked that the Supreme court rule finally on the case, expressing confidence that the lower court's action will be upheld.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Wagner leaving Supreme court building in Washington yesterday after both had been admitted to practice before the high tribunal.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—A man and his wife were admitted together today to practice before the Supreme court. They were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Wagner of Pittsburgh, who began their law course at the University of Pittsburgh in 1927 after having five children. A sixth was born in 1928. Married in 1920, they have been practicing law together since 1930.

ALIMONY ADDED TO CURRICULUM OF EX-HUSBAND

Mrs. Vivian Wood is 21 years old. She lives at 19 North Laramie avenue with her children, Charles, 3, and Valerie, 2. Mrs. Wood came into Judge John F. Bolton's court yesterday with her attorney, William H. Holzinger. Her husband, Edwin C. Wood, 23, wasn't there. His attorney was.

Mrs. Wood didn't say whether she missed her husband or not. But she got a divorce and $8 a week by telling the judge what Wood told her when he left her and the children on July 17, 1938:

"I'm tired of married life and I'm going back to school."

Starting Bomb in Husking Race Sets Cornfield Afire

Decorah, Ia., Oct. 23 (AP).—The starting bomb for the Winneshiek county corn husking contest set the cornfield afire. The blaze was stopped after two and a half acres had been burned over. Andrew Hemeseth showed greatest dexterity in the unburned sector to win the county championship.

FREIGHT TUNNEL WILL CARRY OFF CLAY OF SUBWAY

706,804 Tons to Move at Cost of $350,000.

Clay excavated from the State and Dearborn street subways will be removed thru the freight tunnel system of the Chicago Tunnel company, Philip Harrington, commissioner of subways and traction, announced yesterday. The underground disposal will obviate the use of the trucks on downtown streets, thus cutting down traffic congestion near the subway excavation.

The freight tunnel will be used on three sections where street traffic is heaviest. The sections make up 2.4 miles of the 7.7 mile system.

Disposal to Cost $350,000.

They are in State street from the south bank of the Chicago river to 11th street; State street from the north bank of the river to Illinois street, and in Dearborn street from Van Buren to Lake and in Lake street from Dearborn to Wells.

John H. Burke, general manager of the Chicago Tunnel company, said yesterday that estimates made jointly by the company and the subway contractors call for the removal of 706,804 tons of clay. This will require 154,500 carload trips in the tunnel company's cars which carry about 4.7 tons per trip. The disposal will cost in excess of $350,000.

Part of Tunnel Doomed.

Part of the freight tunnel system in State and Dearborn streets will be destroyed by the subway digging. Connections between the remainder of the tunnel system and the subway tube now being bored can be made easily, however. Clay will be hauled to the disposal station at Grand avenue and the north branch of the river where it will be dumped into scows, which will dump in into Lake Michigan. Six hundred scow loads will be required.

Burke said the tunnel company is overhauling its fleet of 475 mud cars in preparation for the removal which will begin in December.

Two Bandits Accost Usher in Movie; Rob Office of $400

Pedestrian drama was enacted yesterday at the Lawndale theater, 4015 Roosevelt road. The screen feature was "$1,000,000 Legs." Norman Cohen, 20 years old, an usher, was roaming the aisles. Two bandits walked up, shoved a revolver against him, and asked to be led to the manager, Herman Nelson, who was standing at the rear of the theater. The bandits forced Nelson and Cohen into the office, and robbed it of $400.

Government Wins $12,289 Tax Claim Against Capone

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday entered an uncontested judgment against Al Capone's brother, Ralph, for $12,289 in unpaid income taxes, penalties, and interest for the years 1922 thru 1925.

WORLD'S CHAMPION TRUCK DRIVER KEEPS TITLE IN CONTEST

Edson Smith, 33 years old, who has driven more than 720,000 miles during his 12 years as a truck driver, yesterday retained his title as the world's most skilful truck pilot in competition against the cream of the country's wheelsmen. Smith demonstrated his skill in maneuvering a tractor and trailer before delegates to the annual convention of the American Trucking Associations, Inc. The contest was held in Soldiers' field.

Edson Smith.

Smith, who drives for the Kirk Transportation company, Detroit, has has no accidents in the last five years and only two in his trucking career. He attributes his record to having his vehicles under control at all times and to the fact that he always tries to watch for the other driver's mistakes. Fatigue and monotony are the truckers' worst enemies, he says. The worst drivers? Women. The best? Drivers of commercial vehicles.

While their husbands were discussing the trucking field, the wives of trucking executives spent yesterday in a tour of Chicago's points of interest. They will see radio station W-G-N today.

Cyrena Van Gordon Smith Wins California Divorce

TOURISTS' GROUP ELECTS DETROIT MAN PRESIDENT

J. Lee Barrett of Detroit, Mich., was elected president of the International Tourist Officials' association yesterday in the Palmer House. The association is a new organization, the aim of which is to promote travel in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba. Its members are connected with state or national travel bureaus.

"We believe the war in Europe will stimulate the $5,000,000,000 a year American tourist and travel industry," said Barrett. "Members of the tourist officials' association will control the expenditure of more than $4,000,000 a year in newspaper and other forms of advertising."

Barrett is secretary of the Southeastern Michigan Tourist and Publicity association. Other officers chosen were Don Thomas, Los Angeles, Cal.; W. Bruce MacNamee, Washington, D. C.; D. Lee Dolan, Ottawa, Ont., and Harry B. Coe, Portland, Me., vice presidents; D. A. Lawrence, Knoxville, Tenn., secretary, and Hugh J. Gray, Grand Rapids, Mich., treasurer.

☆ Transportation COSTS You MONEY!

RAILROADS, AIRWAYS, WATERWAYS and HIGHWAY HAULAGE

These are the four great forms of transportation in the United States. In discussing them, it is so easy to indulge in emotional thinking.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

For instance, the railroad interests ask for a "square deal" and a "fair field." But they stop with these appeals to the emotions. Since they have not been specific, it seems fair to ask just what is the railroad idea of a square deal. Is it the thought of railroad leaders that all other transportation agencies be burdened with arbitrary taxes and restrictions—the sole purpose being to place all forms of haulage before the people on an equal basis? Eventually, then, the people would find little to choose between the transportation agencies—rates, efficiency and speed of service would all be about the same. All forms of transportation would be pulled down to the level of the slowest, most expensive system of haulage. In what other way could we have equality between the railroads, airways, waterways and highway haulage—with operating conditions and problems so widely different in each?

HOW ABOUT A SQUARE DEAL FOR THE PEOPLE?

In all of the demands for special consideration by transportation interests, how many speeches have you heard or how many articles or advertisements have you read—in which a square deal was demanded for the people, the general public? Who comes first—the transportation agencies or the people? Shall private interests be served to guarantee profits for them or shall the public interest be served?

TRANSPORTATION IS ONE OF YOUR EXPENSES

Every time you pay out a dollar for merchandise or materials, about 25c of your dollar goes to pay the cost of transportation—a cost that is hidden in the purchase price. Do you want this cost of haulage increased so that your living expenses will go higher? If you do, then you will listen with favor to the demands for more rigid regulation and more burdensome taxes upon the new, modern form of transportation known as highway haulage. If you want to see the cost of doing business and your own living costs held down and further reduced, then you will oppose all appeals that are aimed at highway haulage to cripple it, slow it down, rob it of its tremendous inherent advantages.

COMPETITION IS GOOD FOR ALL

The railroads once had a transportation monopoly. Regulation, therefore, became necessary. This regulation was provided to protect the users, the shippers, the public—not the railroads.

Now that the railroads no longer enjoy a monopoly, shrewd efforts are being made to depart from the fundamental American principle of regulation. The idea is to bring about regulation that will put the welfare of the railroads ahead of the welfare of the people!

It is an attempt to solve the railroad problems through having society legislated to meet the needs of the railroads—instead of adjusting railroad operations to the needs of society.

Competition is not particularly welcomed by some of us. But it's good for all of us. It's the only insurance of a square deal to the public. Let competition continue!

Every form of transportation should be allowed to develop freely.
All persons should have equality in the use of the highways in the pursuit of a livelihood.
As road bonds are retired and as basic improvements involving non-recurrent costs are made in the highway system, the taxes on motorists should be reduced.
Special motor vehicle tax funds should be dedicated wholly to highway purposes.
Ports-of-entry and other highway barriers to interstate movement of motor vehicles should be removed.
The motor vehicle has "personalized" transportation to fit the special needs of the individual.
Safety requirements alone should be the measure of motor vehicle weight and size limitations.

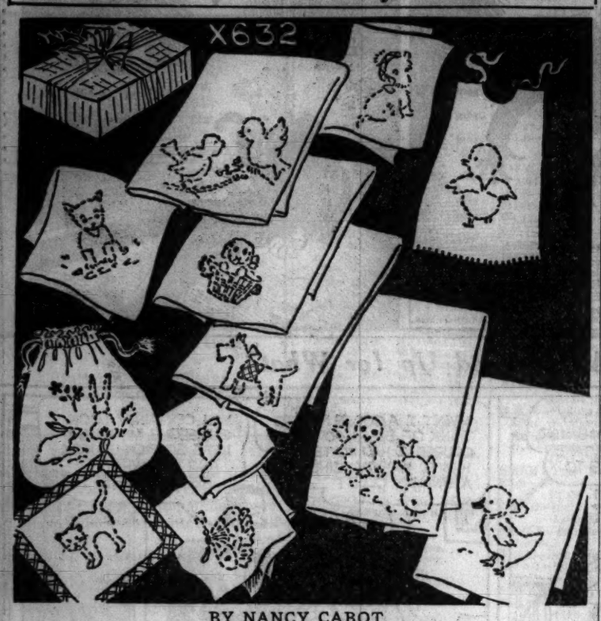
Pattern for Nursery Motifs



BY NANCY CABOT.

Cunning nursery motifs, suitable for blankets, crib covers, cushions, baby dresses, bibs, towels, or for pillow slips, are easy for the beginning embroidery worker to create, since all of them are done in the outline stitch. Each transfer pattern measures about three inches square and there are a dozen in the group.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of nursery motifs, No. X-632, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Daphne Field Kelley to Wed James A. Cook

BY JUDITH CASS.

INTERESTING romantic news concerns the marriage on Thursday of Mrs. Daphne Field Kelley to James A. Cook. The ceremony, which will be witnessed only by members of the bride's family, will be performed at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field of Lake Bluff.

After the wedding trip Mr. Cook and his bride will be at home in Lake Forest. Mr. Cook, who was formerly of St. Louis, has been a resident of Lake Forest for several years.

Mrs. Kelley, whose marriage to Russell P. Kelley was terminated in a divorce last summer, has two children, Russell Jr. and Pamela. She has one sister, Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman, and one brother, Joseph Field, both of Lake Forest.

Ronald Tree, Kimball Salisbury, Russell Kelley, and Clifford Rodman spent the week-end at French Lick Springs. Mr. Tree, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Rodman in Lake Forest, will fly by Clipper ship from New York to Lisbon on Nov. 6. He will proceed to his London home by train. Mr. Rodman and Mr. Tree are cousins.

Yale Club Has Special for Michigan Game.

A football party the Yale Club of Chicago is planning for Saturday sounds as tho it would be a gay, altho somewhat exhausting, affair. It will be early to bed and early to rise for those taking part, too, for guests will have to catch a train at 7:30 o'clock in the morning to go to Ann Arbor for the Yale-University of Michigan game.

Fortunately, breakfast will be served on the train. Luncheon on the way over and dinner en route back will be served, also, and the club is seeing to it that there will be enough dining cars to avoid crowding. The cars are to be stocked "with a plentiful supply of refreshments," according to announcements the club has sent out.

Miss Jean Armstrong, the Alexander Fletchers, the Junior Allen T. Hapkes, Miss Lucia Dixon, who is Mrs. Fletcher's sister; John Mooney, the Frederick S. Colburns, the Clinton Merricks, and the William Whipple Millers are among those who will board the special train. Mr. Colburn is a Michigan alumnus. The Merricks are taking their younger daughters, Jane and Margaret, with them. Their sons, Clinton Jr. and Richard, attend Yale.

Yale Luncheons for Other Games.

Later football games on the Yale schedule will be brought to Chicago by special broadcast. There will be a luncheon at Henrici's to hear the Yale-Dartmouth game on Nov. 4.

The Yale Glee club will give a concert at Orchestra hall on Dec. 23. That is the night Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blake Dick Jr. will give a dance at the Blackstone hotel for their debutante daughter, Miss Helen Dick. Mr. Dick is a Yale alumnus. It is the night also of a dinner-dance the Edward DeWitt Shumways will give at the Casino for their debutante, Miss Grace Shumway. In the afternoon Walter F. Wallace will entertain at tea and dancing at the Indian Hill club for his debutante daughter, Miss Josephine. The glee clubbers undoubtedly will be invited to some of these parties.

White Elephant Shop to Have Movie Party.

Remembering the success of its first movie party, the women who run the White Elephant Rummage shop are planning a second one for next Tuesday afternoon. The party will be given at the Esquire theater, and the price of admission will be a gift to be resold at the shop, which is conducted for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Charles Edward Brown has returned from her summer home, Green Ridge cottage in Sagaponack, Long Island, N. Y.

Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson and other members of the League and Auxiliary of St. James's church spend Tuesday mornings at this season preparing Mrs. Ryerson's famous mince meat, which is sold at Thanksgiving time every year. It will be one of the items on sale at the league's Thanksgiving bazar, to be held on Nov. 21. A new member of the league is Mrs. George A. Ranney Jr., the former Nancy Ryerson.

Mrs. Louis T. Jaques, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish, Mrs. Averill Tilden, Mrs. William F. Petersen, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. John Muldoon Jr., and Mrs. Mark Trude are among those who have reserved tables for luncheon following a lecture by Vincent Sheean at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Woman's Athletic club.

This afternoon's symphony concert, the first of the Tuesday afternoon series, will make many women rush away from the Woman's Athletic club immediately after luncheon, for the program starts promptly at 2:15 o'clock.

W. Stewart Reyburns Parents of Twins.

The Karl Korradys' Chicago friends will be delighted to hear that the Korradys' daughter and son-in-law, the W. Stewart Reyburns [Margaret Korrady], became the parents of twin daughters last Thursday at the Methodist hospital in Peoria. The Korradys formerly lived in Kenilworth, but now make their home in Galesburg.

The Reyburn twins are the fourth set of twin girls to be born recently, the Bayne O'Briens [Sally Bull], the Nathaniel Owingses [Emily Otis], and the junior W. Hamilton Noyeses [Adelaide Atkin] all having had twin daughters. The Reyburns have named their children Rebecca and Suzanne.

The infant son born yesterday at the Passavant hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Aldis J. Browne Jr. [Bertha Erminger] is a fifth generation Chicagoan. The baby was born on the birthday of his paternal great-great-grandmother, the late Mrs. H. O. Stone, and missed by one day being a first anniversary present for his parents. He is being named for his father. Tiny Aldis' grandparents are the junior Howell B. Ermingers and the senior Mr. and Mrs. Browne.

Hold Benefit Today for Martha Washington Home

The Martha Washington club will give its annual bridge luncheon for the benefit of the Martha Washington Home for Dependent Crippled Children at 12:30 o'clock today at the Congress hotel. Proceeds of the party will be used to help maintain 39 crippled children at the home on South Michigan avenue.

In Service Club Revue

Miss Jane Halland is one of the 36 pretty young women who will take part in their first Service club revue this winter. The show, the club's 25th annual one, will be given on Nov. 4 at the Auditorium theater. Miss Halland was graduated from the Harris school last June and planned to spend this winter abroad with her mother, Mrs. Meacham W. Halland of Winnetka. Now, however, she is at the Art institute.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Lipstick manufacturers have developed in women an eye for color that never existed before. Many women have been a little too casual in their selection of the shade of lipstick to be worn with the new colors that they have added to their wardrobes.

We've seen a few combinations that clashed severely. Just the other day we watched a girl while she was draping a gay swatch of wool around her head in turban fashion. She did it deftly and looked smart as anything. Out of her bag came the lipstick that she had been wearing with another hat. It clashed with such a bang that she couldn't get it off fast enough and was on her way to get one that would go with her new hat.

The lipsticks in the true reds, brilliant and rich, are always in demand. They are a superb accent when worn with black, that favorite of fashion from year to year. They really are the practical ones.

We don't see how any woman can resist the lipsticks in the soft, brownish-reds that do so much to dramatize the mustard yellows, the cinnamon browns, and the lovely greens. They seem to add a mellow sheen that actually has spice. Redheads, take note.

And then there are the women who were born to wear the blue-red lipsticks that have been so flattering when combined with the wine and purple blues or the grape and violet tones. They are striking in a delicate fashion.

There is an unlimited selection of shades from which to choose and the woman who will take the time and the trouble to learn about color can appear in the most flattering makeup.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Some time after he completed "Shadow and Substance," and some time before he set to work writing "The White Steed," Paul Vincent Corroll discovered that living, breathing people are more important to a play than abstract ideas. Where the cool intellectuality of "Shadow and Substance" won only half-hearted enthusiasm from the Chicago audience, the hot headed, whimsical Irish earthiness of "The White Steed" will undoubtedly exert a much stronger appeal.

Actually "The White Steed" recapitulates the theme of the earlier play—the conflict between the hard authority of a moralistic priest and the deeper humanity of the true Irish spirit. In the new play, however, the conflict is not presented as a dogmatic debate. The theme comes to light only tangentially, and the important subject matter is the daily living of the simple, homely characters.

To those who are not concerned with either theological quarrels or the problems of steering a parish, "The White Steed," unlike its predecessor, offers no stumbling block. Primarily it is an assortment of picturesque, emotional Irish men and women, inconsistent, quick-tempered, and full of the unconscious lyricism of Irish speech and humor. Though it is a beautifully and meticulously written play, "The White Steed" is by no means hard to take. The opening night audience was thoroly charmed by its picturesqueness and honesty.

The story is simple. Canon Matt Lavelle, "fit as a fiddle if you'd count me legs out," sits helpless in his wheel chair, while Father Shaughnessy, the ambitious but morally rigid young priest sent to take over the parish, proceeds to clean up the community with an ill-devised vigilance committee.

Two unhappy youngsters are caught in the toils of the committee—Denis Dillon, the weak willed, sycophantic schoolmaster who becomes brave only when he is privately drunk, and Nora Fintry, who sees herself as a reincarnation of the legendary Niam, riding off to a better world on her white steed. Their persecution not only provides an object lesson to the community but ultimately enables the couple to find a way of loving each other courageously.

As a salty old Canon Matt, Whitford Kane makes the most of the heady wit, the love of vegetables and fresh butter and cakes, and the wise glimpses into human nature with which Mr. Carroll has invested the part. An equally rich characterization is presented by Raplh Cullinan as Nora's dogged, perplexed old father.

William Cragin, as young Denis, turns out a first class performance, making the weak-kneed schoolmaster winning without glossing over the inadequacy of his character. Gertrude Flynn is perhaps a little too hard and brassy as Nora, but she plays with great vigor and directness. Tom Bate allows his Father Shaughnessy effectively to border upon caricature, without ever making the mistake of crossing the line. The minor rôles of the members of the vigilance committee are amusingly individualized. In its total impression the cast is extremely capable, but hardly notable.

Quip.

Leland Stanford played U. C. L. A. on a recent Saturday and Coach Tiny Thornhill gave the Stanford players one last pep talk in the locker room, writes Mary Craig from Palo Alto. He reminded them of what happened to Texas Christian university the week before when its team met U. C. L. A. The Texas outfit found the four colored members of the opposing team tough to handle. During one spectacular play a T. C. U. quarter back was carrying the ball around right end, fighting off one dark man after another. He emerged in the clear and came face to face with a mighty Uclan. Observing that he was a white man, he stopped dead in his tracks and held out his hand.

"Dr. Livingston, I presume," he said.

Christmas Cards.

Exciting forerunner of the holiday season—the appearance of the Christmas cards issued by the American Artists Group. The collection constitutes a miniature museum of the work of outstanding artists of the country. John Sloan, Louis Eilshemius, Guy Pene DuBois, and Gordon Grant are among those who are included for the first time this year. Thomas Benton's The Meal is reproduced in full color for the first time; also Rockwell Kent's Shadows of Evening, which is in the permanent collection of the Whitney museum. Paintings by Alexander Brook, John Steuart Curry, Doris Lee, Henry Varnum Poor, Waldo Pierce, and many other famous American artists are included.

The famous designers and illustrators of America also have a series of Christmas cards out, sponsored by the American Artists Group. There are cards by Ludwig Bemelmans, and Bobri, and Gramatky, and Witold Gordon, and others. The two collections are the gayest and most charming we've ever seen.

Cuff Notes.

Neat title—Whistler's Father—forthcoming book by Albert Parry. Based on original and hitherto unpublished documents, Dr. Parry's book shows the Russians and Germans as Maj. George Washington Whistler, father of the famous painter, saw them in the seven years he spent in St. Petersburg building the railroad to Moscow for the czar.

"Just a moment," answered THE TRIBUNE representative. As she waited the league operator asked Miss Semmerling if she would take another call. She did so.

"This is THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE calling," said the voice. "Can you tell us who is secretary pro tem of the Illinois senate?"

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Miracles for Sale" offers the customers quite a bit for their money in laughs and suspense.

It's both a murder mystery and a comedy. Which doesn't exactly make it a comical murder mystery, but something of the sort. Mr. Young plays a master of legerdemain who entertains cleverly and legitimately. His audiences are always told that there's a trick to his "miracles" and that it's their job to ferret it out.

On the side he sells "miracle" paraphernalia to other "magicians" and instructs them in the use of it. . . . He is the feared and hated enemy of fake clairvoyants and all scoundrels who would profit from the sorrow of others.

One day there comes tearing into his shop a mighty pretty girl who begs him to hide her. . . . This unexpected meeting leads him into strange and devious circumstances and, eventually—to romance.

As events transpire the strangest things happen! Typewriters click of their own accord. Gentlemen find themselves poised in midair wearing the wings of angels. One minute you see the policeman and the next minute you don't. . . . Walls part at the magic sound of "Cagliostro" and close at mention of Harry Houdini. . . . It's all surprising and, really, a lot of fun.

Mr. Young is a poised, humorous, and shrewd Michael Morgan. . . . Florence Rice is properly beautiful and distressed as Judy Barclay. Frank Craven as Morgan's New York hating dad has audiences in stitches. He IS so droll! Cliff Clark portrays a police inspector as is a police inspector. Henry Hull is a strange and skeery person, and Gloria Holden as a clairvoyant, makes you shudder.

I, honestly, got quite a kick out of "Miracles for Sale." And the same to you.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Looking Glass

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 23.—Dick Powell of Little Rock, Ark., is on the stage of New York's Paramount theater this week. Stage work is not exactly new to him; he busted into the movies when he was serving as master of ceremonies at Warner's Pittsburgh theater.

I'd like to see Ruby Keeler Jolson, Paulette Goddard, and Katharine Hepburn in a three cornered match for the golf championship of the professionals. They're about the best. La Hepburn blasts a ball as far as a good man player. . . . Randolph Scott, the Carolina Caliph, and attractive Margaret Lindsay are a twosome. . . . Richard Greene, in two Hollywood years, has been in the hospital four times, which is some sort of record. . . . Souvenir of his hospitalization is the brace he had to wear in "Here I Am a Stranger," autographed by every member of the cast. . . . The movie crowd returning from Chicago reports that Joe E. Lewis, at the Chez Paree, proves that he is the No. 1 night club entertainer of all times.

Melvyn Douglas in line for all the parts that Charles Boyer would have handled. . . . Kate Smith due here Nov. 2. Odd that few ranking radio favorites ever made a successful motion picture. Kate Smith, Amos 'n' Andy, Jack Pearl, Ed Wynn—all were given flop films. . . . Cobina Wright Jr., impressed by Bing Crosby's constructive criticism voiced in this column, is having arrangements made of the songs that Bingo suggested for her. Cobina Wright Jr. and Anna Held Jr. are the only girls I ever heard of who had that "jr" tag. It's effective. . . . One of the big radio shows, with a fat Crosley rating, has the sponsors dithery. It's not selling the product. . . . Harry Carey, veteran western actor who scored so solidly in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," actually comes from City Island, outside of New Rochelle. His paw was a New York judge.

Joe Di Maggio's forthcoming marriage to Dorothy Arnold, Universal lassie, proves that the ball players and the girls of the stage have a natural affinity. Rube Marquard married Blossom Seely, Mike Donlin wed Mabel Hite, Lynn Lary married Mary Lawlor, musical comedy eyeful; Lefty Gomez was spliced to June O'Dea. M. G. M. and Warner's have been turning out a passel of grand films, in case it's escaped your attention. Warner's hogged the spotlight last year with excellent film product, while Metro was dawdling at the wayside and the back-seat drivers were making pointed references to the loss of Irving Thalberg. This year M. G. M. is in high gear. . . . Incidentally, every one at that studio was given a great big hand for "Babes in Arms"; except Busby Berkeley, who only directed it.

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1939: By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are guests at Chenerys, the English country estate of Tom Boldre, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is engaged to Tom's brother, Derek. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. Chenerys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. Reaching the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them. Tom, revived, is surprised that Derek, rather than his neighbor, Maj. Fitts, found him. Three weeks later Tom is again thrown and dies soon after. Alison visits Wynn at Chenerys. Riding near the scene of Tom's first accident they find the dead body of Glover. Official verdict is that Glover was killed by a shot from a passing car. Kingsclere, Derek, and Maj. Fitts all drove that way. Inspector Headcorn from Scotland Yard finds the murder weapon. It belongs to Maj. Fitts, but was stolen the afternoon of the day Glover was shot—after Kingsclere and Derek had called. Dr. Blount, who'd attended Tom, admits he gave Tom an anti-tetanus injection—which caused his death, as he had not been desensitized after a previous injection. The first injection must have been given Tom after his first fall when he was unconscious—whoever gave it must have murdered Glover because he was a witness. Derek admits having anti-tetanus serum which was taken from his room. Derek goes out for a walk in the night—that same night Mrs. Glover is beaten up by some one evidently looking to destroy evidence. The inspector finds Wynn battling with Mrs. Glover over a syringe which Glover had apparently found. Derek is arrested.

INSTALMENT XXXVIII.

PROOF OF INNOCENCE.

The tall young detective tramped by Derek's side up the stairs. Wynn came to life.

"Inspector, you're wrong! Listen, I want to tell you ——"

"Please, Miss Marchmont!" Rather sternly Headcorn raised his hand. Her eyes held battle with him, then gave up.

She was by the window, back turned, when Derek came down. She stood there in the same position with her chin up, never moving though grinding tires outside warned her of the trio's departure. Not even when Pat had torn to the upper floor shouting in a choked voice for her trunks did she make any sign.

It was Alison's attempt to speak which ruptured the spell.

"Don't!" Wynn faced round, fending the words off. "Not till I've said my say. Derek can't be guilty. I've just seen why."

Her eyes blazed with confidence. In these brief moments it was as though a veil obscuring them had suddenly been swept away.

It was fever, of course. Her own hands shaking Alison tried to force Wynn down on to the Chesterfield. The taut muscles were unyielding.

"And it's been staring us all in the face." Wynn still wore that look of having risen out of hell. "Listen! When Arthur was here last, remember what happened?"

"Not quite. That is, he acted a little peculiarly, and Derek did, too, but ——"

"Derek did, too! Surely you see? O, gosh, you must! Think, Alison, think! Arthur's kept away from us all this time. He came then only because he supposed Derek wasn't here. He believed Derek had taken the major's revolver that day they were at Yew lodge together. So he didn't want to see Derek if he could help it. Didn't you notice how he behaved when Derek suddenly came in?"

"That's so. He seemed horribly embarrassed and left right away. But I still don't ——"

"Wait! You've said it yourself. Didn't Derek act in the same way? Only he did it first. He came in. He saw Arthur. He stopped dead in his tracks, mumbled something silly about having to go on with work and backed out again. Now has it dawned on you?"

It had. "Of course! If each believed the other was guilty ——"

"Then neither of them can be guilty. Not possibly. Which proves it was some one else. I don't expect you to share my certainty. How can you? What you saw that Saturday is blocking your vision—and why shouldn't it? Only don't lose sight of this: You didn't see Derek giving that injection."

Perfectly true. Alison hadn't seen that.

"O, I'm not saying Derek's incapable of committing a murder," continued Wynn more calmly. "I can see him strangling a man, even shooting him, under the right circumstances. He'd do it in hot blood, though. What he couldn't do is to plan a deliberate, mean, sneaking murder. And if he didn't kill Tom, why should he shoot George Glover?"

Fatuous, fanatical faith! Alison coud have wept. But Wynn raced on:

"What counts, of course, is that I know he didn't do either of these murders. I'd have died, I think, otherwise. That's all over, thank God! Now it's up to me to find the flaw in this evidence. When you saw Tom and Derek together in that field—when you first saw them, I mean—were they the only men in sight?"

"Absolutely. Only those two—Tom on the ground, Derek kneeling beside him." [O, if she could only have qualified this!] "And just the two horses, Tom's chestnut with the white star, Derek's brown."

Wynn nodded and swept it away. "Now listen: I've timed that bit. From the hill where you stopped right through the timber took me exactly five minutes. I didn't rush, because I remembered you were hung up. Five minutes is a good deal of time. The rest—over the wall and to the far side of that thick bank of hawthorn—I managed in fifty seconds. Perfectly possible, then, for some one who had stopped with Tom before Derek rode out of the copse to get clean off the scene. I mean, unlikely as it looks it could have been done."

Alison felt startled and wretched, more so when Wynn added, "Tom, you know, may have been down for several minutes. Derek didn't actually see him take the toss."

But there was only Derek's word for this! Alison was thinking of the ugly hint Glover had let fall. He had said that till he noticed Tom's bad wrist he had wondered if the accident had been caused by the huntsman behind riding up on Mr. Boldre.

"Odd, you think," said Wynn shrewdly, "that if Tom was there long Glover waited all that while to investigate? It's not odd at all if Glover had seen another man there, doing what struck him as peculiar. Glover was a bad egg."

"Even so, why should he go on hiding?"

"To make sure whether or not Tom was dead. The injection might have killed him then and there. Or maybe Glover did venture out, heard another rider coming and dodged back. Somehow, Mrs. Glover must have got the wrong end of the stick. Point is, how can I prove it?"

Fiercely she drove back her curls. "Three weeks!" she groaned. "Every single recollection of that day will be wiped out by now. Supposing a thing like that did occur, who would remember it after all this long time?"

Alison suggested Maj. Fitts. "Nothing much gets by him, does it? And I'm sure he's dying to help."

"The major!" Wynn turned the suggestion over meditatively. "We'll go over to his place first thing tomorrow. Somehow, I'd rather wait till Pat has gone up to town, we shall feel freer then."

The day was fine but still fresh when they found the major by his study window, bent absorbedly over a book. He closed it with a snap. Whipping off a pair of owlish spectacles, he bustled to the door, and welcomed them in. His embarrassment was rather piteous. He raised the whisky decanter wistfully, but Wynn shook her head. She came bluntly to the point. He polished his eyeglass and reset it, trying with scant success to steady his attention.

Suddenly he stared. The idea was penetrating.

"Let's see. You'd like—O, most understandably!—to establish the order we were in that—that particular day. Who rode in front of who—and so on. Am I getting it straight?"

"Just that," said Wynn. "I shall ask all the other hunt members. I came to you first, because you seem more noticing than most people."

"Tut, tut!" He swelled a little over the compliment. "I'm fairly alive to what's going on about me, I don't deny it, but ——! It's a tallish order, this, don't you realize that?" He beat a broken tattoo. "Impossible!" he exploded. "Why, that hunt's ancient history!"

"I don't expect much, major. Only who rode immediately in front of you during a certain part of the run?"

GASOLINE ALLEY—WHAM!

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: All Dressed Up for What?

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

Just yesterday I pointed out that partnership signals [such as "echoes" or other "come-on" signals] should be treated almost sacredly, and that only for the soundest sort of reason should they be ignored. By "sound reason" I mean a superior knowledge of the situation, based on a player's own holding. It sometimes happens that the partner who gives the signal cannot possibly realize the true state of affairs, and while his signal is logical, according to his information and belief, the other partner may be better qualified to gauge the situation. Today's hand illustrates one of those rare cases in which sheer logic dictates the ignoring of a signal.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 spade	1 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

I do not recommend South's one no trump overcall. True, he had a very fair hand, but it was not good enough for a take out double, particularly considering his weakness in hearts, and he would certainly need a great deal of help from North to go game at no trump or a minor suit. With a hand of this type it is best to pass and await developments. Perhaps the opponents will get up a bit high and afford the opportunity for a crushing penalty double.

However, the above is beside the point. What we are interested in, in this particular deal, is a matter of partnership coöperation. West opened the spade queen and East, not unnaturally, played the deuce. Declarer allowed the queen to hold. Now it was up to West to consider the situation and decide whether or not to follow East's command to stop playing spades. A moment's thought convinced him that, in this particular instance, disobedience was the best policy. It was perfectly obvious that East "placed" the declarer with either one or both of West's remaining spade honors, and did not want to be "led through." [As a matter of fact, East's signal was quite correct. On his own holding and on his natural interpretation of the bidding, he felt that South must have A-J of spades and that West's original lead probably had been from Q-x.] But West, with the original holding of Q J 10, knew that a continuation could not possibly be against partnership interests. With this knowledge, based on superior information, he laid down the spade jack and, when declarer still held up his ace, continued with the ten spot. From that point on the one no trump contract was in parlous state. The ace having been held up for the third time, West now shifted to the deuce of hearts. Dummy ducking, East won with the queen and cleared his spade suit. Declarer laid down the club king, knocking out East's ace, but after cashing the last spade East shifted to the diamond jack and South ended up by taking only one spade, one diamond, and two clubs.

If West, overlooking his own spade holding, had woodenly "followed orders" at the first trick and shifted to some other suit, declarer would have saved at least one trick, possibly two.

Debut Recital Reveals Pianist of Great Talent

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A blue Monday night and Kimball hall only a third full. Along came a personable young pianist called Jacobeth Kerr and chased all the gloom away. She not only brought her third of an audience upright in its seats but drew from it burst after burst of cordial applause.

For here was that near miracle among debut recitalists—a person who understands what a composer is trying to say, musically, and who understands also that it is her job to help him say it. Whether in Rameau, Mozart, Beethoven, Schumann, or some modern piece Miss Kerr warmly grasped the composer's feeling and passed it on persuasively—very persuasively—to her listeners.

A partial list of the Kerr virtues might run somewhat as follows: Great fluency and delicacy [the Rameau and the Mozart]. A searchingly beautiful tone in the melody line [the introduction and the slow movement of the Beethoven sonata, Opus 81-a]. An honest, meaningful type of phrasing that makes the music talk right out at you [same examples as above]. A sturdily percussive tone that does not become ugly [Ganz' "Idee Rhythmique"]. A faintingly, decadently romantic line and tone [the quieter parts of the Schumann Symphonic Etudes]. A vigor which all but knocks the piano out of the ring, yet which keeps the music always music [the last pages of the same].

Here's Simple Way to Make Home Pleasant

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Without preamble let me give you a good letter to read; and if the shoe should happen to fit, do put it on and wear it and give it a trial, because much more than food is involved in a raid on the icebox.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: Your article re kitchens is so much one of my own pet ideas I am writing to congratulate you on it.

"You and I seem to have had one of those memory childhoods to which one looks back with deep gratitude to our mother and grandmother. God bless them, and God help the ones whose children have had anything but happy memories to bring to their adult life!

"Our house is the gathering place of not only my daughters' friends, but my nieces and nephews, also. You, perhaps, meeting so many people, would not be surprised, but I am so almost daily by the things the visiting children think wonderful, but which to us are a matter of course. An ice box raid after school or after a movie is one of the things they cannot understand anyone being allowed to do.

"One boy told me, he's 17, he's never taken anything from the ice box unless he was told to, that he would get into some jam [to quote him] if he did. Another, a girl, said, 'I love to come here because I always get eats.' In her home everything is on a strict budget basis and there is no chance of between meals and seconds at table. Both these families have good, steady incomes too.

"Do you call that living? I think that sort of home life is one of the causes of so much trouble with the boys and girls today.

"Well, I could write and write on this subject. It's one of my pet peeves, but I am leaving it to you to get after these mothers and try and have them make homes instead of houses for their children."

Food when it appears in the butcher's and grocer's and vegetable man's store may be just items of steak, flour, eggs, chocolate, peanut butter, jam, and carrots. But eaten around a family table it takes on a different character. Something warm happens when we eat together, whether it's with family or friends. It was not only in the long ago that breaking bread together had significance.

Know a cook by the vegetables she serves. The good menu planner serves many vegetables in a number of different ways. They are well cooked vegetables, seasoned sufficiently but not too much, and they're always brought to table piping hot. Vegetable cookery is the acid test. A woman may make perfect cakes, picture-pretty salads, and good coffee, but if the vegetables she serves are overcooked, under-seasoned, limp, or watery, she's no cook.

There are a few rules of vegetable cookery which can't be overemphasized. First, never cook any vegetable longer than just the time it takes to become tender. There still should be a little crispness left.

Second, use the cooking method best suited to the vegetable: Cook most green vegetables without a cover; root vegetables [except turnips, because they are strong flavored] with a cover; steam spinach, or cook it in a very small amount of water—only that which clings to the leaves; cook strong vegetables, including onions and cabbage, in plenty of water without a cover.

Third, salt the water in which the vegetable is cooked or, if using the so-called "waterless cooker," salt the vegetable.

Fourth, drain as soon as done, season suitably, or place in a hot sauce and serve at once.

Buttered vegetables are most frequently served. Many cooks consider that butter and seasonings bring out the true vegetable flavor better than any sauce can do. They probably are right, yet often sauces of one kind or another are desirable for variety's sake, especially if a vegetable plate luncheon is being planned. One creamed vegetable and several buttered vegetables are more attractive and more palatable than a group of vegetables which all have been treated in the same way.

Medium white sauce is the commonest choice for creamed vegetables, yet there are multitudinous variations for white sauce which may make vegetables more than usually interesting.

Medium White Sauce for Vegetables.

[1 cup.]
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Blend butter and flour with salt and pepper. Add milk gradually and cook and stir over low heat until thickened and smooth. Cook about 5 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Pour over hot vegetable. More salt may be added to this sauce if desired.

For methods of preparing all common vegetables, and sauces and butters to serve with them, see "Ways with Vegetables," a fat, mimeographed booklet which should be in every good cook's library. The price is 7 cents, by mail. Address requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

Two Piece Outfit for Fall

MISS' JACKET ENSEMBLE.

The two piece costume takes on new charm in this outfit for slim figures. The paneled and gracefully flared skirt is topped by a jacket which may be plaid or not, as you choose. Its V and rever collar lines are grand for revealing a modish blouse or sweater at the throat. Buttons may be arranged as many or as few as you wish, and the number of pockets is up to you, too. Two versions of the pattern are sketched. Skirt and jacket may match or contrast. Woolen is, of course, the most popular fabric for an ensemble of this type.

Style No. 3004 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 1¾ yards of 54 inch material for the jacket; 1½ yards of 54 inch for the skirt.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Mittens, Bags, Snoods Enhance Evening Glamor

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Shining accessories in swank for evening costumes, brand new finds tagged with easy on the conscience price marks are featured among the extras to make a perfect ensemble. You'll find them in a spot dedicated to the spirit of something new yet modest in price. Snoods, matching reticule bags and tricky evening mittens all exactly matched in sooty black, are sprinkled with tiny gold stars.

The snoods are made of velvety chenille and tied with a velvet bow glittering with the stars. The demure bag is a pull affair with a star shaped bottom, made of velvet and spangled also with stars. The mittens of velvet shine with the insets of gold kidskin with the stars on the backs.

For slightly more money there is a specially processed velvet evening skirt, yards around the hem and with a smooth hip and tiny waistline. To top it a vivid red velvet jacket edged with blinding band of sequins [the same thing comes in black] and with brief fitted sleeves.

New brocaded evening blouses are in. The colors are delightful—pale blue, rosy pink, yellow, and a pale green. These, too, are inexpensive, with glittering buttons down the front.

These shining examples of a double purpose topper combine the crisp fitted streamline of a jacket with the soft details and shoulderlines of a blouse plus the buttons down the front. Sleeves are short and the materials are extraordinarily beautiful for such amazingly low price marks. Pale pink, blue, frosty white, and a few dull blacks crossed with silver are available.

The funniest fashions of the week are the yarn turbans, the head turban part meshed just like a large snood, the center front trim two huge tassels of the fat yarn—red, jade, gold, black, navy, and brown.

The Housewife

As cute as a kitten's ear are the brand new cocktail glasses, designed especially for the 19th hole. They have golf balls set into their bases, but don't try to pry one loose for your next game, for they're there to stay. A set of these clever glasses with a matching bottle on a dark wooden tray would make a welcome gift to the man who is difficult to find things for.

For the hostess there are lovely new cocktail glasses with little blown glass flowers, in colors, set into the bases. They look like little jewels.

A Girl Should Give Beau All Her Attention

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We'll continue where we left off yesterday for the benefit of those girls who suffer the devastating experience of being a social failure with boys. We have in mind especially the type who will attract a young man enough to have a couple of dates with him and then be dropped.

We spoke yesterday of that fatal error girls make of not giving their nicest attention to the youth who invites them on the date. They may be using the chap for a stepping stone to something better or more exciting in escorts. So, while dancing with the escort of the evening, the girl may be looking over his shoulder to see if there isn't some one else at the dance who'd better fill the bill. Not good technique, girls, because that boy you underestimate may rate high with his own sex, and if you treat him rawly, they will gang up on you.

Don't be gingerly with your charm-radiating for the boy who makes this date possible for you. Let him dance with other girls without any sulking from you. Smile if he seems to be having a good time. He doesn't want to feel you're hanging around his neck like an albatross. Give him a special smile when he comes back to you.

Then there is himself, the human being, the man who likes to talk about his ambitions, his hobbies, his opinions, his favorite sport. It's no music to his ears to have you telling about the games and places you've been to with Bill or Buck or some other man. It's old stuff to advise drawing the man out, but to date it never fails as a bit of winning technique—if you listen to the answers. Underline that last clause and listen. Don't ask and then hurry on trying to dazzle your date with your own line of chatter.

Don't believe that the girl who is most appreciated is the girl who expects orchids, taxis and the brightest spots in town. The average escort today hasn't much left over after he's paid his board, for his cigarets, cleaner's bill, and haircuts. So be appreciative if it's the movie and a soft drink afterward. You might even suggest that he come on home with you and you'll rustle up some scrambled eggs for him.

Lazy Neck Is a Detriment to Your Health and Loveliness

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Have you a "lazy neck"? If you have, you're spoiling the most important beauty feature about you. A "lazy neck" means you are walking with your chin poked forward so that your neck muscles are not functioning properly. As a result, if you haven't already developed a double chin or a "dowager's hump," you are in danger of doing so, because you are letting your neck muscles sag.

A woman who balances her head on her shoulders well is bound to win many admiring glances from men and envy from women because of her queenly carriage. It isn't necessary to overdo the "queenly air" by appearing to tip your nose skyward and so give the impression of being haughty, but it is necessary from the beauty angle to cultivate a well-set head posture.

At first you may feel a bit strained in your efforts to correct your neck posture, but after a while it will be a natural pose. It makes no difference whether you have a short or a long neck. In order to achieve this important beauty feature, try doing a few simple neck exercises daily.

[2] Assume same position as in exercise one, and slowly, with chin held between thumb and forefinger, tip head back to rest on neck. Count 20, then slowly raise head.

[3] Drop head slowly to chest, count 20, then let the neck muscles pull your head to upright position.

JAPS SEEK WAY OUT OF QUARREL WITH AMERICA

Official Takes Issue with Ambassador Grew.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 23.—Japan will seek a way out of the impasse with the United States thru discussion of mutual problems, Yakichiro Suma, new spokesman for the foreign office, declared today.

Yakichiro Suma. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

He took issue with the declaration of American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew last Thursday that the American public had grasped the actual situation in the far east.

Suma said that when he was in the United States as Japanese embassy counsellor he found a deplorable ignorance in America about the far east.

Blames Emotionalism.

He said he knows exactly where public opinion in the United States stands and said he was convinced that emotionalism rather than a true understanding is playing a preponderant part in forming it.

Suma said he thought the American government and people should pay more attention to actualities and that their observations should be more along constructive lines.

"American emotionalism always goes too far in condemning other countries and thus is biased," he said. "When I was in America I found Christian organizations taking the stand that everything Japan does is wrong. That eloquently represents American public opinion."

World Conference Is Out.

He said Japan is not considering discussing the Chinese question on the basis of an international conference. So far as the United States is concerned, he said, he thought the matter could be settled strictly between the two countries.

For instance, altho the opening of the Yangtze river has international aspects, he said he believed it is not a matter to take up thru an international conference.

Leading newspapers today forecast that Foreign Minister Kichisaburo Nomura would adopt a conciliatory stand with the United States and Great Britain and predict that Japan will reopen the Yangtze and Pearl rivers if circumstances permit.

CHINA'S AVIATION REVIVED BY NEW RUSSIAN PLANES

HONGKONG, Oct. 23 (AP).—Increasing numbers of soviet Russian planes, guns and military technicians have appeared in China during the recent weeks which have witnessed new successes by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies against Japan and revived strength in his air force.

Reliable sources today estimated that 500 Russian technicians already are in China and said that additional supplies of tanks, anti-aircraft guns and other war materials were on their way from Russia.

Chinese spokesmen, both here and in China's provisional capital, Chungking, said the soviet military aid was the outgrowth of a Chinese-soviet trade pact concluded last June and subsidiary military and economic agreements reached before war started in Europe.

Terms of those agreements never have been disclosed, but Chinese officials have said privately that they were promised Russian war supplies worth between $30,000,000 and $100,000,000.

DISCLOSE DEATH OF JAP GENERAL ON SOVIET BORDER

TOKIO, Oct. 23 (AP).—The death of Maj. Gen. Katsuji Abe on the disputed frontier between Outer Mongolia and Manchukuo was disclosed today with the arrival of his ashes at the port of Shimonoseki. Gen. Abe was the third high ranking officer to die in Japanese service on the mainland of Asia since 1937. Two others were killed in China.

Domei, the Japanese news agency, reported that plans for arbitration of the soviet Russian-Japanese issue over the border and over exchanges of prisoners were nearing completion.

At Hsinking, capital of Manchukuo, an army spokesman said military negotiations had become disrupted Saturday because of disagreement over whether prisoners to be exchanged should include deserters.

Bronco Buster

Miss Jane Burnett with a rodeo horse.

Miss Jane Burnett, slim, chestnut haired rodeo performer, was kicked in the jaw by a steer last January and couldn't talk for two weeks. Her recovery has been 100 per cent, however, for last night she talked the judges at the Chicago Stadium rodeo into letting her appear in a bronco busting event. The Stadium has had a rule against lady bronc busters for two years, but Jane's arguments were too much for Fred Kressman, the chief judge. Jane is 19 years old and has been riding in rodeos since she was 12. She hails from Lewistown, Mont.

AIRLINER BREAKS WORLD RECORD ON COSMIC RAY HUNT

Climbs to 28,900 Feet on Hop with Scientist.

A new world's altitude record for Douglas DC-3 transport planes was unwittingly established yesterday during the course of a flight in which two University of Chicago scientists photographed mesotrons, the heavy radioactive components of cosmic rays. The plane climbed to 28,900 feet, breaking what the Douglas Aircraft company said was the previous record of 26,300 feet for ships of its type.

The 21 passenger twin-engined airplane carried Capt. W. E. Larned, pilot for the United Air Lines; W. W. Davies, the lines' research engineer, and Dr. Gerhard Herzog and Winston Bostick, research associates at the university.

Could Have Climbed Higher.

Capt. Larned, who had no thought of trying for a record, said the ship's engines were working perfectly at 28,900 feet and undoubtedly he could have continued up to 30,000.

The plane remained aloft about three hours and went as far as Davenport, Ia. The outside temperature at 28,900 feet was 30 degrees below zero. Cabin temperature remained at a constant 70 degrees above. The two scientists carried 800 pounds of equipment. All members of the party wore oxygen masks. The photographic plates were exposed at the highest point of the flight.

Nobel Winner Directs Hop.

The flight was part of the cosmic ray investigations being carried on by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Nobel prize winner, and Prof. Charles H. Swift. Prof. Compton remained on the ground but maintained contact with the plane by radio. He said it would take some time to determine the scope of the revelations contained in the photographs. They were the first ever taken of mesotrons at stratosphere altitudes.

Previous experiments of this nature have been conducted on mountain tops. University officials went to Mount Evans in Colorado last summer, where measurements of the intensity, frequency, and penetrating power of mesotrons were made at 15,000 feet. Underground investigations also have been made.

LOSES LAST PLEA TO ESCAPE PRISON IN 2 AUTO DEATHS

John C. Allen, 49 years old, a maker of auto accessories who is under sentence of 1 to 14 years for involuntary manslaughter, lost his final appeal yesterday when the United States Supreme court refused to review his case.

Allen appealed from a decision of the Illinois Supreme court upholding the sentence. Ray Duran and Charles B. Klafter were killed in February, 1935, when they were hit by Allen's car at Dearborn and Erie streets.

An indictment against Allen in connection with Duran's death was dismissed, but later he was convicted in the death of Klafter. Allen's attorney contended that because of the outcome of the Duran case he should not have been tried for manslaughter in the case of Klafter.

ROB CAR OF WOODEN JEWELRY.

Lawrence Endacott, a salesman, reported yesterday that thieves broke into his automobile, parked in the rear of his hotel at 645 North Wabash avenue, and stole wooden costume jewelry and wood carvings valued at $100.

JURY IS CHOSEN TO FIX AIRPORT PROPERTY VALUE

Final Action Under Way to Enlarge Field.

Final legal steps for the enlargement of the Chicago airport were begun yesterday. A jury of six women and six men was chosen in Judge Denis J. Normoyle's court to hear the first of the condemnation suits for acquisition of a new right of way for the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad.

The railroad's tracks now bisect the 630 acre tract that will make up the enlarged airport. The tracks, which now lie along the line of 59th street, are to be moved north of 55th street. The now unused north half of the tract already has been improved, so that the entire airport will be ready for use when the track removal is completed.

Jurors View Site.

The jurors chosen yesterday will determine the price that the city will pay for 28 of the 78 parcels of land which make up the mile and a half strip, 66 feet wide, which is to be the new right of way.

Immediately after the jurors were sworn in they were taken by bus to the airport for an inspection of the land on which they are to set a price.

Hearing of testimony will begin today. The 28 parcels the jury will consider today are all small. Because some groups of property owners have asked separate hearings, there will be eight trials before the condemnation is completed. There are 290 owners or co-owners.

City Staff Prosecutes.

The railroad is the technical complainant. But since the city must buy the land and lay the new tracks, under its agreement with the railroad, the case is being prosecuted by Joseph Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, and Harry Posner, assistant corporation counsel.

The proposed right of way has been appraised at $123,754, including damages to adjoining property. The city has set aside $150,000 for the purchase and made formal offers to the owners. But none of the owners has accepted. Hence the condemnation suits.

Hearing Length in Doubt.

No accurate estimate could be made yesterday on how long the condemnation litigation will last. The first trial is expected to be concluded late this week. Whether other property owners are willing to settle their claims will depend upon the outcome of the first trial. If all of the cases go to trial it is unlikely that the litigation will be finished in less than six weeks.

The present field is bounded by the tracks, 63d street, and Cicero and Central avenues. The expansion will extend runways, now from 2,500 to 3,200 feet in length, to more than 5,200 feet. Experts say the longer runways are necessary for the 65,000 pound four engine airliners to be placed in service in 1941.

SHANGHAI GROUP ASKS AMERICAN AID FOR COLONY

SHANGHAI, Oct. 23 (AP).—Representative Shanghai Americans today adopted a resolution asking Secretary of State Hull for increased support for maintenance of the American position in Shanghai. The resolution was telegraphed to Washington, D. C.

The Americans contended that recent clashes on the border of the international settlement were a growing danger to the American community. Settlement police have clashed with agents of the Japanese-sponsored local Chinese régime.

American authorities here were asked by the Japanese consul general, Yoshiaki Miura, to take "suitable action" against local newspapers which are registered as American corporations and recently published unconfirmed reports of a mutiny in Japanese army units at Hankow. Japanese authorities denied the mutiny reports.

3 BOYS HITCH RIDE ON TRUCK; 1 KILLED, 2 HURT

Knocked Off as Car Sidewipes Another.

One boy was killed and two were seriously hurt yesterday when they were brushed from the side of a laundry truck on which they had hitched a ride. Bernard Robertson, 15 years old, 2978 State street, was the one who was killed.

Robertson, Frank Harkink, 3038 Wentworth avenue, and Tony Cernich, 2711 Wentworth avenue, each also 15, hitched on the truck of Joseph Stehlik, 39, of 2020 James street. Their weight pulled the side of the truck down. Stehlik pulled to the curb, his truck sidewiped a parked truck in front of 1437 West 47th street and the boys were brushed off. Harkink and Cernich suffered possible skull fractures.

Falls from Truck; Killed.

Garrett Smith, 57, of Vesper, Wis., was killed when he fell from the cab of an automobile transport truck and was crushed under the wheels. The accident occurred on U. S. 14, two miles south of Harvard, Ill.

Mrs. Jennie Fojtik, 29 years old, 2258 North Laramie avenue, suffered a skull fracture early today when she was struck by a hit and run car at Cicero and Armitage avenues. She was on her way home from work at a candy factory. Mrs. Fojtik was taken to the County hospital. She is the mother of three children.

Two Die of Injuries.

Joseph Barsella, 73, of 446 Orleans street, died in County hospital of injuries incurred Thursday when he walked against the side of a moving automobile at Orleans and Illinois streets. The driver was John Fuller of 621 West 62d street.

William Baxter, 24, of 7418 Calumet avenue, died in the Wesley Memorial hospital. He was injured March 5 in a collision between his car and one driven by Russell Gerlman, 7523 Sangamon street, at Vincennes avenue and 76th street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 694 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 536 were killed in Chicago, where 17,919 were injured in the same period.

SCIENTIST PLANS A TREMENDOUS ATOM SMASHER

Providence, R. I., Oct. 23 [Special].—A project for building a stupendous atom smashing machine that will shoot at will hails of atomic cannon balls traveling with energies of 100 to 200 million volts was described here today.

The machine was pictured before the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences at Brown university by Prof. Ernest O. Lawrence of the University of California. He is the famed inventor of the atom smashing apparatus known as the cyclotron, or atomic merry-go-round.

It is expected that the new colossus among atom smashers will make possible for the first time such a terrific assault on the nucleus of the atom—the inner temple of the material universe—that many if not all of the secrets of the structure and constitution of matter will at last be solved. It is expected to make possible the transmutation of base metals into gold on a large scale and produce great quantities of precious radium out of common salt.

Robert M'Cormick Adams Named Chancery Master

Robert McCormick Adams yesterday was appointed a master in chancery of the Superior court upon the recommendation of Judge John A. Sbarbaro. With the exception of two years spent in the mine sweeper division of the navy during the world war, Mr. Adams has practiced law continuously since being graduated from the Northwestern university law school in 1916. He was graduated from Princeton university in 1913. Mr. Adams also has served as a special assistant attorney general.

TWO MICHIGAN STARS RETURN TO FACE YALE

MOVIES' STORY: DE CORREVONT'S SCORE IS LEGAL

Pictures Show No Foul Committed.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Bill De Correvont's thrilling 55 yard run against Wisconsin for a make believe touchdown, which was not tabulated in the score that gave Northwestern a 13 to 7 verdict over the Badgers Saturday, yesterday was viewed by critical eyes in the usual Monday cinema headache or celluloid second guess. After seeing the movies of the play many spectators said they didn't think young Bill's run should have been called back.

Northwestern officials were inclined to be very, very sporting about the whole thing, as well they might, seeing as Northwestern was the victor anyhow. But the thousands who have been pulling for De Correvont will be glad to know that the movies indicate Don Clawson's maneuver, which an official called clipping, was a legitimate block. [Until the movie information was forthcoming, Jack Ryan was supposed to have made the play that led to the penalty.]

Therefore, since this was the play that caused the ball to be called back, De Correvont fans may consider Bill's dash a moral gallop, a sort of little brother to those moral victories you read about.

Film Shows Fans' Surprise.

It was apparent from the movies, as it seemed at the time of the run, that no one heard a horn on the play. Every Badger in De Correvont's path to the goal obviously did his best to bring down the young man from Austin High so the members of the De Correvont Marching and Chowder club, even including the lyre section, can rejoice over a run well run.

It was evident that many of the 40,000 who saw De Correvont's sprint were surprised when the ball was brought back and Northwestern penalized fifteen yards for clipping. Thousands did not know until long after the game that it was Clawson who had been charged with clipping.

Ryan Made Similar Play.

A few minutes before, Jack Ryan was wildly cheered when he executed a similar maneuver which blocked out three Badgers on one dive at approximately the same spot in the playing field. His block then seemed virtually the same sort of dive that wiped out De Correvont's much needed start for stardom.

Since the Wildcats did win, and second guessing can not appear as being inspired by second guessers in the throes of defeatist grief, it perhaps is a fit place to set down the definitions of blocking and clipping.

Clipping is blocking by running or diving into the BACK, or throwing or dropping the body across the BACK of the leg or legs, of a player not carrying the ball.

It is said that Northwestern will suppress the movie, not wishing to raise a rumpus, especially over a victory.

These things are set down only to cheer the distressed De Correvont fans and to give a playful prod to the greatest pain in the neck that officials suffer, those damned movies.

Northwestern's victory proved a costly one when it was learned yesterday that two regulars, Ollie Hahnenstein, half back, and Don Guritz, guard, sustained injuries which will keep them out of Saturday's homecoming game with Illinois. Hahnenstein's foot injury, originally received in the Ohio State game, was aggravated, while Guritz suffered a sprained ankle which may keep him out of action for two weeks.

Waldorf Is Pleased.

While not losing sight of the fact that the Wildcats scored both of their touchdowns on Badger mistakes, Coach Lynn Waldorf found several things about which to be pleased. He was particularly impressed with the team's ability to stage a comeback after surrendering a touchdown in the opening minutes of play.

Waldorf observed that Northwestern's blocking against the Badgers still was ragged, but showed vast improvement over earlier games. He was disappointed over the pass defense which permitted the opposition to complete five out of 14 aerials after keeping Ohio State from completing a single pass the week before.

ILLINI BACKS PROMOTED.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 23 (AP).—Chuck Purvis, Don Elting, and George Rettinger were rewarded with varsity back field positions on the Illinois team today as the result of their fine play last week against Indiana.

They replace Jimmy Smith, Laverne Astroth, and Bob Falkenstein. Ralph Ehni retained the quarter back position. Two sophomores who did a fine job against the Hoosiers—Flip Anders and Dave Dillon—likely will be in the starting lineup at ends at Evanston.

Kokomo Sue.

When I met Fritz yesterday,
"I'm a guard," I heard him say,
And I certainly was very much elated,
For in spite of his flat feet
I believed him an athlete—
Not a station guard upon the elevated.

He invited me to dine
And I rather liked his line—
He was not like other men I had known;
But I surely was dismayed
When I asked him what he played
And he said that he was tops on the trombone.

Even then I wasn't wise,
For he had such soulful eyes
That I figured he must be a college chap;
And I knew his mighty frame
Would withstand the toughest game
Since he had so much vitality on tap.

But my heart began to freeze
When I learned by slow degrees
That he never got beyond the seventh grade;
And when he informed me that
His last name was Pretzelpratt
I decided to remain a stanch old maid.

CUFF, KERCHEVAL GLAD PROS HAVE THEIR OWN RULES

Goal Posts on Goal Line Beat Bears, Eagles.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

George Halas and his Chicago Bears are against any change, but they would have been mighty happy as they arrived from New York last night if the goal posts in professional football were on the end line. Philadelphia's Eagles had similar sentiments.

Three field goals by Ward Cuff, late of Marquette, whipped the Bears Sunday when they pitted their vaunted power against the New York Giants' widely renowned defense. Ralph Kercheval, the Kentucky thorobred trainer, heaped humiliation on the Eagles by kicking Brooklyn into victory with three placements.

Extra 10 Yards Big Help.

Cuff's kicks were made from the 43, 40, and 23 yard lines. Another ten yards on each of these attempts in all likelihood would have permitted the Bears to escape with a 13 to 10 triumph instead of a 16 to 13 defeat. Cuff probably would not have tried to score with fifty-three and fifty yard kicks, altho longer attempts have been made in the National football league, where the posts are on the goal line.

Dave Cook, the former Illini, went out of a Cardinal-Packer game in the first half with a dislocated shoulder a few years ago. In the second half he returned with his arm in a sling to attempt a field goal by placement from the Cardinals 35 yard line. The kick fell 15 yards short of covering the required 65 yards.

Kercheval's kicks against Philadelphia were even more remarkable than Cuff's. He cleared the cross bar from 45, 44, and 38 yards. Kercheval, being a Brooklyn Dodger, could be counted upon to take a shot from the 48 yard line, but his two longer attempts would have been foregone had the posts been on the end line.

Overlook Cuff in Draft.

Cuff's performance Sunday opened an old wound for Halas. In 1937 the forgotten man of Marquette's 1936 back field kicked a 43 yard field goal to tie the Bears, 3 to 3. Halas' feelings were assuaged practically none at all by the fact that scouts had urged him to draft Cuff. He chose Ray Buivid, Marquette's star passer, instead.

The Bears' defeat and Green Bay's 24 to 7 victory over Detroit were accomplished before record setting crowds which helped to make more certain an all-time season high for National league football attendance this fall. A throng of 58,693 paid to see the Giants stretch their string to 18 games without a defeat. At Green Bay a gross attendance of approximately 25,000, of which 22,555 was paid, composed the largest crowd ever gathered for any event in the little Wisconsin city.

It's a League Record.

The New York turnout, which boosted the day's attendance for five games to 121,166 paid, represented the largest crowd ever attracted by a regularly scheduled National league game. Red Grange's debut in New York with the Bears in 1925 drew 64,300, but this was a postseason exhibition.

In addition to their business barometer aspects the New York and Green Bay contests served to intensify division races. The Packers entered into a tie with Detroit for the western lead and New York remained deadlocked with Washington for first place in the east as the Redskins whipped the pathetic Pittsburgh Pirates, 24 to 14.

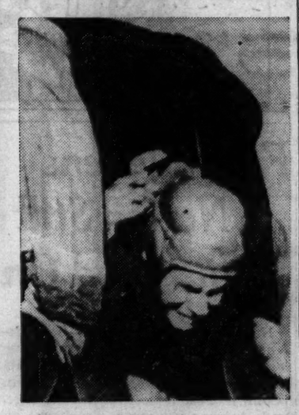
Washington and New York are the only unbeaten teams left in the championship races. They played a scoreless tie several weeks ago and now seem destined to decide the eastern division title in a regularly scheduled game on the last day of the season for the fourth consecutive year.

Work will begin in Wrigley field today to prepare the Bears for Sunday's visit by Detroit. The Bears trail the Lions and Packers by half a game. Detroit was whipped soundly by the Packers Sunday, and like the Bears, who will be in none too hospitable mood after the New York debacle, it can be expected to be primed for the fray.

They're Saturday's Unsung Heroes

The boys who make touchdowns wouldn't succeed without the aid of those who take the bumps clearing the way. These pictures show football in the raw. This fellow is making an upside down three point landing.

His tightly clenched teeth and closed eyes is not play acting. No, sir—it's an eloquent example of what a football player goes thru every Saturday afternoon.



This is blocking at its best, oft times missed by spectators in the quick action of the gridiron. This blocker appears to be intent on giving his man a bit of the old jiu jitsu.

Here's a sporting goods salesman's argument of a lifetime for the utility value of a headgear. What this cleated shoe would do to the young man's uncovered noggin!

This little scene proves you not only can put a good man down, but three good men at the same time. Fellows like these are the unsung heroes on a hundred gridirons every week.

"Enough of this," the grimacing young man seems to be saying. "Why, O, why didn't I take up checkers or learn to play the piccolo in the college band?"

Kern Reported Ready to Leave Carnegie Tech

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 23.—Bill Kern, who led Carnegie Tech to the eastern collegiate football championship and the Sugar bowl in 1938, will resign as head football coach at Tech at the end of this season, it was reported today. Kern is said to be dissatisfied with conditions at Tech and feels he must leave to protect his future. Several eastern colleges, especially Colgate, are interested in his services, but he is expected to enter pro football if a job is open.

Kern went to Tech as head coach in 1937 on a two year contract. It took him a year to get his system working, tho in his first season Tech beat Notre Dame, 9 to 7. Last year it beat Pitt, 20 to 10, and lost only to Notre Dame, 7 to 0.

Talks with Pro Officials.

This year Tech was one of the preseason favorites for the national championship, but after winning three straight was upset, 6 to 0, by New York U. Saturday. The Skibos play Notre Dame this week and Kern believes his team good enough to score an upset.

Kern has told friends he would like to get into pro football. He stayed in New York after the N. Y. U.-Tech game last Saturday and attended yesterday's Giant-Bear battle in the Polo Grounds. After the game he conferred with several pro team officials.

KERN IS SATISFIED.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 23 (AP).—William F. [Bill] Kern, commenting on rumors he intended to resign as football coach at Carnegie Tech, declared tonight he was satisfied "where I am," but "naturally would be interested in improving myself."

"At present I am at Carnegie Tech and have no definite plans for the future," he said. "Whether something will come up between now and next year I don't know. Naturally I would be interested in improving myself. But I'm not worrying about that now."

"Pardon my elbow," says a ball carrier as he rushes by goalward bent. And don't mind it a bit if you see a few assorted arms and legs in the pictures. Football's like that.

Saturday May Be the Day for Bud Kerr of Irish

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 23 [Special].—If history repeats itself, William [Bud] Kerr, senior left end, will come into his own at Pittsburgh Saturday when Notre Dame plays Carnegie Tech.

Playing as substitute for Earl Brown Jr. last year, Irish fans who agreed that Brown was the best left end in the game, also maintained that Kerr was second best. It was Coach Bill Kern of the Scots, who said that Brown's rushing of Carnegie passers forced them to shelve their aerial attack.

Kerr, playing with the second team, surprised the Tartan defense on the only end-around play Notre Dame employed all season, to score from the 7 yard line and win the game, 7 to 0, with four minutes of play remaining.

Joe De Franco, left guard, threw a telling block on the play. Kerr's run ended a 47 yard drive which required only four plays, the first for no gain. Milt Piepul and Ben Sheridan, who, with Kerr, sparkled against Navy last Saturday in Notre Dame's 14 to 7 victory, made 40 of the yards.

Navy's Use of Five Man Line a Help to Irish

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Eastern football teams have used the five man line defense with success, but when Navy shifted into a five man line last Saturday against Notre Dame, the Midshipmen invited trouble and Steve Sitko, Irish quarter back, saw that the time had come. Against Navy's five man line, Notre Dame advanced to its second touchdown and a 14 to 7 victory.

Navy has used the five man line, with its three secondary defenders, for several seasons. Navy doesn't always use it, however, and probably wishes now that it had not been used Saturday. The principal defect was that after assuming a six man defensive line, Navy dropped its right end back from the line of scrimmage to complete the three secondary defenders. The Navy defense thus became a 5-3-2-1 formation. During Notre Dame's march Navy consistently dropped its right end back when the Irish backs shifted to their right [the opposite direction from Navy's right end].

Giants Employ Five Man Line.

The New York Giants used the five man line against the All-Stars in Soldiers' field and still employ this type of defense, but the end never is dropped back. For the Giants the center and one of the guards come back two or three yards and with the full back form the secondary trio.

CAPT. KODROS, KROMER FIT FOR STARTING POSTS

Coaches Fight to Check Letdown.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 23 [Special].—Left Half Back Paul Kromer returned to the Michigan first string eleven today as Coach Fritz Crisler set about overcoming "the bad effects" of the Chicago rout last Saturday. Kromer, who suffered an injured knee in the opening game of the season, is almost certain to start against Yale as is Capt. Archie Kodros, center, who will return to the lineup tomorrow following a layoff caused by a boil.

Crisler said today that his team undoubtedly could have scored 150 points against Chicago. "I never tried to score points in any game as hard as I tried not to have my team score them Saturday. But then you can't tell a team to go out and fumble the ball," he said.

The problem this week, Crisler said, is to get the team in a serious mood for Yale, which squad is greatly improved over that of last year. Michigan was hard put to win, 15 to 13, in 1938 when it met the Elis the week after a tough battle with Minnesota.

YALE REGULARS PRAISED.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 23 (AP).—The Yale football squad, in fine shape, today began drilling for Saturday's battle with Michigan in Ann Arbor. The regulars were lauded for their work against the Army and excused after a light session, the reserves carrying on.

IOWA TACKLE IMPROVES.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 23 (AP).—Dr. W. W. Hayne, physician for the University of Iowa football team, said tonight that Jim Walker of South Bend, Ind., sophomore tackle, might be able to play with the Hawkeyes Saturday against Wisconsin if his knee injury further responds to treatment.

Dr. Hayne said Walker's disarranged knee joint was a recurrence of an old injury and was not due entirely to injury in the game with Michigan. If the knee responds to treatment, the physician said, Walker may be able to resume practice Thursday.

The remainder of the Iowa squad appeared to be rounding into condition. Al Couppee's injured shoulder was rapidly mending, and he was expected to get a taste of light scrimmage this week.

Phil Strom, guard who was hurt two weeks ago, was back in uniform.

Several other members of the squad, including Max Hawkins, Jack Edling, and Jack McKinnon, who have been slightly injured in practice since the Michigan encounter, were also expected to be ready.

NINE BADGERS REST.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 23 [Special].—Nine Wisconsin football players were excused from practice today while the remainder of the varsity and reserve teams began preparations for the Iowa game here Saturday.

Those given a complete rest were George Paskvan and Claude York, full back and right half back, respectively, and seven linemen—Ralph Moeller, Al Lorenz, Robert Eckl, Elmer Tornow, Dick Embick, Robert Holloway, and Jack Murray.

The Badgers came out of the Northwestern game in good condition with the exception of Bob Willding, sophomore back from Des Moines, Ia., whose shoulder was dislocated. He will be lost for at least three weeks. Both Billy Schmitz, left half back, and Jack Doyle, second string center, who had been suffering from injuries, suffered no recurrences at Northwestern and will be ready to face the Hawkeyes.

WRIGLEY ADDS TO CARDS' DENIAL OF MEDWICK DEAL

The Cardinals announced Sunday that Outfielder Joe Medwick has not and will not be sold to the Cubs or any other team. Yesterday P. K. Wrigley, owner-president of the Cubs, said that Joe Medwick has not been purchased by the Cubs and will not be.

So it was rumored that maybe Medwick will not play with the Cubs in 1940. Of course, the rumor will be checked with Mr. Wrigley Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays during the winter.

HOLMES AND PITT MEN OF THE HOUR AT OAK PARK HIGH

They Bring Back Memories of Zuppke and Barrett.

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

In the days of the flying wedge and the hidden ball play, Oak Park's favorite sons were Coach Bob Zuppke and one of his brightest pupils, Johnny Barrett. There's another combination now which the western suburb hails as its greatest—Coach Glenn [Pat] Holmes and Half Back Billy Pitt.

Oak Park High school is speeding toward its fourth consecutive Suburban league football championship and recognition as one of the leading prep elevens in the nation. Since the 1936 season Oak Park has engaged in twenty-eight games, winning twenty-six and playing two ties, one a 6 to 6 deadlock with Miami on Christmas day, 1937, in Miami, Fla., and the other also a 6 to 6 contest with Eau Claire, Wis., in Oak Park stadium two weeks ago.

Oak Park's followers watched Zuppke produce great teams in 1910, 1911 and 1912 before he became head football coach at the University of Illinois. Barrett, a half back, went on to All-American fame at Washington and Lee university.

Holmes from Wisconsin, Too.

Holmes, congenial, affable, and like Zuppke a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has compiled an amazing record since he came to Oak Park eleven years ago after coaching at Freeport, Ill., High school and serving as freshman coach at his alma mater. His Oak Park record shows seventy-five victories, eleven defeats and six ties.

In his first three years Holmes' teams went down to defeat only three times while winning 23 games. Under the Holmes régime Oak Park has had little difficulty against Suburban league teams which include Waukegan, Morton of Cicero, Proviso of Maywood, New Trier of Winnetka, and Evanston. During the last ten years Oak Park has won six league championships.

They're Football Conscious.

Oak Park's athletic department expanded rapidly with the success of Holmes' powerful squads. There now are four teams wearing Oak Park uniforms in games every Saturday. They are the varsity eleven under the direction of Holmes and his assistant, Robert Woodruff; the junior varsity coached by Rube Gocker; the freshman-sophomore, which is handled by Henry Souchek, formerly of the University of Iowa, and Orrin Noth of Wisconsin, and the lightweights, coached by Don Harshbager of Iowa State Teachers' college and Russ Fuog, center on the University of Michigan's team in 1931, 1932, and 1933.

An example of the strength of the four teams was given last Sept. 30 when the varsity beat York of Elmhurst, 59 to 0; the freshmen-sophomores whipped York, 61 to 0; the lightweights beat York, 7 to 0, and the junior-varsity triumphed over New Trier, 23 to 0. This made a total of 150 points with the opposition failing to score.

Pitt, shifty, senior left half back, who weighs 160 pounds and is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, has led Oak Park to victory many times in the last two years, but his outstanding achievement was accomplished last Saturday when Oak Park removed the strong Evanston eleven from its path to the championship, 7 to 0.

Play 3 More League Games.

It was Pitt who scored the winning touchdown on a 20 yard run around end in the second period.

In addition to Pitt, the players who have contributed outstanding performances in Oak Park's unbroken string of victories are Co-Capts. Joe Eggleston, left end, and Bill McManus, tackle; Bob Watts, right end; Bob Modrow, full back; Chuck Feutz, half back, and Blake Walker, quarter back.

There are three more teams in Oak Park's way to its fourth straight title. It will meet Morton Saturday in Oak Park stadium; New Trier in Winnetka on Nov. 4, and Proviso in Maywood on Nov. 11.

Four Elevens in Nation Still Unscored On

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Best defensive marks among the nation's college football leaders have been established by Tennessee, the New Britain [Conn.] Teachers, Oberlin college, and Arizona's Tempe Teachers, all unscored upon.

Three of the smaller schools—Marshall of West Virginia, with 165 points in five games, Indiana's Manchester with 161 points in four tests, and San Jose State with 170 points in seven contests—have been the most touchdown-conscious.

Tom Harding of Butler university scored three touchdowns Saturday while Don Lieberum, last week's pacemaker, was idle to step to the forefront of the nation's football scoring leaders with a total of 56 points.

In five games Harding, colored half back, has made nine touchdowns and two extra points.

Lieberum, who comes from another Indiana school, Manchester, had scored 54 points in four games prior to last week.

Hawks to Play Drill Game in St. Paul Tonight

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 23 [Special].—Twenty Chicago Blackhawks arrived here today after 18 days of training in Hibbing for a two game practice series with St. Paul of the American Hockey association. According to Manager Paul Thompson, the team, with the exception of Phil Hergesheimer, who is in Chicago undergoing treatment for an injury sustained over a week ago, is ready now for major league competition.

Altho the entire squad will participate in tomorrow's exhibition, only 16 players will be in the Hawks party when it leaves St. Paul Friday. Thompson is farming, subject to immediate recall, Forwards Bob Carse, Johnny Chad, and Paul Platz to the Providence Reds of the International American league, and Goalie Frank McCool will remain an amateur for another season. Thompson considers McCool an outstanding prospect and will place him in a minor pro league next year for seasoning.

The second of the St. Paul exhibitions will be played Thursday and the Blackhawk squad of that night will be the same that will face the Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey league opener in Chicago Nov. 2.

When Phil Hergesheimer returns he is expected to replace Demarco on the Hawks' new third line. Demarco will be used as a utility forward as will Doug Bentley, the only one of the western Canada amateurs who was retained by Thompson.

After leaving St. Paul the Hawks have two more exhibition games scheduled before the season opener, one next Saturday in Cleveland against the champion Barons and one Oct. 31 in St. Louis against the Flyers.

It's the Gospel Truth; Minister Gets Hole in One

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 23 (AP).—Nobody disputed a Fort Wayne Country club golfer's story of shooting a hole-in-one on the 210 yard 10th hole.

The golfer was the Rev. H. E. Wiswel of the First Missionary church.

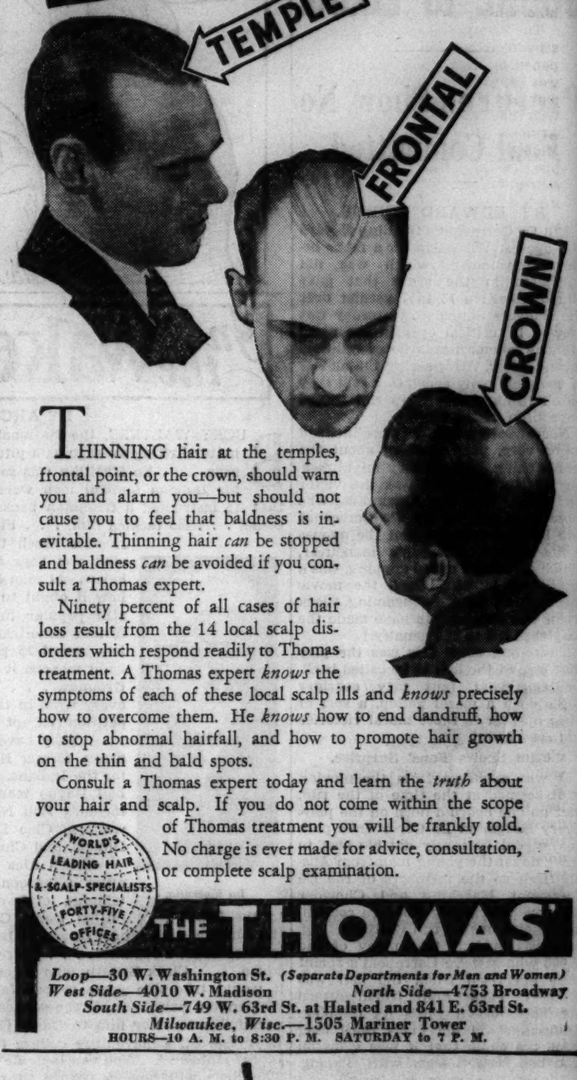
Gonzaga May Abandon Football Team in 1940

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 23 (AP).—Claude McGrath, athletic director at Gonzaga university, said today football might be abandoned at the institution next year because of financial losses. McGrath said "the school's athletic board doesn't see how it will be possible to continue football at Gonzaga next year with gate receipts, general expenditures and overhead as they are." Gonzaga's eight game schedule this year involves more than 10,000 miles of travel with only two games in Spokane.

Avoid baldness!
STOP THINNING HAIR
in these "danger zones"



THINNING hair at the temples, frontal point, or the crown, should warn you and alarm you—but should not cause you to feel that baldness is inevitable. Thinning hair can be stopped and baldness can be avoided if you consult a Thomas expert.

Ninety percent of all cases of hair loss result from the 14 local scalp disorders which respond readily to Thomas treatment. A Thomas expert knows the symptoms of each of these local scalp ills and knows precisely how to overcome them. He knows how to end dandruff, how to stop abnormal hairfall, and how to promote hair growth on the thin and bald spots.

Consult a Thomas expert today and learn the truth about your hair and scalp. If you do not come within the scope of Thomas treatment you will be frankly told. No charge is ever made for advice, consultation, or complete scalp examination.

MATTESON AND HUEGEL TAKE PRO-MANAGERS

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Matt Matteson, secretary of the Illinois Professional Golfers' association, and his Ridge Country club colleague, Manager Nick Huegel, yesterday won the low gross prize in the annual pro-managers' tournament of the Illinois P. G. A. They finished with a card of 38—41—79 for their workout on the No. 1 course of the Medinah Country club.

The tournament originally was scheduled for Oct. 9, but was postponed by heavy rains. First low net was captured by Harry Adams, home club pro, and Bill Bangs of Exmoor, who had 85—18—67, while Thomas Armour, the sage of Medinah, and Manager Otto Guenther took second place with 81—13—68. The leading scores follow:

Tommy D. Armour and Otto H. Guenther, Medinah	81	13	68
Matt Matteson and Nick Huegel, Ridge	79	7	72
Jock Hutchison and Frank Murray, Glenview	85	11	74
Steve Grady and Russell Miller, Evanston	86	11	75
Alex Law and Worrell, Elmhurst	88	13	75
Jim Foulis, Hinsdale and Bill Coyne, Ruth Lake	91	15	76
Orville Schell and Fob Dioguardi, River Forest	82	4	78
Harry Adams, Medinah, and Charles Bangs, Oak Park	84	5	79

Chicago district golfers will see a newer and considerably tougher No. 3 course when they play Medinah's championship layout next year. The No. 3 lot has been closed for the year, and work already begun on two lengthening changes which will make the first and eighteenth holes real problems. The first will be increased by 20 yards, with the green moved slightly to the left, while the eighteenth will be 40 yards longer. The par of 71 will remain unchanged.

Mr. Armour, one of the most thorogoing sports fans in golf, aims to catch a fish or two when he heads next week for his winter station in Boca Raton, Fla. Thomas, having viewed the Chicago Bears in their romp against the Cardinals on Oct. 15, can't understand how the Bruins lost to the New York Giants on Sunday. He also is perplexed by the ultimate fate of the Chicago Maroons, and regards the plight of the kids who are going out for football on the Midway as genuinely pathetic.

Tom went on to say that if the present caliber of Maroon football continues, he will choose up 11 golfers and challenge the lads out south. His fairway eleven would consist of Bobby Cruickshank, his old Scotch school chum, at quarter; Sam Snead and Dick Metz at the halves; powerful Jamie Thomson at full back; Byron Nelson and Henry Picard at the ends; Victor Ghezzi and Felix Serafin at tackles; John Bulla and John Revolta at guards, and Johnny Rogers of Denver at center. Armour would have Walter Hagen as coach, with Gene Sarazen and Joe Ezar as assistants.

Al Sargent, son of George, former national open champion, will be professional next year at the Hinsdale Golf club. Al comes from the Inverness club of Toledo, where Byron Nelson takes over as pro April 1. Dave Foulis, a familiar Chicago district figure for 40 years, who has been pro at Hinsdale, will continue as greenkeeper.

50 AUTO DRIVERS ENTER MIDGET RACES SUNDAY

Fifty drives from all parts of the United States will gather at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 5200 Cottage Grove avenue, Sunday night to open the national indoor midget auto racing season. The program will include eight events.

Most prominent among the drivers who will compete is Harry MacQuinn of Indianapolis, national indoor champion in 1938-1939 and 1939-1940. During his march to the title last year MacQuinn won five consecutive main events, a national record.

Purdue Takes Hard Workout for Santa Clara

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 23 [Special].—Santa Clara's brilliant 7 to 0 victory over St. Mary's, conqueror of California and Gonzaga, provided added impetus to Purdue's drill this afternoon as the Boilermakers went thru their only full practice session in preparation for the intersectional clash with the Broncos at San Francisco on Saturday. The Boilermakers, who took to the air effectively to defeat Michigan State last Saturday, 20 to 7, will have only a curtailed drill tomorrow afternoon before going to the Pacific coast for the first time in history.

Coach Mal Elward expressed the hope this afternoon that Jack Brown, versatile senior left half back, and Carl Verplank, veteran right guard, both of whom were unable to play against the Spartans because of injuries, would be able to resume their places in the lineup against Santa Clara's strong combination.

Most of Purdue's preparation for the Santa Clara encounter will be of the skull session variety while the train is speeding toward San Francisco. The Boilermakers will not arrive on the coast until Friday morning in time for a pre-game workout in the afternoon.

STATE LOOKS AHEAD.

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 23 [Special.]—The Michigan State football squad today hoped they will meet with more success in the last half of the season than in the first four games. The Spartans, after an opening day victory, have been defeated by Michigan, Marquette and Purdue.

Next Saturday they will face Illinois Wesleyan in what the Spartans trust will be a breather before they resume heavy warfare against four major opponents. After the Illinois Wesleyan game, State will meet Syracuse and Santa Clara on the road before returning to East Lansing where they will finish the season against Indiana and Temple.

Nonebetters Take Bowling Match from Joseph Gills

The Nonebetters beat the Joseph Gills three straight games with an aggregate score of 3,131 to 2,934 last night in the Windy City Bowling league alleys, 2101 South Cicero avenue. The Nonebetters' total was built by games of 1,015, 1,038, and 1,081. Mike Marinello rolled high series of 692.

Ohio State Team Appears Fit to Oppose Cornell

Columbus, O., Oct. 23 [Special].—Determined to uphold the prestige of the Western conference, Ohio State went to work in earnest today for its meeting with Cornell in an intersectional game here Saturday.

More than 5,000 Columbus residents and students met the team upon its return last night, and led by the 120 piece marching band, paraded up High street to the campus.

All of the Buckeyes came out of the Minnesota game without serious injury with the exception of Jim Daniell, left tackle, who received a bruised leg muscle, and according to Trainer Tucker P. Smith, may be kept on the sidelines in the Cornell game.

CORNELL USES SOPH.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP).—A sophomore, Ray Jenning, was on the varsity today as Cornell reviewed its offense and worked against Ohio State plays. He filled in at right end in place of Alva Kelley, who injured his hip in the Penn State game Saturday.

JOE LOUIS TO BOX MONDAY.

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 23 (AP).—Promoter Archie Hindman said tonight that Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, would meet Willie Snell of Chicago and George Nicholson of Binghamton, N. Y., in two-round exhibition bouts here next Monday night.

Notre Dame's effective reverse plays with Zontini and Piepul carrying were not used as frequently in the first half. Notre Dame did use a short kick formation, shifting into this from the regular starting alignment of three backs in a row with the quarter back a step to his right of the center. While blocking assignments and the flexibility of the ends have not been altered, Notre Dame this year consistently has used the short punt formation, a deviation from previous years when the short kick formation was the exception.

Gain 419 Yards in 66 Plays.

Bob Saggau, Ben Sheridan, and Harry Stevenson, left half backs, carried the ball against Navy 22 times. Zontini and Bernie Crimmins carried 25 times. Joe Thesing and Piepul carried 19 times. Notre Dame gained 419 yards in these 26 plays.

Zontini, Stevenson, Sheridan, and Saggau divided the seven pass plays between them. Sheridan drew credit for the only gain when Umpire John Schommer ruled interference in the second period and gave the Irish a 13 yard gain. But Sheridan might have had two completions if his right end, John O'Brien, had not dropped short passes intended to gain just enough to make first down. After the first of these failures, John Kelleher failed on his attempt for a field goal.

Record of Irish Backs.

	C.	G.	P.	G.P.	K.
Saggau, L. H.	14	68	2	0	4
Sheridan, L. H.	5	63	3	13	0
Stevenson, L. H.	3	5	1	0	0
Thesing, F. B.	5	10	0	0	0
Piepul, F. B.	14	110	0	0	0

C.—Times carried ball. G.—Gained. P.—Times passed. G.P.—Gained by passes. K.—Times punted.

Notre Dame, in four games, has attempted 26 forward passes and completed eight [including completion by interference.] The average is .308. Notre Dame's four opponents have tried 58 passes and completed 28 [including completion by interference.] This average is .483.

Charges Weak Maroon Eleven Hurts University

The football team at the University of Chicago is making the university a big joke in the eyes of the American people, the Daily Maroon, student newspaper, charged yesterday in an editorial, suggesting that the university's alumni should do something about it. The editorial asserted:

Although "a university's renown depends on its reputation as an educational institution and a football team is only accidental to an educational institution, when an accident becomes an impediment it should be removed. We are getting to be a big joke in the eyes of the American people and a sore spot to the alumni. The accident has made the university look silly. The alumni have their problem."

Last Saturday the Chicago football team was defeated, 85 to 0, by Michigan after suffering a record breaking loss the previous week from Harvard, 61 to 0.

The Maroons will be idle this week. They meet the University of Virginia in Charlottesville on Nov. 4 in their only road game of the season.

Hughes Keeps Coaching Job for 29 Years

Fort Collins, Colo., Oct. 23 (AP).—Harry Hughes just wants to go along as he has for 29 years, coaching football at Colorado State and "having fun doing it."

Harry is tall and friendly, with far fewer gray hairs in his well-thatched head than any veteran coach is supposed to have. Yet he has won more service stripes at one school than any coach in the nation who is still with the college where he began his stretch.

He started here at Colorado State in 1911, when he was 23, just out of Oklahoma university, and never has changed his address.

"But I'm not aiming at any records, either for years of service or championships," Hughes said. "I love to coach football and I want to keep on doing it here as long as things keep going as pleasantly as they have."

It isn't too hard to picture the former star punter of the Oklahoma flatlands plugging along here at the agricultural college near the mountains until he has passed A. A. Stagg's long service record at Chicago. That would take 13 more years and Harry would be 65.

Football is tougher on the boys nowadays, Hughes believes, and by the same token harder on the coaches.

"It requires twice as much time for the players as it did even 10 years ago," he said. "More deception, more finesse. Added to that, scholastic requirements at this school are a third again as exacting as they were 10 years ago.

"Boys playing football and carrying a full scholastic load are entitled to some consideration. A good, hot meal every night, or something like that. Surely that isn't subsidizing football players."

All he wants, he said, are teams that "will give the other fellow a good fight."

On a weekday afternoon recently, golfers at the picturesque Golfmoor Country Club at 5000 West 79th Street, were asked to taste Meister Bräu Beer, compare its flavor with other beers, and then vote their preference by secret ballot. These outdoor-sports lovers voted Meister Bräu their choice of bottled beers by the amazing majority of 9 to 1.

In the picture is shown W. C. Gorman, Golfmoor professional and owner of Gorman's Practice Course at 5600 W. Ogden Ave., Cicero, giving a demonstration on driving to Edward Zaukas, 3209 S. Union Ave., John J. Galman, 3229 S. Lituanica Crt., Frank Miller, 3211 S. Union Ave., and John M. Zaukas, 2511 W. 69th St.

All-Grain Flavor Gives This Beer Its Amazing Popularity Independent Investigator Finds

"What bottled beer leads in sales?" This question was asked leading beer retailers by Chicago newspapers. They reported Meister Bräu away out in front by leads varying from 2 to 1 to 10 to 1. The Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation was asked to verify this amazing popularity and to find out the reason for it by holding taste-and-compare tests and secret balloting where groups of men and women gather.

The results of these tests show that Meister Bräu holds this astonishing preference because of its old-time, all-grain flavor. They show also that Chicago men and women appreciate the refusal of Richard Seibold, brewmaster, to add sugars or syrups to his brew even though he could save money by so doing.

XANTHEIN SAVES RACING ROUT FOR DENEMARK TRIO

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The Denemark Stable mobilized all its power in an attempt to win three races yesterday at Sportsman's park. Trainer Dan Womeldorff sent Dressy into the third event on the program, Savitar into the fourth, and Xanthein in the fifth. All three were established as favorites in the betting, the last two being picked by the consensus of public handicappers. The stable strengthened its bid by giving all three mounts to Jockey T. P. Martin, one of the most successful of the half mile track riders.

For a time it seemed as though the effort was going to fail completely for Dressy was forced back in a jam on the first turn and never again became a factor. Savitar appeared to have the fourth secure until Grecian Time came charging thru the stretch to take it away from the Denemark colorbearer by the margin of a nose.

Xanthein Beats Joyride.

The entire job thereupon fell to Xanthein in the Monee handicap, a six and a half furlong dash which headed the program. This three year old grey gelding did the job at which his stablemates had failed. After going to the post at 8 to 5, he led all the way and won by four lengths.

The Monee handicap brought out an odd assortment of six horses which had been running at claiming prices of $1,250 to $2,800. Xanthein had been competing in a higher grade than any of his rivals and had no trouble holding them at a safe distance at every stage of the race. Joyride made a brief challenge at the head of the stretch but Xanthein under mild urging, quickly drew away. Joyride beat Monon Lad by two lengths for second place.

Grecian Time Wins by Nose.

In beating Savitar in the six and one-half furlongs fourth race, Grecian Time came from far back after acting badly at the post and breaking slowly. Honey Seat made a brief bid at setting the pace, but Savitar took the lead away from her as they came past the stands the first time. He increased his advantage to two lengths on the run down the back stretch.

As they headed home, Lovely Sister challenged him, but he disposed of her at the 16th pole and appeared to have the race when Grecian Time, which had been working up gradually from eighth place, closed with such speed that he dropped his nose under the wire inches in advance of Savitar.

Bluefield Victor in Third.

Dressy was running fairly close to the leaders when she encountered that trouble in the third race. Meanwhile George Oros was sending Bluefield out to take command. This 4 year old filly quickly drew out to a good lead, then withstood Happy Road's challenge in the stretch to win by a little less than a length. Born Lucky was third.

Today will be John Barrymore day at Sportsman's Park, the program being headed by the Barrymore purse, a five furlong dash which has brought out a field of fairly good 2 year olds.

COWBOYS, GIRLS TO ELECT IDEAL RIDER IN RODEO

Cowboys and cowgirls of the rodeo show at the Chicago Stadium are holding an unique election this week. They are going to choose the man who comes closest to their ideal of the cowboy's cowboy.

Before the show closes Sunday night they will present a trophy to the winner. Equal suffrage prevails among the riders; both cowboys and cowgirls will cast their ballots.

Frank Van Meter of Weiser, Idaho, won the steer wrestling event on last night's program in 8 8-10 seconds. The best time thus far in this event is the .07.6 effort of Bud McCracken, Trail City, S. D. The world mark is 6¾ seconds.

SKATERS TAKE FINAL DRILL FOR ROLLER DERBY

Ten teams of roller skaters will finish preparations in the Coliseum today for the Roller Derby which opens tomorrow night.

Ten skaters representing Chicago will skate against ten representing Canada in the Derby, and all are anxious to test out the new banks on the eighteen lap oval which is the fastest track ever erected for a Roller Derby.

Wright Junior College Golfers to Meet Joliet

Wright Junior college golfers will meet tomorrow at the Crystal Lawn country club in a playoff due to several ties in the Illinois junior college conference standings. Wright will attempt to avenge a 9 to 3 defeat administered by Joliet golfers earlier in the season. Members of the Wright squad are Capt. Bob Komos, David Mose, Jerry Ziomek, and Burton Cook.

ZANE GREY DIES; FAMED FOR HIS TALES OF WEST

Death Caused by Sudden Heart Seizure.

Zane Grey.

He is survived by his widow, the former Lina Elise Roth, and three children, Romer, Loren, and Betty, who is Mrs. Robert W. Carney.

Grey, who deserted dentistry after four years of unsuccessful practice in New York, wrote at the amazing rate of 100,000 words a month, never revising his manuscripts. Mrs. Grey attended to all revision.

Writes Fifty Novels.

The writer, whose most spectacularly successful book, "Riders of the Purple Sage," appeared in 1912, still was producing fiction regularly 35 years after publication of his first novel, "Betty Zane," in 1904. He is credited with more than 50 novels.

His death coincided with the appearance of his newest work, "Western Union," a tale of the development of the nation's telegraphic system.

Grey was born Jan. 31, 1875, at Zanesville, Ohio. His father, Lewis M. Grey, was an Ohio backwoodsman, preacher and physician. Thru his mother, Alice Josephine Zane, he was descended from Col. Ebenezer Zane, a Danish exile who crossed the Atlantic with William Penn. Col. Zane married a woman of partial Indian blood and fathered four sons and a daughter who won recognition in revolutionary and frontier days.

Early Writings Fail.

Zane's early books were notably unsuccessful—he wrote one novel three times without selling it.

The first literary money maker, "The Heritage of the Desert," appeared in 1910. "Riders of the Purple Sage," laid in Utah, met with great antagonism from the Mormons. That novel sold almost a million copies and was made into a motion picture as were many of his other novels.

STATES COUNCIL ELECTS MISSOURI GOVERNOR CHIEF

Election of Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri as president of the Council of State Governments was announced yesterday at the council's headquarters, 1313 East 60th street. Gov. Stark succeeds Gov. Robert L. Cochran of Nebraska.

The council is a quasi-governmental agency organized to promote interstate coöperation. Other officers elected were Ellwood J. Turner, speaker of the Pennsylvania house of representatives, who will be chairman of the board of managers, and first vice president; State Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Massachusetts, second vice president, and Frank Finney, Indiana motor vehicle commissioner, third vice president.

Simeon E. Leland, chairman of the Illinois state tax commission, was named auditor, and Frank Bane of Chicago executive director.

A Reckless Flyer Leaves Fingerprints on Window

Occupants of the Chicago Temple building, 77 West Washington street, were puzzling yesterday over the species of a strange bird which left the imprint of its wings and body when it apparently dashed at full speed against the window of a vacant office on the ninth floor. The feathery imprint was marked against the window in crusted white powder. Whether the powder was picked up in flight or was part of the pigmentation of the bird's feathers was not known. The bird's wingspread was 20 inches and it measured 10 inches from head to tail.

Son and Daughter Share William A. Brown Estate

The will of William A. Brown, president of the Liquid Carbonic corporation and chairman of the Service Caster and Truck company of Albion, Mich., was admitted to probate yesterday. It divides an estate of $60,000 between a son, William A. Brown Jr. of New York, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary N. Vacin of Albion. Brown died at the age of 61, Oct. 16, at his home, 181 North Grove avenue, Oak Park.

Child Dies as She Topples Over While Drinking Milk

Joan Janouskovec, 4 years old, 1929 South 57th court, Cicero, died last night in an unusual accident in her home. While sitting in a chair and drinking a glass of milk she accidentally toppled backward to the floor. Efforts of a physician and an inhalator squad failed to revive her. Police said they could not tell the cause of death. There were no marks indicating a fatal injury. Police said she may have been strangled by a last swallow of milk as she fell.

OBITUARIES

Sam Harrison.

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—Sam Harrison, theatrical company manager, died last night of a heart ailment. He was 75 years old. Harrison was well known on Broadway because of the hit shows he managed. For 23 years, from 1907 to 1930, he worked for Florenz Ziegfeld and Klaw & Erlanger at the New Amsterdam theater, and virtually every star of the stage came under his direction. He retired seven years ago.

Dr. George R. E. Williams.

Funeral services for Dr. George R. E. Williams, a dentist in Chicago for more than 37 years before his retirement two years ago, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon in the First Methodist church of Oak Park. Burial will be in Rosehill Cemetery. Dr. Williams, who was 65 years old, died last Saturday in his home at Coral Gables, Fla., where he had been since Sept. 1. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Frances Jerome Williams, and a sister and four brothers.

Frank H. Tracy.

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 23 (AP).—Frank H. Tracy, 81 years old, noted among penologists for his development of the "honor system" under which jail prisoners were enabled to earn money for their families at work outside the jail, died last night.

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 23 [Special].—Mrs. Eloise Spoor Morgan, 64 years old, well known violinist and organist, died today at the home of a son, Paul Morgan. She had been organist at the First Church of Christ Scientist here the last 25 years.

Doctor's Wife Loses $800 Bracelet While Visiting

Mrs. Mae Levinson, 934 Agatite avenue, the wife of Dr. Benjamin Levinson, a physician, yesterday reported to the Summerdale police the loss of an $800 diamond studded bracelet. She said she was visiting friends and suddenly noticed the bracelet was gone.

George Schrage.

Funeral services for George Schrage, 81 years old, president of the Cicero and Proviso Ice company, will be held today at 2 p. m. in the chapel at 17 Madison street, Oak Park. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery. Mr. Schrage died Friday in the Presbyterian hospital. He lived at 5424 Madison street. He was a former fire chief and city treasurer of Menash, Wis., where he captained the village baseball team before coming here 40 years ago. Surviving are his widow, Katherine; two daughters, and a son.

Robert W. Phillips.

Funeral services for Robert W. Phillips, retired statistician in the operating department of the Rock Island Lines, will be held at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow from his home at 4736 Gladys avenue to Resurrection church. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery. Mr. Phillips, who was 70 years old, died at home Sunday after a long illness. He retired last April 1. He had been with the railroad 36 years. Surviving are his widow, Janina, and a brother, the Rev. Patrick Phillips, a Jesuit missionary.

Maj. Onorio Moretti.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 23 (AP).—Maj. Onorio Moretti, 58 years old, U. S. A., retired, died today in Naval hospital after a brief illness. A veteran of the Spanish and world wars, Maj. Moretti was best known in military circles as co-author of a text book on field artillery training known in army circles as "Moretti's Bible." He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Zelma Moretti of Fort Collins, Colo., three daughters, and five sons.

Miss Ritamae Schart.

Funeral services for Miss Ritamae Schart, a student at the Pestalozzi-Froebel Teachers college, will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5200 North Western avenue. Miss Schart, who was 20 years old, died Sunday in Presbyterian hospital. She was the only child of Ernest E. and Madeline Schart, 4862 North Talman avenue. Mr. Schart is a commercial photographer.

ESCAPING STEAM KILLS 5 BABIES IN JERSEY HOSPITAL

Perth Amboy, N. J., Oct. 23 (AP).—Escaping steam, released from a radiator valve which Acting Police Chief Frank Seiboth said had been repaired with adhesive tape, killed five infants today in a nursery of Perth Amboy General hospital. One other infant was revived. Seiboth said Raymond C. Hunt, heating engineer, reported "the condition of the valve was so bad that the thread had little or no holding power." Coroner James Flynn Jr. said the deaths were due to asphyxiation by steam.

Miss Sarah Van Gelder, hospital superintendent, said the steam exhausted the supply of oxygen in the room between 1:30 a. m., when the nurse in charge made a routine check of the nursery temperature, and 2 a. m., when she returned to take the babies to their mothers for feeding.

The dead infants were the 5 day old son of Sergt. and Mrs. John Rigg of Raritan arsenal, the 9 day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jankowski of Woodbridge, the 6 day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hatareck of Perth Amboy, the 10 day daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ruszala of Perth Amboy, and the 40 day old daughter of an unwed mother.

Mrs. Angie Rice Hulbert Will $75,000 to Relatives

The will of Mrs. Angie Rice Hulbert, 4717 Greenwood avenue, widow of Charles Pratt Hulbert, plumbing supplies dealer, was admitted to probate yesterday. It disposes of an estate of $75,000, of which $10,000 is bequeathed to Mrs. Elizabeth Pattison, 1127 East 81st street, sister of Mr. Hulbert; $20,000 to Mrs. Genevieve Kenyon, Bloomfield, Conn., daughter of Mrs. Pattison; $5,000 to Louise A. Tobey, Great Barrington, Mass., a cousin, and the residue to Mrs. Wallace Bryant, Rockport, Mass., cousin of Mrs. Hulbert. Mrs. Hulbert died Oct. 13 at Excelsior Springs, Mo., at the age of 78.

CHRYSLER OPTION ON RADIO FIRM'S SHARES EXPIRES

Expect Disclosure Today of His Decision.

Walter P. Chrysler Jr., son of the chairman of the Chrysler corporation, will indicate today whether he has exercised his option to purchase 225,000 shares of $1 par capital stock of the Majestic Radio and Television corporation, Chicago. The reported price under the option was $1.12½ a share.

Young Chrysler had until yesterday to complete arrangements for the purchase. The company, however, was unable to report whether he had acted on the option and indicated that announcement of his decision would be made by his own office today.

Would Be Largest Holder.

If the transaction is consummated, Chrysler will become the owner of the largest single block of the radio company's stock, of which 550,000 shares are now outstanding. He will also have the right to acquire additional 75,000 shares in instalments of 15,000 each before March 1, 1941, at the same price.

The option was granted Sept. 25 after Chrysler had loaned $100,000 to the company for working capital thru an intermediary, the Allied International Investing corporation, large stockholder of the company.

May Enlarge Board.

The note for the $100,000 loan will be considered as part payment for the stock purchase, it was said. If Chrysler completes the purchase, it was understood, the board of directors of Majestic will be enlarged from six to nine members to allow him representation. Allied International has also agreed conditionally to permit him to act as a proxy for its voting rights.

Majestic Radio has a plant and offices at 2600 West 50th street. It manufactures and receiving sets.

STEEL OUTPUT OFF FIRST TIME SINCE LABOR DAY

After pushing steadily upward during the spring and summer, and spurting sharply in September following the outbreak of war, steel operations this week are scheduled to decline 0.1 point to 90.2 per cent of theoretical capacity, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated yesterday.

The decline from the preceding week will be the first since the Labor day holiday reduced operating schedules at the beginning of September. With that exception it was the first decline since June 12.

Steel men pointed out that, with most mills operating at practical capacity, it would be difficult to advance the national rate much above its present level, and that closing down of any furnaces for alterations or repairs could easily reduce the rate.

DAY by DAY on the FARM — by HOMER CROISZ

Corn Yield Declines.

Oct. 23, 1939.

CORN yields at the Du Page county farm are running well below early estimates. It appears now that the yield per acre will be lower than those of last year and the year before. Exceptionally high yields were predicted during the growing season, but too many stalks produced only one ear for these predictions to be borne out at picking time. The quality of the corn is good.

Part of the crop was planted this year with a checkrow planter and part was drilled. The drilled corn will yield the most. The usual practice at the farm is to drill corn instead of checking it, but a checker was used this year in some fields that had been broken out of sod so that the crop could be cultivated both ways.

Picking Is Tough Job.

Corn picking has been a tough job this fall because of the exceptionally dry stalks and husks. The corn is being picked by hand and the rough, dry husks wear out gloves in a hurry. They are too harsh for bare hands. The harvesters expect to have all the corn in the cribs by the middle of this week.

The corn is so dry that many grains are shelled off as the husked ears thump against the bangboards on the wagon boxes. Workers fear there may be too much shelled corn in the cribs for the corn to keep well without cooler weather. Shelled corn fills in the open spaces between the ears and interferes with the circulation of air thru the corn.

Many farmers in the neighborhood are reported to be having trouble with mechanical pickers because of the dry husks on the corn. The machines are not doing their usual clean job of husking the ears after they are snapped off the stalks.

Do Better When Damp.

Mechanical pickers are said to do better work when the husks are damp so that they cling to the husking rollers that tear them off the ears. When the husks are too dry many ears that are not husked clean by the snapping rollers pass on over the husking rollers and into the wagon without all the husks being removed.

Fifty-three acres of winter wheat sown on the farm this fall is making a good start because of the continued lack of adequate moisture. Occasional light rains during the last three weeks have supplied sufficient moisture to sprout the grain, but more is needed for the young plants to make normal growth.

Wheat Growth Spotty.

The 23 acres of wheat that was sown on land where oats had been cut for silage is suffering the least. The surface soil there has retained the scant moisture better than that in the fields that were broken out of sod during the summer and where soy beans were plowed under this fall.

Growth is spotted even on the corn land with the wheat much greener and taller in low spots than on the higher ground.

INDUSTRY GIVES MORE SIGNS OF PUSHING AHEAD

Lockheed's 9 Month Sales 23 Millions.

Sales of the Lockheed Aircraft corporation amounted to $23,975,523 in the first nine months of 1939, compared with $7,956,527 in the corresponding period of last year, Robert E. Gross, president, reported yesterday. His announcement was one of several made during the day which illustrated the extent of the industrial expansion now under way.

Ambassador de Saint Quentin says France may buy horses.

Gross said the corporation's factory at Burbank, Cal., is operating nearly at capacity. He reported that the company had orders for 30 million dollars' worth of airplanes and equipment on its books at the close of September. Sales for all of last year were $10,274,503.

John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, reported to President Roosevelt, at the latter's request, on the railroad situation. He told the President that business has improved sharply and that the current volume of freight loadings is the largest in nine years, reaching 844,955 cars for the week ended Oct. 14.

Nearly Up to 1918 Level.

Pelley said after the conference that the President "seemed very much pleased" with the showing being made by the carriers. Commenting on the freight figures, Pelley said: "The point of interest to me is that we are nearly at the level of the carloadings in 1918, the last year of the world war. The picture looks very good. I am no economist, but I think things are on the up and up. We went from pretty near famine in August to feast in September.

He said there is no shortage of cars at the present time and that the railroads, in an effort to forestall any possible shortage, now have 65,000 new cars under construction.

"We are going to meet any demand that we may be called upon to meet for transportation," Pelley said. "There is no need for anybody being uneasy about ability of the railroads to handle the traffic problem."

Baldwin's Orders Climb.

An indication of the railroads' extensive program of rehabilitation was furnished by the September report of the Baldwin Locomotive works and subsidiaries. The dollar value of orders taken in during the month was $8,182,650, against $1,946,689 a year ago, bringing the total for the first nine months of the year up to $46,532,058, from $20,611,079 in the corresponding interval last year.

The Erie railroad announced it had awarded orders for 17,425 tons of rails. Bethlehem Steel corporation will supply 2,269 tons, Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation 13,945 and Inland Steel company, 1,211.

The advance in steel industry operations, which has required new steel making equipment, was reflected in a report of the United Engineering and Foundry company of Pittsburgh. K. C. Gardner, vice president, said the company's business in supplying equipment has increased about 25 per cent since the European war began.

Steel Firm to Modernize.

The Columbia Steel company, west coast subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, has begun a million dollar modernization program as a result of the spurt in operations, which are now at capacity.

Facilities costing $6,300,000 and designed to increase its generating capacity by 12.4 per cent are being built for the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company.

The French government, which last Friday ordered 2,000 trucks from an American manufacturer, placed another order in the United States, contracting for 1,500 to 2,000 trucks from the White Motor company. The final total will depend on the number the company is able to deliver by Jan. 1, 1940, it was announced.

France also is buying shoes, blankets and other army supplies, and may place large orders for horses in America, Count Rene de Saint Quentin, French ambassador, said in Washington.

This'll Make Army Bitter.

Meantime the United States treasury, preparing to stock up the army and navy on quinine, asked for bids. They will be opened Nov. 15 on quantities ranging from 500,000 to 800,000 ounces of quinine sulfate, to be delivered either at New York or the army medical depot at St. Louis, Mo.

Reports from Washington stressed the possibility of United States companies' obtaining new business in Latin American countries as a result of the war and the closing of usual avenues of commerce with Europe.

A department of commerce survey showed that representatives of American companies in Colombia had reported "vastly increased bookings," particularly with their regular customers, who are stocking up in fear of further curtailment of shipping.

Practically all outstanding orders with Germany have been canceled, the department reported. How much industrial machinery of the United States will be purchased by Latin American countries will depend on the southern countries' ability to find a market for their raw materials, of which 10 per cent formerly went to Germany, the department said.

New Pay Chief Says He Is No Crackdowner

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—Col. Philip Fleming, army engineer, took over administration of the wage-hour law today, on the eve of a statutory change in the law's standards.

Beginning tomorrow the minimum wage rate under the law becomes 30 cents instead of 25 cents an hour, and the maximum work week, unless time and a half overtime is paid, becomes 42 instead of 44 hours.

Officials estimated that the changes would mean pay increases for 690,000 workers and a shortening of the work week for 2,380,000.

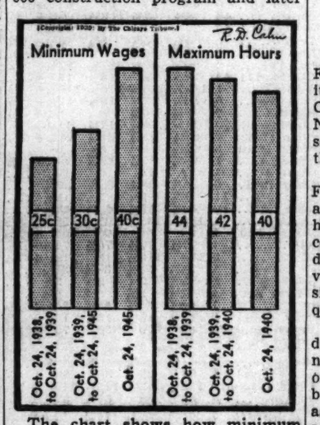
Tells His Theory of Dealing.

"I am not a crackdowner," he asserted. "I think you can achieve your ends in other ways. There comes a time when you might have to crack down, but you can sit down and talk to people across the table and achieve your ends without resort to drastic means."

Fleming, who had experience with both labor and industry through executive work on the PWA's $3,300,000,000 construction program and later on the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project, said:



The chart shows how minimum wages are increasing as maximum work hours go down, as provided in the wages and hours law.

"My past relations with labor and industry have been pleasant. I think I have a reputation for fair dealing and that is what I intend to continue."

Has Job but Not the Title.

Fleming will be the head of the wage-hour administration in fact, but not in title. He was selected by President Roosevelt to succeed Administrator Elmer F. Andrews, who resigned. But because federal statutes prohibit army officers on active duty from taking an elective or appointive position in the government, Fleming will not hold the title of wage-hour administrator unless congress makes special provision for his case.

Questioned about his status, Fleming said:

Until congress acts on Fleming's status, the title of acting administrator will be held by Harold D. Jacobs, who was deputy administrator under Andrews.

SWISS, DUTCH TRADE HARDEST HIT BY WAR, LEAGUE STUDY SHOWS

GENEVA, Oct. 23 (AP).—A league of nations bulletin giving the first general statistical information on the war's effect on world trade showed today that Switzerland and Holland have suffered most among the neutrals.

Swiss exports in September, as compared to August, dropped 54 per cent and Holland's fell 27 per cent, the bulletin said. The Swiss franc and the Dutch florin [guilder], however, held strong in terms of the United States dollar, the Belgian belga, and South American currencies through September. The British pound, French franc, and Japanese yen dropped.

Import and export figures for Italy and Germany were not given for August and September.

China led the rest of the world in increases in both imports and exports with what the bulletin called "astounding rises" of 42 per cent for imports and 26 per cent for exports.

The bulletin did not explain the rise in Chinese figures, which compared August and September with June and July.

Next to China in export gains was the United States' 13 per cent increase in September over August. Argentina showed a gain of 7 per cent and Japan 3 per cent.

FARISH DEFENDS OIL FIRMS; COMPETITION PREVAILS, HE SAYS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—William S. Farish, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, told the federal monopoly committee today that executives of most major oil companies "lean over backwards" to avoid any basis for suspicion of "collusive action" in the industry. Farish appeared as the final witness for the American Petroleum institute.

"Executives of major oil companies are not indifferent to complaints about unfair competition," he said. "Executives do have a sense of public responsibility. They would indeed be lacking in understanding if they did not recognize the extent to which suspicion of collusive action has continued as a heritage from the old Standard Oil truce."

Farish said no drastic overturn of established business relationships would be justified in the oil industry.

"There is competition," he said, "and that competition has been in the public interest."

The witness told the committee there are many opportunties for small, independent operators in most branches of the industry.

FORD MOTOR ASKS COURT DISMISS ORDER OF NLRB

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 23 (AP).—The Ford Motor company renewed today its plea that the 6th United States Circuit Court of Appeals dismiss a National Labor Relations board order seeking to require its compliance with the Wagner labor act.

An answer and cross petition by Ford charged that the board's trial examiner was "abusive and partisan in his conduct toward counsel for the company" and that the board order, dated Dec. 22, 1937, was "invalid and void because the board failed to consider facts and circumstances required to be considered."

The NLRB instructed Ford to cease discouraging membership in the international union, United Auto Workers of America, and to reinstate with back pay 24 employés discharged for asserted union activity. The NLRB asked the Circuit Court of Appeals for an order enforcing its decree in January, 1938.

AUTO PAYMENTS STANDARD SET BY SALES GROUP

The National Association of Sales Finance companies yesterday approved standard instalment credit terms covering the purchase of new and used automobiles. A minimum down payment of 33⅓ per cent of the cash delivered price, including accessories and equipment, was recommended for new cars, with the balance payable in the shortest possible time, not exceeding 18 monthly payments.

For used cars not more than 2 years old, the association recommended a minimum down payment of 33⅓ per cent of the selling price and the same time limit. A down payment of one-third was indorsed for cars more than 2 years old, but the proposed time for payment of the balance was reduced to 12 months.

ENGLAND, CANADA SEND MORE GOLD TO THIS COUNTRY

Imports of gold yesterday totaled $6,179,000, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported. Shipments arriving at New York consisted of $6,158,000 from England and $21,000 from Canada.

The price of foreign mined silver at New York was advanced ⅝ cent an ounce to 36⅛ cents. At London, silver was quoted unchanged from Friday's price of 23¼ pence, equivalent to 41.94 cents an ounce on the basis of $4.03 for sterling.

Timm Aircraft Common Stock Goes on Market

New York, Oct. 23 [Special].—An issue of 425,000 shares of $1 par value common stock of the Timm Aircraft corporation will be offered to the public tomorrow by G. Brashears & Co., at $1 a share. Part of the proceeds will be used for purchase of all the rights to the Hughes Aircraft company's design No. 1 airplane, which holds a transcontinental nonstop flight record and a land plane record of 352.388 miles an hour. The Timm company is at Van Nuy, Cal.

Ruling Is Delayed on Atlas Plan for Utilities Power

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday postponed until Friday his decision on the plan of the Atlas corporation for reorganization of Utilities Power and Light corporation. The plan has been approved by Harry N. Gottlieb, special master in chancery, and by the Securities and Exchange commission.

TREASURY CUTS INTEREST RATE ON NOTE OFFER

Seeks Exchange of Maturing Issue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today announced the offering of 1 per cent four year treasury notes in exchange for the 526 million dollars in 1¾ per cent notes maturing Dec. 15.

The rate of interest was lower than generally expected and was interpreted as a sign of confidence in the present condition of the bond market, which suffered sinking spells immediately following the outbreak of the European war.

Originally, the treasury intended to do the refunding along with some raising of new money on Sept. 15 in order to clear the way for some cash financing on Dec. 15 to help meet the heavy deficit for the current fiscal year. The refunding was postponed indefinitely because of market conditions.

Save $1,800,000 a Year.

In announcing the offering today, Morgenthau said that had it been a couple of weeks ago the new notes would have required the same rate as the maturing issue. Officials estimated the reduction in rate will save the treasury about $1,800,000 per year in interest costs.

The rate, however, is higher than that offered last June when 427 million in 1⅜ per cent notes, due on Sept. 15, were refunded into ⅝ of 1 per cent five year notes.

So far this fiscal year the treasury has not obtained new money thru heavy security offerings. Recently it boosted the weekly bill offerings by 50 million to 150 million dollars weekly, which until maturities catch up, will provide some extra cash to help maintain the treasury's working balance. This balance now amounts to 1 billion 237 million dollars and is used for meeting current expenses.

The budget had estimated that 3 billion 326 million dollars in new money thru borrowing would be necessary for this fiscal year but this estimate is now considered outmoded in view of heavy national defense appropriations. The deficit is placed close to 4 or 5 billion dollars.

Terms of Offering.

The new treasury 1 per cent notes of series B-1944 will be offered on a par for par basis, and accrued interest on the notes exchanged will be paid to Nov. 1, 1939. No cash subscriptions will be received. Any maturing notes not exchanged will be paid in cash when they mature. The new notes will be dated Nov. 1, 1939, and will mature March 15, 1944.

Morgenthau also announced tonight that the treasury would sell $150,000,000 of 91 day bills again next week. A similar amount was sold today for an average discount price of $99.993 per $100 unit. Today's selling rate was equivalent to 0.027 per cent interest, compared with an equivalent rate last week of 0.033 per cent.

Morgenthau promised to answer "in a day or two" a letter from Senator Vandenberg [R., Mich.], raising questions about the treasury's huge gold stocks, now exceeding $17,000,000,000. He said he would defend the gold policy and would answer the letter "only as a matter of courtesy to a United States senator."

OFFICE DEVICE MAKERS, DEALERS OPEN EXHIBITION

The annual national business show, sponsored by office equipment manufacturers and dealers from all over the United States, opened yesterday at Navy pier.

The show's exhibits of new office equipment and demonstrations of the latest methods of handling office detail yesterday attracted nearly 7,000 dealers, office workers and commercial teachers, it was reported. Most of the exhibits display office machinery in operation, including typewriters with special attachments, new corrective chairs, and equipment for use in schools.

The show will continue until midnight Friday.

Business Done by Checks Increases in Middle West

Checks written against individual deposit accounts of 159 banks in 41 leading clearing house cities in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district increased 12.4 per cent in the week ended Oct. 18, the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago announced yesterday. The total was 2 per cent below a year ago. Debits in the latest week totaled $1,185,601,000, compared with $1,055,007,000 in the preceding week and $1,209,222,000 a year ago. Chicago banks had debits of $636,337,000, against $581,446,000 in the preceding week and $710,305,000 a year ago.

Sears' Board Votes $1.25 as Extra Dividend

Directors of Sears, Roebuck & Co. yesterday declared an extra dividend of $1.25 per share on the capital stock, payable Dec. 11 to holders of record Nov. 10. The regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents was also declared, payable the same date. The declarations bring total 1939 dividends to $4.25.

Last year the big mail order company paid $3 in regular dividends and an extra of $2.50. The latter was paid Jan. 20, 1938. A total of $5.50 was also paid in 1937, and in 1936 the company paid $2 in regular dividends and an extra of $1.75.

Manhattan Shirt Pays Extra.

Manhattan Shirt company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents on the common stock, payable Dec. 1. Directors also declared a dividend of 25 cents, raising the rate of payment from the 20 cents paid in each of the three preceding quarters this year.

The Climax Molybdenum company declared an extra dividend of $1, payable Nov. 10 on the capital stock. Previously this year quarterly dividends of 30 cents each were paid Sept. 30, June 30, and March 31.

The H. W. Gossard company declared a dividend of 50 cents on the capital stock, payable Nov. 20. Previously this year three quarterly dividends of 25 cents each were paid.

GROUPS RESIST PLAN TO DIVIDE M. & ST. L. LINE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—Interests opposed to dividing the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad into two units told the interestate commerce commission today they feared it would mean abandonment of trackage in western Minnesota and South Dakota. They asked dismissal of an application for authority to split the road.

Railroad counsel, however, asserted the division was necessary to obtain a $5,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation loan, and disputed the abandonment idea, declaring it was "against self interest."

Representatives of the Minnesota and South Dakota railroad commissions and railroad communities in those states contended that destruction of more than 500 miles of trackage west and southwest of Minneapolis depended upon the I. C. C. decision.

CITIES SERVICE RATE ON NATURAL GAS IS PROBED

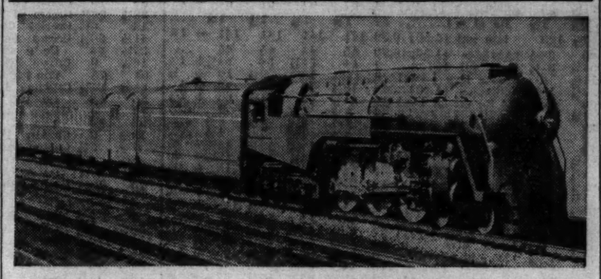
Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—An investigationu to determine whether rates of the Cities Service Gas company for transportation and sale of natural gas were "unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential" was announced today by the federal power commission.

The commission said that if, after a hearing, it should be found any of the rates or charges were unjust, it would determine and fix just and reasonable rates. The action followed a complaint by the public service commission of Missouri, which asked the commission last May to determine the fair price of gas sold by the company in eight Missouri counties and 58 communities.

Peabody's Stockholders Approve Capital Changes

Stockholders of the Peabody Coal company at a special meeting yesterday approved changes in the company's capital accounts by which $1,459,818 will be appropriated from paid-in surplus to eliminate a deficit of that amount in the earned surplus account.

New Streamliner Ready for Rails



Here is the newest of the many streamlined trains placed in operation by American railroads in the last few years. It is the New York Central's Mercury, which will begin daily service early next month between Chicago and Detroit. New mechanical features and new comforts for passengers are incorporated in the train. Its exterior is gray, with silver striping along the window zones.

INSULL UTILITY DIRECTORS ASK SUIT DISMISSAL

Dismissal of a suit against two directors of the defunct Insull Utility Investments, Inc., was sought yesterday in a petition filed before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson. The petition charged that a suit to recover principal and interest on defaulted debentures of the Insull company from its directors was begun in 1933 without the authority of the plaintiffs.

Attorney Floyd E. Thompson, representing Samuel Insull Jr. and H. L. Stuart, two of the 11 directors originally named as defendants, presented affidavits from many of the 29 persons listed as plaintiffs. These stated they never authorized Attorney Lewis F. Jacobson or any of his associates to bring the suit.

In answer to this claim, Attorney Roger Q. White filed an affidavit which asserted each of the plaintiffs had authorized the suit. White, associate of Jacobson in the suit, attached contracts signed by all the plaintiffs to his affidavit. Judge Wilkerson set Oct. 30 for a hearing on the motion.

GENERAL MOTORS TACTICS TOLD BY MORE DEALERS

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 23 [Special].—The antitrust trial of General Motors corporation entered its third week in federal court here today with the presentation of testimony of several present and former dealers. The witness testified the corporation tried to persuade them to handle their time sales thru General Motors Acceptance corporation, a General Motors subsidiary and one of the defendants in the case.

In presenting the witnesses Holmes Baldridge, chief government counsel, continued his efforts to prove, thru testimony of dozens of dealers or executives, that unless the dealers used G. M. A. C. in financing time sales they had difficulties with the corporation.

Grant T. Munson, Marion, Ind., still a Chevrolet dealer, said he was warned several times by Chevrolet officials to use G. M. A. C. E. W. Berger, Chevrolet zone manager, Indianapolis, told Munson the latter would not receive a contract for 1936 unless he promised to give more business to G. M. A. C., the witness said.

VIEWS GERMANY AS DEPENDENT IN VICTORY, DEFEAT

Neither victory nor defeat will solve Germany's economic problems, Dr. Melchoir Palyi told members of the Advertising Men's post of the American Legion yesterday at a luncheon meeting. Dr. Palyi, former economist of the German Reichsbank, said even in victory England and France will be forced to offer credit and trade to help the Germans help themselves.

Alterations by the empires in terms of credit and trade to Germany, Dr. Palyi asserted, would break down Hitler's ideas of the use of power and develop a lasting economy in Germany.

"The world's trade and economics have been sadly off balance for many years," he added, "and we must institute a lasting balance of the right to live decently for all peoples. Without this all important consideration, the whole world will still be the loser no matter how the war comes out."

REAL ESTATE MEN ASK RELIEF FROM FEDERAL TAXES, COMPETITION

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 23 (AP).—Relief from federal taxes and government housing competition were suggested to the National Association of Real Estate boards today as its principal objectives for 1940.

Herbert U. Nelson of Chicago, executive vice president of the organization, advanced the program in a report to its board of directors. The convention opens tomorrow.

"Chief suggestions have been that we urge the federal government to recognize the fact that real property is the main dependence of local government," Nelson told the board.

"This could be done either by abolition of the federal taxes on profits from resales of real estate, at least for a limited period, or by a system of offsets which will permit the crediting of real estate taxes in whole or in part against net federal taxes."

Of government activity in building, Nelson said: "Association officers have been advocating to congress and the United States housing authority that they stop appropriating money for direct building by government.

"We have been advocating that, instead, the powers and resources of the U. S. H. A. be used for actual clearance of slums and blighted areas, using its funds for land assembly and demolition of old structures in such areas."

ORDER BLOCKING TEXTILE PAY HIKE PUT INTO EFFECT

New Orleans, La., Oct. 23 (AP).—A federal court order, enjoining a pay increase in southern textile mills under the federal wage hour law, went into effect today.

The order was granted Saturday by Appellate Judge Rufus Foster on petition of only three mills, but court attachés said eventually about 200 southern mills would be affected. The ruling could apply only to mills in the jurisdiction of the court, which includes Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. Any such order in other states would have to be obtained from other courts.

The order was issued contingent upon posting of a $10,000 bond, a formality. Two $10,000 bonds were made this morning, by J. W. Sanders Cotton Mill, Inc., and the Aponaug Manufacturing company, both owned by J. W. Sanders of Jackson, Miss.

COAL INDUSTRY LEADER URGES PRICE ADVANCE

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal association, said today an advance in coal prices sufficient to "get the industry back on a profit basis ought to be approved and encouraged."

Battle said this should be done "for the sake of all concerned—and that includes the consumers," adding that the tendency toward higher prices "involves no profiteering." The statement was issued on the eve of the association's convention for which several hundred bituminous coal operators are gathered.

RISING PROFITS MADE BY FIRMS IN MANY LINES

Pills or Tractors, the Trend Is Upward.

Increased profits were disclosed in reports issued yesterday by corporations manufacturing a great variety of products, from pills and other pharmaceutical supplies to the heaviest types of industrial machinery.

The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company of Milwaukee, a representative of heavy industry, reported net profit of $943,450, equal to 53 cents a common share, for the September quarter, against $505,160, or 28 cents a share, in the corresponding 1938 period.

The company, which manufactures tractors and many other types of machinery, had 13,317 employés on its pay rolls at the close of last month, compared with 11,511 at the end of 1938 and 10,301 at the September date a year ago. Orders booked during the September quarter totaled $19,710,020, against $14,195,522 a year ago.

Nine Month Profit Lower.

Allis-Chalmers profits declined for the first nine months of the year, the company attributing the drop to a strike which closed some of its plants during May and June, and to reduced operations earlier in the year as a result of the business recession of late 1938. The nine month profit was $2,643,873, equal to $1.49 a share, against $3,384,219 a year ago, or $1.90 a share.

Altho shipmenets during the nine months declined to $57,014,052, from $64,975,115 a year ago, orders booked by the company advanced to $64,938,367, from $54,527,818 last year.

Abbott Laboratories of North Chicago, Ill., producing a variety of pharmaceutical supplies, announced its net profit for the nine months ended Sept. 30 amounted to $1,756,578, against $1,404,944 a year ago. These earnings were equal to $2.51 and $2.08 a share on common stock in the respective periods. Sales of the company for the nine months increased 18½ per cent over the 1938 level to a total of $8,660,101.

Johns-Manville Earns More.

The rise in building construction was reflected in improved operations of the Johns-Manville corporation, a major producer of building materials. Its consolidated net earnings for the September quarter were $1,472,255, equal to $1.58 a share on common stock, against $882,366 in the 1938 period, or 89 cents a share.

The Continental Can company, one of the leading producers of containers in the United States, reported its net profit for twelve months ended with September reached $7,511,996, equivalent to $2.32 a share, against $7,026,531, or $2.16 a share in the preceding 12 months.

Westinghouse Air Brake company reported a brisk rise in September quarter earnings as a result of the railroads' new rehabilitation program. The company's net income was $630,249, equal to 20 cents a share, compared with $11,555 in the third quarter of 1938.

Metal Producer's Net Rises.

Climax Molybdenum company, manufacturer of material used in metal fabrication, had net income of $3,094,540, equal to $1.23 a share in the September quarter, compared with $2,200,350, or 87 cents a share, in the 1938 quarter.

North American company, a leading public utility holding company, reported consolidated net income for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 amounted to $18,633,192, against $15,445,216 in the preceding 12 months. The earnings represented $1.81 a share on common stock, compared with $1.59.

Phillips Petroleum company had consolidated net profit of $1,704,987, or 38 cents a share, in the September quarter, compared with $3,886,816, or 87 cents a share, a year ago.

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 23.—The stock market closed with gains and losses almost equally divided today after traders had tried various sections in an effort to force a general advance. Sales totaled 973,890 shares.

Continued uncertainty over the European war and the disposition of many in the financial district to await the outcome of the approaching vote on neutrality legislation were said by observers to have been the chief restrictive factors on the market.

Meanwhile, domestic business news continued constructive. It was highlighted by additional favorable third quarter earnings statements and dividend announcements. Altho a small decline was predicted in steel production this week, new business was reported to be holding up well.

Viewed as militating against too great optimism with respect to the business situation, however, was the Chrysler union strike situation. Motor truck shares, leaders on Saturday, were brought forward again at the start today, but the rally soon stalled and fractionally lower prices ruled at the close. Steel shares were uncertain thruout. Losses ranged to 1⅛ points in United States Steel.

Aviation shares displayed mixed trends. Douglas, Glenn Martin, Sperry, Consolidated Aircraft, and Curtiss-Wright closed unchanged to fractionally higher. North American Aviation, United Aircraft, and Boeing gave ground.

Power and light shares were brought to the front at one time and made relatively impressive gains on good buying. Demand faded, however, and best gains were pared.

Sears Roebuck spurted 1¼ point on news of the extra dividend. Other merchandising shares closed mixed.

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—The prime investment division of the bond market attracted a moderate following today on the strength of another forward push in United States government issues.

Despite a light turnover most federals were on firm ground from the start and at the close gains averaged about 1-16 of a point. Treasury 4¼s of 1947-'52 moved up 15-16 on a few trades.

Another influence making for a crisper demand for the top flight issues was rising confidence in underwriting circles that the market had attained sufficient recovery from the recent war selling to warrant resumption of large scale corporate financing. In this connection it was reported coming weeks would see the marketing of some sizable new bond issues.

Chicago Stocks.

Gains ranging to ½ point were shown by several leading issues on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday altho prices were generally mixed.

Trading was moderately active. Abbott Laboratories rights closed at 1½ in initial trading.

Commonwealth Edison, most active issue, finished unchanged at 30¼. Marshall Field, Middle West, Standard Dredge, Woodall Industries, and Electric Household moved up fractionally. Chicago corporation lost ⅛. A. Stein and Northwest Bancorporation set new highs for the year.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago Title and Trust stock was bid 2 points higher in yesterday's trading in bank issues. Other stocks were unchanged.

Foresee Little Buying to Feed Armies Abroad.

Packers may expect an expanding market for their products because of increased consumption of meat in the United States, but little or no buying in the immediate future to feed the armies of Europe. These were predictions made yesterday before several hundred packing company executives meeting in the Drake hotel for the thirty-fourth annual convention of the Institute of American Meat Packers.

T. Henry Foster predicts larger use of meat.

J. S. McLean of Toronto, president of Canada Packers, Ltd., advised the delegates to base their operations on the assumption that all, or nearly all, of their products this fall will be consumed at home.

Britain Relies on Empire.

Great Britain, he said, has placed much reliance upon its reserves of foodstuff and its ability to obtain supplies from dominions and colonies, and therefore is unlikely to call upon the United States for meat, as she did in the last war.

Asserting England has obtained or is negotiating for large supplies of meat in Latin-American countries, McLean said the large British funds on deposit in the United States will probably be reserved for the purchase of munitions, when and if a revision of this country's neutrality legislation makes this possible.

"The time may come," he said, "when the procuring of munitions in the United States may be a matter of life and death, and the allied policy must be, insofar as possible, to hold these deposits against that time and to purchase food requirements in countries where the allies can obtain credits."

Expects Large Domestic Trade.

T. Henry Foster, chairman of the institute's board and president of John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Ia., held out hope for a larger domestic meat trade. Consumption of meat in the United States will show a gain of about 8 per cent over the 1929-'33 average in the packing year, which closes with October, he said.

Meat production during the new packing year will approximate 12 billion 200 million pounds, he predicted, compared with 11 billion 390 million during the current year and 10 billion 821 million in the 1938 period. These figures, he said, cover meat produced under federal inspection, which accounts for about two-thirds of the total.

"It is evident," he said, "that the reductions in live stock production arising from the drouths of 1934 and 1936 and the government control program apparently will be overcome within a year and that a normal basis of meat production is at hand."

Predict Pork Export Gain.

Foster predicted exports of pork products during the current packers' year will approximate 120 million pounds, or 32 per cent more than last year, and that lard exports will reach 260 million pounds, or 24 per cent more than last year.

Foster said domestic consumption of lard during the twelve months has been about 22 per cent larger than in the preceding packers' year, and termed this increase "remarkable."

The convention will close tonight with the annual banquet in the Palmer House.

MERGER OF GULF LINES APPROVED; I. C. LOSES FIGHT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—The Interstate Commerce commission today approved consolidation of the Gulf, Mobile and Northern and the Mobile and Ohio railroads. The Gulf, Mobile and Northern will purchase the properties of the Mobile and Ohio, which is in receivership.

The commission said a major part of the loss feared by the Illinois Central already has been accomplished by the diversion of Gulf, Mobile and Northern traffic to the Mobile and Ohio at Jackson, Tenn.

A new corporation, the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railway, would operate the properties. The Mobile and Ohio is a 646 mile route between Mobile, Ala., and East St. Louis, Ill.

The Gulf, Mobile and Northern operates 824 miles. It owns main lines extending northward from Mobile, Ala., to Jackson, Tenn., 408.6 miles, and westward from Union, Miss., to Jackson, Miss., 71.6 miles.

WHEAT EASIER DESPITE FSCC FLOUR BUYING

Wheat prices declined about 1 cent a bushel at one time yesterday on scattered selling and failed to show much rallying power. It was intimated that the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation had bough about 730,000 barrels of flour, equal to 3,300,000 bushels of wheat, on week-end offers from mills. Closing trades on the Chicago Board of Trade were at losses of ¼ to ⅝ cent.

Corn was easy early but rallied sharply near the close on short covering and finished ¼ to ⅜ cent higher. There was nothing in the news to account for the rally.

A large trade developed in soy beans with futures closing unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, the latter on the October delivery. Commission houses and exporters were reported to have bought futures.

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

SALESMEN.
Our new unique merchandising plan has proved to our salesmen that we have a one-call sales proposition without sales resistance.
We are seeking a few more able, energetic men—full or part time, no selling experience necessary—who can follow our instructions. Our salesmen are now earning upwards of $50 weekly.
If you want a REAL proposition that is easy to sell, come in and let us show you the way to real earnings. Advance against commissions.
Interviews at 10 a. m., 2 p. m., and 8 p. m. only, at "Treasure" Blades.

Salary Plus Commission.

Rudolph Wurlitzer Music Company will employ several registrars to enroll students on the famous Wurlitzer 12 lesson plan. There is nothing easy about this job. The hours are long and you must CANVASS for your business. Compensation is on a SALARY plus COMMISSION basis. We are seeking men who want to build a splendid future with the largest music company in the world. Apply in person Tuesday, 111 S. Wabash, Personnel Department.

GO-GETTERS

Experienced, mature salesmen to join staff of educational concern. NO CANVASSING, new, highly successful lead system. Protected territory. Immediate and high percentage with additional percentage to take from business for 1 year; each sale nets $11.30 to $16.20; we will show you one to four sales a day in actual field work. Prefer men living North and South Side. Apply Tuesday, 808 S. Dearborn. Room 807, 11 a. m.-12 and 2-4 p. m.

SALESMEN—Who have sold specialties direct to offices, industrial plants, etc., to sell Window Ventilators; liberal comm. Call 9-12. Ad-Lee Co., 825 S. Wabash.
